North Viet Pullout Peace Must: Lodge

PARIS (AP) — The United States warned today that a negotiated settlement of the Vietnam war is impossible as long as Hanoi rejects the principle of a mutual withdrawal of all non-South Vietnamese troops from South Vietnam.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge told the 32nd session of the deadlocked peace talks that more than 130 battalions of regular North Vietnamese forces are "actively engaged against South Vietnam."

"It is thus impossible for the people of South Vietnam to determine their own future freely unless these troops from North Vietnam return to North Vietnam," he went on.

"This is why it is impossible to achieve a negotiated settlement until the Democratic Republic of (North) Vietnam is willing to act on the principle that all non-South Vietnamese forces will leave South Vietnam."

North Vietnamese delegate Xuan Thuy immediately repeated Hanoi's long-standing rejection of any mutual troop withdrawal.

He denounced the American demand as a trick to prolong the U.S. "occupation of South Vietnam" and protect the "puppet regime"—a reference to the South Vietnamese government.

"Ever since this conference started, the United States has insisted on its extremely unreasonable demand of mutual withdrawal, which we have many times criticized and rejected," Thuy said.

Irish Catholics Given Equal Voting Promise

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — A leader of Northern Ireland's government reportedly promised wide-ranging civil rights legislation Wednesday night, including equal voting rights for Roman Catholics in local elections.

Minister of Development Roy Bradford was understood to have given this pledge at a dinner to which visiting British Home Secretary James Callaghan invited a dozen persons representing all sides of the religious warfare which has bloodied the province.

One Man, One Vote

A "one-man, one-vote" law for local elections has been one of the chief goals of the pro-Catholic civil rights movement whose campaign so inflamed Protestant militants. Because voting in local elections is based on property taxes and most property is owned by Protestants, the Catholics claim they are not represented on the local councils which hand out many jobs and decide who gets public housing.

Callaghan is the British government minister responsible for internal affairs in the United Kingdom, which includes Northern Ireland. He began a three-day fact finding visit Wednesday.

Callaghan Cheered

Crowds of Protestants and Catholics cheered him as he toured areas of Belfast where there was arson, looting and street fighting the week before last.

Callaghan was visiting more riot-torn areas today. He was also to meet with the Rev. Ian Paisley, the firebrand who leads the most militant Protestant faction.

One of Callaghan's first actions was to order a team of British doctors, scientists and technicians into Londonderry's Catholic Bogside district to investigate the effects of the CX tear gas that the police used there during the riots. There have been reports that many of those exposed to the gas two weeks ago, including a number of children, are still suffering from diarrhea, vomiting and abdominal pains.

To Probe Riots

Callaghan emphasized that he did not intend to dictate solutions to Northern Ireland's government or its people. But during lengthy talks with Prime Minister James Chichester-Clark and his Cabinet, Callaghan was believed to have urged formation of a committee with strong legal powers to guard against discrimination along religious and other lines.

The local Parliament announced that an impartial committee with legal powers to summon witnesses will be set up to investigate the rioting. It will be headed by a British judge and will include two Belfast lawyers, one a Protestant, the other a Catholic.

Kennedy Will Be Inquest Witness

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — Judge James A. Boyle was expected to lay the ground rules today for the inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne. One point already was clear—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy will be a witness.

Still to be ruled on were motions filed by lawyers representing persons expected to be called as witnesses at the inquest. The motions dealt with such matters as the right to cross examine and whether statements could be presented in place of oral testimony.

Judge Boyle, who will preside at the District Court inquiry scheduled to begin next Wednesday, said he would see to it that the senator was present—"even if he has to be subpoenaed."

"It is essential that Mr. Kennedy be present as a witness," Judge Boyle said at a preliminary hearing Wednesday.

Kennedy's chief counsel, Robert Clark Jr. of Brockton, assured the court the senator would be present but did not say whether he would testify voluntarily.

Miss Kopechne, 28, died when a car the senator was driving plunged off a bridge into a tidal inlet on Chappaquiddick Island, Martha's Vineyard, July 18.

Massachusetts State Police confirmed Wednesday—after once denying it—a Boston Record American report that a trooper had been assigned to protect Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis, who called the inquest.

"Cpl. Robert Enos has been assigned for personal protection as a result of threatening letters and phone calls to Dist. Atty. Dinis," the spokesman said. In answer to questions he said he could provide no details of the threats.

Israel Asks Aid Of All Nations For Iraqi Jews

By The Associated Press

Israel's parliament called on all nations of the world today to help save the Jews of Iraq, Syria and Egypt "before it is too late." It also demanded an urgent United Nations investigation into the plight of Jews in Arab lands.

The Knesset was called out of summer recess for a special session to discuss the execution Monday of 15 alleged Iraqi spies, including two Jews. Nine other Jews were executed in Baghdad earlier this year.

The parliament unanimously approved a call to "all states and parliaments who uphold human rights, as well as to religious heads in the world, to take action without delay to save the Jews.

"Israel will not cease its efforts to save Jews in Arab lands."

Prime Minister Golda Meir accused the U.N. Human Rights Commission of "making a mockery of elementary rules of fairness" by failing to investigate the situation of Jews in Arab countries while conducting an investigation of alleged Israeli atrocities in occupied lands.

She said the commission's investigation of Arab allegations of Israeli atrocities "in fact encouraged Iraqi rulers to go ahead with their policy of mock trials and hangings."

The 71-year-old prime minister then appealed to the United Nations and other world bodies to take "urgent action to save the Jewish communities in Arab countries, who are kept there as hostages and are virtually in prison." The only way to save them, she added, is to let them leave their countries of residence "before it is too late."

In Beirut, Lebanon, King Hussein of Jordan said in a newspaper interview war with Israel was inevitable "and the possibility exists of an explosion at any time."

Hussein's comments, printed by the paper Al Jarida, reflected his hardening line in the Middle East conflict.

Little action was reported along the Jordanian front this morning but the Israeli army said its commandos struck deep in the Nile Valley Wednesday night for the fourth time in 10 months.

Florida Jetport Draws Protests

WASHINGTON (AP) — A leading conservationist says a White House decision is imminent on the controversial jetport at the edge of Everglades National Park in southern Florida.

Thomas L. Kimball, executive director of the National Wildlife Federation, said President Nixon would decide the issue since the Department of Transportation wants the air terminal built while the Department of Interior fears it will harm the park.

Federal approval is necessary for financial aid and designation as an airport for international flights.

Kimball's group, the National Parks Association, Sierra Club, National Audubon Society, and the Wilderness Society say the huge aircraft and the thousands of people who would settle around the airport would ruin the park.

Backers of the jetport 40 miles from Miami see it as one of the major air terminals of the future, a boon to employment and industry.

In the jetport the conservationists see the entire spectrum of pollution: exhaust products; sewage, fertilizer, insecticide runoffs corrupting the water; jet engine noise disturbing the peace of the swamp.

The park is a mixture of broad cypress swamps and savannah, pine stands, salt meadows and mangrove thickets alive with alligators, osprey, panther—a tropical ecology unknown to the rest of the nation.

As the conservation groups muster for the latest crunch some runway construction already has started at the 39-square mile jetport site. Presently, the site is called a training facility for commercial pilots.

Kimball said decisions must also be made as to whether an alternate site is available which would cause less damage to the park. If the jetport is to be built, Kimball added, a decision must also be made on what stipulations there could be to help protect the park.

Tot Bitten By Snake Recovers

BRIGHTON (AP) — Eighteen month old Robert Newman, bitten by a Massassauga rattlesnake Aug. 15, has returned to his home near Brighton, a week earlier than expected.

After the boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Newman, was bitten earlier this month while playing at a neighborhood baseball field, state and county police joined residents in an intensive snake hunt in the area.

"We were amazed when the doctors told us we could bring him home," the boy's father said. He added the swelling of the bitten leg had gone down. Doctors said the remaining rash is a result of the anti-venom serum used.

Hanoi Reducing Level Of Troop Infiltration

War Casualties Drop As Enemy Offensive Dips

SAIGON (AP) — U.S., South Vietnamese and enemy casualties all dropped off last week as the enemy's fall offensive subsided somewhat, the U.S. Command announced today.

U.S. headquarters said 190 Americans were killed and 1,367 wounded, compared with 244 killed and 1,409 wounded the week before, when the enemy campaign opened with an upsurge of infantry, rocket and mortar attacks.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported 398 government troops killed last week and 928 wounded. The week before the report was 477 killed and 1,269 wounded.

Death Total 38,128

The two commands said 2,757 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese were killed last week, compared with a revised total for the week before of 3,898.

A total of 38,128 Americans now have been reported killed in action in Vietnam since Jan. 1, 1961, while the total wounded has risen to 247,096.

The enemy campaign continued in low gear with six clashes reported and 29 enemy mortar and rocket attacks on towns and allied bases during the night.

The Saigon government announced that 18 militiamen were killed and 24 wounded in a battle Wednesday near Phuoc Long, in the Mekong Delta. One American adviser was also killed and one was wounded, but the government said 44 Viet Cong were killed.

Rockets Wound 16

Five other small clashes were reported north of Saigon, and allied forces claimed they killed 57 enemy. U.S. casualties were four killed and six wounded.

The U.S. Command said 16 Americans were wounded in the night's rocket attacks.

An Air Force F4 Phantom fighter-bomber was hit by enemy ground fire while on a bombing mission 100 miles southeast of Da Nang Wednesday and crashed into the South China Sea. Both crewmen were rescued and reported in good condition.

The U.S. Command disclosed that more casualties had been reported in the terrorist attack Tuesday night on a meeting of pacification workers and peasants near Phu My, 269 miles northeast of Saigon, and a spokesman said that the incident now ranked as "the worst single terrorist act of the year."

Resor Ends Tour

The command said 24 persons were killed and 81 wounded when four hand grenades were thrown. The terrorist escaped.

Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor completed a week's tour of the war front today with a news conference at which he said the U.S. program to strengthen the South Vietnamese armed forces is ahead of schedule and he is confident more American troops can be withdrawn from Vietnam.

Munising Man Dies In Delta Traffic Mishap

Daniel Lee Gauthier, 24, of 308 W. Chocolay St., Munising, became Delta County's third traffic fatality for 1969 when he was killed early this morning on County Rd. 509, about seven miles north of Rapid River in Masonville Township.

State Police said Gauthier was traveling north on the roadway when he apparently fell asleep at the wheel of his pickup truck, ran off the road and struck a tree. Troopers believe he was killed instantly.

Officers said that there are no signs that Gauthier tried to apply his brakes.

"This is usually a sure sign that the driver was asleep at the time of the accident," said one veteran trooper.

Police said the wreckage was discovered at 6:14 a. m., today by Stanley Porter of Vermilion, Ohio, who is vacationing in the area. The body was removed from the wreckage and Gauthier was pronounced dead at the scene by Delta County medical examiner Dr. Otto Hult.

Boy, 14, Is Shot By Patrolman At Site Of Break-In

DETROIT (AP) — Police said a 14-year-old Detroit boy was shot and wounded by a patrolman early today as he attempted to run from the scene of a break-in. The youth, in serious condition at Receiving Branch of Detroit General Hospital, suffered shotgun pellet wounds in the left knee.

Officers said they went to the shooting scene on a report a store was being burglarized. They said one 14-year-old boy came to a rear door and surrendered and the second attempted to flee.

Police said they shot at his feet after ordering him to stop several times.

Men Depressed Over Older Stewardesses

By The Associated Press

Air France may have avoided a strike when it agreed to let stewardesses fly until age 50. It hasn't made some American men very happy, but others have flown to the defense of the older girls.

"It's a pretty depressing prospect," said Jack Nessel, 30, of New York City, when asked what he thought of a 50-year-old stewardess.

Most domestic airlines have age limits in the 30's for their stewardesses. Air France had set 40 as the top limit, but agreed to the boost Wednesday as one of a number of concessions to prevent a walkout.

A spot survey by the Associated Press showed many men prefer younger stewardesses.

"This idea ought to bring the railroads back to popularity," said Wayne Smith of Atlanta.

Bill Wallace, also of Atlanta, said, "At the age of 50 the stewardesses ought to be efficient, but that's the only good thing I can say for the idea."

Charles Eastman of Sterling, Colo., said, "Blah. They wouldn't turn me on. You want some young thing to come in and flirt with you when you fly. I believe in the equality of the ages, but . . ."

John Morgan, 50, a New York City fireman, responded at first, "Hooray for grandma. Give her a break." After a pause, however, he added that he personally would prefer to fly with young stewardesses.

The older gals did have some supporters.

"Maybe it will turn out that French stewardesses, like good French wine, improve with age," said Eugene L. Wyman of Beverly Hills.

"I've never met an 'old' French woman," said Nicholas J. Nichols of Chicago.

"I'm interested in good service, not age," said Ross Gelbei in Washington. "Experience counts too."

"Why not, if they're still sexy?" Some chicks look better as they age," said Ted Rymar, 29, of Detroit.

And jazz clarinetist Pete Fountain of New Orleans, said, "I'm a devout coward and never get on a plane before some fast action in the airport bar. After I'm on there, from age 18 to 50 as long as they keep serving the drinks, they all look the same."

U.S. Officials At Odds Over 'Significance'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon is all but arguing publicly with the State Department over whether a recent reduction in enemy infiltration into South Vietnam can be considered "significant."

The State Department used the term Wednesday, saying the infiltration drop suggests that Hanoi may be letting its force level in the South go down through attrition.

"We consider these facts to be significant and have said so on several occasions," Press Officer Robert McCloskey said at a State Department briefing.

Called upon to provide some statistical backing for State's position, the Pentagon later would acknowledge only that infiltration is "down considerably" from last year and that enemy strength may have suffered some loss.

Pentagon Cautious

But the Pentagon avoided—deliberately, according to sources—embracing the term "significant," and in a three-page statement listed no fewer than eight reasons why the recent infiltration decline may be short-lived.

The Pentagon, differing with State, contended that North Vietnam "is substantially replacing" its losses through the current infiltration rate.

Among factors cited by the Pentagon "that could influence the present lower infiltration rates":

—Fewer infiltraters showed up in South Vietnam this summer because the late spring monsoon season over Laos, a principal infiltration route, made travel difficult on the so-called Ho Chi Minh trail.

—The enemy has needed fewer replacements recently because of its "stand-off" operations.

Can Change Quickly

—The enemy may have made a political decision not to increase his forces but "this decision can be altered at will and on short notice."

The Pentagon also cited such other things as the close proximity of North Vietnamese troops to the Demilitarized Zone and their deployment in border sanctuaries handy to the battlefields, as well as their ability to move rapidly over a travel system improved since the United States stopped bombing the north.

The Pentagon released no infiltration figures officially, but sources said only about 5,000 enemy troops have shown up the last month or so, compared with an average of about 11,000 a month in 1968 and about 15,000 per month during the first half of 1969.

Rate Fluctuates

The chief problem, according to uniformed officers, is that infiltration rates throughout the war have shown a cyclical pattern of peaks and valleys.

"You can find any number of times when we could have picked out a low point and called it significant, only to find out a few months later we were wrong," one Pentagon official commented.

Furthermore, there are several different sets of infiltration figures available to the government, reflecting "confirmed," "probable" and "possible" infiltration totals. Officers say it takes four to six months to get a reliable "confirmed" total.

The suggestion from the military was that the State Department is basing its "significant" judgment on "soft" or very recent infiltration estimates which have not been verified.

Figures on enemy strength in Vietnam, as supplied to the Pentagon by the U.S. Command in Vietnam, have remained unchanged for months, a range of 100,000 to 120,000. This consists of about 75,000 North Vietnamese, with the remainder Viet Cong.

Enemy combat losses have been running upwards of 2,000 per week.

Boy, 14, Is Shot By Patrolman At Site Of Break-In

DETROIT (AP) — Police said a 14-year-old Detroit boy was shot and wounded by a patrolman early today as he attempted to run from the scene of a break-in. The youth, in serious condition at Receiving Branch of Detroit General Hospital, suffered shotgun pellet wounds in the left knee.

Officers said they went to the shooting scene on a report a store was being burglarized. They said one 14-year-old boy came to a rear door and surrendered and the second attempted to flee.

Police said they shot at his feet after ordering him to stop several times.

Men Depressed Over Older Stewardesses

By The Associated Press

Air France may have avoided a strike when it agreed to let stewardesses fly until age 50. It hasn't made some American men very happy, but others have flown to the defense of the older girls.

"It's a pretty depressing prospect," said Jack Nessel, 30, of New York City, when asked what he thought of a 50-year-old stewardess.

Most domestic airlines have age limits in the 30's for their stewardesses. Air France had set 40 as the top limit, but agreed to the boost Wednesday as one of a number of concessions to prevent a walkout.

A spot survey by the Associated Press showed many men prefer younger stewardesses.

"This idea ought to bring the railroads back to popularity," said Wayne Smith of Atlanta.

Bill Wallace, also of Atlanta, said, "At the age of 50 the stewardesses ought to be efficient, but that's the only good thing I can say for the idea."

Charles Eastman of Sterling, Colo., said, "Blah. They wouldn't turn me on. You want some young thing to come in and flirt with you when you fly. I believe in the equality of the ages, but . . ."

John Morgan, 50, a New York City fireman, responded at first, "Hooray for grandma. Give her a break." After a pause, however, he added that he personally would prefer to fly with young stewardesses.

The older gals did have some supporters.

"Maybe it will turn out that French stewardesses, like good French wine, improve with age," said Eugene L. Wyman of Beverly Hills.

"I've never met an 'old' French woman," said Nicholas J. Nichols of Chicago.

"I'm interested in good service, not age," said Ross Gelber in Washington. "Experience counts too."

"Why not, if they're still sexy?" Some chicks look better as they age," said Ted Rymar, 29, of Detroit.

And jazz clarinetist Pete Fountain of New Orleans, said, "I'm a devout coward and never get on a plane before some fast action in the airport bar. After I'm on there, from age 18 to 50 as long as they keep serving the drinks, they all look the same."

U.S. Officials At Odds Over 'Significance'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon is all but arguing publicly with the State Department over whether a recent reduction in enemy infiltration into South Vietnam can be considered "significant."

The State Department used the term Wednesday, saying the infiltration drop suggests that Hanoi may be letting its force level in the South go down through attrition.

"We consider these facts to be significant and have said so on several occasions," Press Officer Robert McCloskey said at a State Department briefing.

Called upon to provide some statistical backing for State's position, the Pentagon later would acknowledge only that infiltration is "down considerably" from last year and that enemy strength may have suffered some loss.

Pentagon Cautious

But the Pentagon avoided—deliberately, according to sources—embracing the term "significant," and in a three-page statement listed no fewer than eight reasons why the recent infiltration decline may be short-lived.

The Pentagon, differing with State, contended that North Vietnam "is substantially replacing" its losses through the current infiltration rate.

Among factors cited by the Pentagon "that could influence the present lower infiltration rates":

—Fewer infiltrators showed up in South Vietnam this summer because the late spring monsoon season over Laos, a principal infiltration route, made travel difficult on the so-called Ho Chi Minh trail.

—The enemy has needed fewer replacements recently because of its "stand-off" operations.

Can Change Quickly

—The enemy may have made a political decision not to increase his forces but "this decision can be altered at will and on short notice."

The Pentagon also cited such other things as the close proximity of North Vietnamese troops to the Demilitarized Zone and their deployment in border sanctuaries handy to the battlefields, as well as their ability to move rapidly over a travel system improved since the United States stopped bombing the north.

The Pentagon released no infiltration figures officially, but sources said only about 5,000 enemy troops have shown up the last month or so, compared with an average of about 11,000 a month in 1968 and about 15,000 per month during the first half of 1969.

Rate Fluctuates

The chief problem, according to uniformed officers, is that infiltration rates throughout the war have shown a cyclical pattern of peaks and valleys.

"You can find any number of times when we could have picked out a low point and called it significant, only to find out a few months later we were wrong," one Pentagon official commented.

Furthermore, there are several different sets of infiltration figures available to the government, reflecting "confirmed," "probable" and "possible" infiltration totals. Officers say it takes four to six months to get a reliable "confirmed" total.

The suggestion from the military was that the State Department is basing its "significant" judgment on "soft" or very recent infiltration estimates which have not been verified.

Figures on enemy strength in Vietnam, as supplied to the Pentagon by the U.S. Command in Vietnam, have remained unchanged for months, a range of 100,000 to 120,000. This consists of about 75,000 North Vietnamese, with the remainder Viet Cong.

Enemy combat losses have been running upwards of 2,000 per week.

Air Show Parking Regulations Told

Information to guide the public attendiig the Air Show in Escanaba Friday and Saturday was issued today by Police Chief Richard Frederick.

City police will be assisted by an additional 38 officers of the State Police, Sheriff's Department, National Guard and Conservation Department. The traffic control work is coordinated by Chief Frederick.

Traffic volume is expected to be heavy in the city and "the patience and cooperation" of motorists is requested, said the police chief.

"We suggest that Escanaba residents who live east of 10th St. walk to Ludington Park rather than add to the congestion by driving; and that persons living west of 10th St. form car pools with their neighbors to reduce the number of vehicles in the Park area," he said.

Federal aviation regulations require some areas to be cleared for certain periods as safety measures; and other rules are for the orderly handling of traffic and the convenience of motorists. Here's the traffic control measures in detail for the two days:

Friday

9 a. m.—The Sand Point area of Ludington Park will be closed off. No persons or vehicles will be permitted beyond the barricade.

11:30 a. m.—The Park beach area and Sand Island will be closed at the Bridge. People will not be permitted past the Bridge.

4 p. m.—Expected time of arrival of the Thunderbirds with a fly-over at the Park beach area on their way to the airport.

Saturday

8:30 a. m.—Static display of aircraft at the airport begins, both at the new and the old terminals.

The parking lot at the new terminal is reserved for dedication participants.

The general public may park on both sides of the approach road to the new terminal. About 350 cars can be parked there.

At the old terminal there is plenty of parking area and no problem is expected.

Afternoon at Ludington Park (with the outer beach vacated of people) parking will be restricted on Jenkins Drive and on 4th St. for persons participating in the program.

For general public parking, entrance will be at the south end of the park on Jenkins Drive; proceeding to the parking lots behind the bandshell and at the tennis court area.

Parking will be allowed on Lake Shore Drive where so designated; and elsewhere on streets where parking is legally permitted.

Both at the airport and at the park, lanes must be and will be kept open for the passage of emergency vehicles.

MARINE TRAFFIC

The movement of private boats in the beach area off Ludington Park will be halted Saturday afternoon during the period of the aerial show, and will not resume until the program is ended.

The restrictions are to conform to FAA regulations and the area will be patrolled by the sheriff's marine patrol boat. There are no marine restrictions on Friday.

Funeral services for George Patient were held at 9 a. m., today at the Allo Funeral Home chapel with the Rev. Conrad Suda officiating. Burial was in the Escanaba Township Cemetery. Pallbearers were Royal Eli, Roger Patient, Delore Duval, Ken Holmes, Ronald Vincent and James Hurkmans.

Parents Asked To Register Children

Parents of all children starting kindergarten this fall are asked to register their children on Tuesday at any Escanaba Area school, except Pine Ridge, between the hours of 9-11 a. m. or 1-3:30 p. m.

Parents are requested to bring with them a record of physical examination, immunization record, personal history, and a legal birth certificate.

School officials are requesting that parents leave their children at home when they come to the school to register.

Kindergarten will start on Wednesday, September 3.

Animal Victims Of Storm Shot

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — The crack of a rifle sounds repeatedly along the hurricane ravaged Gulf coast as man offers the mercy of death to injured and starving animals.

Miss Emily Gloeckler, president of the Florida Association of Humane Societies, said Hurricane Camille left untold thousands of dogs, cats and other pets hurt and homeless along the coastal areas of Louisiana, Mississippi and Florida.

Navy Seabees and Army National Guardsmen cooperating with the Humane Societies are destroying the animals, she said.

"It's so sad," Miss Gloeckler said, "but there is nothing else to do. We have been criticized for killing these animals, but many of them were too badly injured to save and we just can't find the space or food we need to care for the others."

More than one big, husky Seabee or soldier fought back tears as he placed the muzzle of his rifle between the trusting eyes of an injured dog and pulled the trigger, she said.

Donations coming from across the country are being used to care for some animals in areas that were not so badly damaged and to rebuild the Gulfport Animal Shelter, which was destroyed by the storm.

"Money is the thing we need most right now," Miss Gloeckler said. Some people are sending gifts of dog food, but we have no way to handle it. Food supplies for humans come first."

She said representatives from the American Humane Association in Denver, the Humane Societies of the United States in Washington, D.C., and the Humane Society of Pensacola, Fla., are in the Gulfport area, searching the rubble for injured animals and looking for their owners.

A. Janchenko Dies Today

Mr. Alphonse Janchenko, 79, Rte. 1, Escanaba, died this morning at St. Francis Hospital in Escanaba following a long illness.

Mr. Janchenko was born Feb. 20, 1890, in Russia. He had been an Escanaba resident for the past fifty years.

He was a member of the Brotherhood of Railway Workers, and a former section hand for the C&NW Railway.

He is survived by his wife; one son, Stephen of Escanaba; two daughters, Mrs. Lawrence (Helen) Meyers of Escanaba, and Mrs. George (Annie) Gayber of Cleveland, Ohio; three stepsons, Alex Logen of Cleveland, Ohio, Russell Romashko of Gladstone and Gerald Romashko of Soo Hill; nine grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Remains are at the Degnan-Crawford Funeral Home where friends may call on Friday from 3-9:30 p. m. Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. at the funeral home with the Rev. Charles Carmody officiating. Burial will be in the Lakeview Cemetery.

Price Rise Beats Population Curve

EAST LANSING (AP) —U.S. population is not increasing as quickly as previously expected but prices are rising higher and faster, say Michigan State University experts.

MSU agricultural scientists conducted date in 1965 - 66 for projections dealing with the potential for Michigan's rural economy.

Their date indicated fewer farmers, more production per men and per acre, more dollars churning through agribusiness and a continually tight cost - prize squeeze on the farmer.

Generally, MSU says, these projections still hold true.

Victim Of War

WASHINGTON — (AP) — One Michigan man was among the 31 American servicemen listed Wednesday as killed in action in the Vietnam war. He was Army Spec. 4 Albert J. Carrier III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Carrier, Jr., of Warren.

Mail Effective, Says Rep. Udall

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressman who declined to help a pint-sized letter-writer overturn mom's early curfew says mail to legislators still can be an effective force, providing some basic rules are followed.

It was Randy Lee Van Kirk of Elgin, Ariz., who fired off a curfew protest to Rep. Morris K. Udall.

Randy said his mother kept him inside after 5:30 p.m. and "told him if I didn't like it to write my congressman."

The Arizona Democrat, in reply to the boy, wrote: "I'm not sure this is the kind of situation I'm supposed to help people with. Mothers are not always right but they usually try to do what is best for the family."

Udall, a key member of the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee, says he reads all his mail and that thoughtful persuasive letters can get results.

Opinions from constituents helped him rethink his position when in 1967 he came out in opposition to the Vietnam war, he recalls.

Udall's advice to letter writers is:

First, address the letter correctly. He still saves a 1962 letter from a small-town police chief which began: "Mr. Morris K. Udall, U.S. senator, Capitol Building, Phoenix, Arizona. Dear Congressman Rhodes."

Make it plain which of the 20,000 bills introduced each year you refer to in your letter. If you don't know the bill number, refer to the subject, such as "gun control" or "truth in lending."

Write in time to do some good —hopefully before a bill is out of committee and passed by the House.

Restrain your impulse to write more than your own representative and senator. Courtesy—and sheer work loads—requires the 435 House members and 100 senators to refer letters to a writer's home district.

Be brief, even about complex subjects.

Give your own views. A form letter usually draws a form reply. A personal note means more than a signature on a petition.

Specify what prompts your stand. "I'm bitterly opposed" letters aren't too helpful unless they continue to say why—such as, "H.R. 50 will put me out of business."

Skip threats or promises.

And resist the temptation to be pen pals.

Briefly Told

Escanaba police have issued a traffic court notice to Janice Johnson, 1705 10th Ave. S., for failing to exercise due care.

Law enforcement officers of the area attended a police officer training session at the Civic Center in Escanaba on Wednesday, with FBI Special Agent Robert A. Brink in charge. Attending besides city police of Gladstone and Escanaba were State Police and Sheriff's Department and Department of Natural Resources officers.

Marriage license applications have been made at the county clerk's office by William Francis O'Connell Jr., 1304 1st Ave. N., Escanaba and Barbara Lucille Heminger, 815 5th Ave. S., Escanaba; John Jerome Falkies, Rte. 1, Cornell, and Shirley Maries Lippens, Box 16, Cornell; and Glenn Edward Lamberg, Rte. 3, Rapid River, and Phyllis Ann Ritter, Rte. 3, Rapid River.

Garden Peninsula

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Troyer of Iron Mountain and their son Norbert were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Lucas in Kates Bay.

Mrs. Ed Deffery of Chicago, Mrs. Katherine Bright, Mrs. May Goodman and Pat Degnan of Escanaba visited at the William Winter home in Vans Harbor this past weekend.

Powers-Spalding

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Allinson and children of Florence, Wis. were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Carr last weekend. On Sunday two birthdays were celebrated with a picnic: that of Michael Carr who was 14 and of Sandy Allison who was 15. Other guests were Irene Rose of Powers, her cousin Verna of Detroit and Larry Kleikamp of Powers.

Schedule School Opening Sept. 2

RAPID RIVER—The Rapid River Public Schools will open Sept. 2 with a general faculty meeting in the High School Library at 8:30 a. m.

Students will start school at 1 p. m. Kindergarten students do not report until Wednesday. However, kindergarten parents should report in the afternoon of Tuesday, Sept. 2, betwen 12:30 and 3 p. m. and bring proof of child's immunization and birth certificate.

New teachers are:

Elementary: Mrs. Elsie Aasen and Mrs. Alice Bergeron, who obtained their degrees from Northern Michigan University. They both taught at Perkins before coming to Rapid River. Mrs. Aasen will teach the combination first and second grade and Mrs. Bergeron will teach third grade.

Mrs. Claire Joanne Christoff will teach kindergarten. She obtained her masters degree from Northern Michigan University and taught at Flat Rock School last year.

Mrs. Audrey Manville, reading specialist, graduated from Central Michigan University and received her masters degree from Michigan State University.

High School: Peter Brock, recent graduate of Northern Michigan University, will teach English and speech.

Mrs. Sylvia Dye, who graduated from Central Michigan University, will teach girls' phy. ed. and typing.

Don L. Johnson obtained his masters degree in counseling and guidance from Northern Michigan University. He taught at Powers-Spalding schools last year, and will teach math and be in charge of guidance and counseling at Rapid.

The remedial reading teacher will be employed all day rather than one half.

With the addition of a new bus, it will no longer be necessary for students to arrive at school before 8:15 a. m. and all bus students will depart at 3:20 p. m.

To better assist kindergartners in their learning process, the kindergarten will be split into a morning and an afternon section. Those kindergartners living north and west of Rapid River will come in the morning and go home at noon. Those kindergartners living south and east of town will be picked up at noon and returned at night. All kindergartners in town and not bussed will come in the afternoon. It may be necessary to adjust the kindergarten assignments.

Book and assembly fees will be collected as a unit the second or third day of school.

The hot lunch program will begin Wednesday, Sept. 3.

Reward Offered For Information About Dog Bite

Members of an Escanaba family and Escanaba police today focused attention on locating two boys who last Thursday witnessed a dog bite incident on 8th Ave. S.

The dog bit Steve Stein, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Stein, 1524 8th Ave. S. Unless the dog is located to determine whether or not it has had the proper shots, the boy could be forced to undergo painful anti-rabies treatment.

A reward has been offered for information about the dog.

Members of the family again appealed to parents, particularly those residing in and south of the area where the dog bite occurred, to ask their children for information.

Two boys riding bicycles apparently called the dog after it had bitten the Stein boy and they rode south on 15th St.

Aaron Stein said that the boys may be afraid to tell their parents about the bite because they are afraid that their pet will be impounded, but he emphasized that the family only wishes to determine whether or not the dog has had anti-rabies shots.

Anyone with information should notify the police department.

It was Randy Lee Van Kirk of Elgin, Ariz., who fired off a curfew protest to Rep. Morris K. Udall.

Randy said his mother kept him inside after 5:30 p.m. and "told him if I didn't like it to write my congressman."

The Arizona Democrat, in reply to the boy, wrote: "I'm not sure this is the kind of situation I'm supposed to help people with. Mothers are not always right but they usually try to do what is best for the family."

Udall, a key member of the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee, says he reads all his mail and that thoughtful persuasive letters can get results.

Opinions from constituents helped him rethink his position when in 1967 he came out in opposition to the Vietnam war, he recalls.

Udall's advice to letter writers is:

First, address the letter correctly. He still saves a 1962 letter from a small-town police chief which began: "Mr. Morris K. Udall, U.S. senator, Capitol Building, Phoenix, Arizona. Dear Congressman Rhodes."

Make it plain which of the 20,000 bills introduced each year you refer to in your letter. If you don't know the bill number, refer to the subject, such as "gun control" or "truth in lending."

Write in time to do some good —hopefully before a bill is out of committee and passed by the House.

Restrain your impulse to write more than your own representative and senator. Courtesy—and sheer work loads—requires the 435 House members and 100 senators to refer letters to a writer's home district.

Be brief, even about complex subjects.

Give your own views. A form letter usually draws a form reply. A personal note means more than a signature on a petition.

Specify what prompts your stand. "I'm bitterly opposed" letters aren't too helpful unless they continue to say why—such as, "H.R. 50 will put me out of business."

Skip threats or promises.

And resist the temptation to be pen pals.

Schedule School Opening Sept. 2

RAPID RIVER—The Rapid River Public Schools will open Sept. 2 with a general faculty meeting in the High School Library at 8:30 a. m.

Students will start school at 1 p. m. Kindergarten students do not report until Wednesday. However, kindergarten parents should report in the afternoon of Tuesday, Sept. 2, betwen 12:30 and 3 p. m. and bring proof of child's immunization and birth certificate.

New teachers are:

Elementary: Mrs. Elsie Aasen and Mrs. Alice Bergeron, who obtained their degrees from Northern Michigan University. They both taught at Perkins before coming to Rapid River. Mrs. Aasen will teach the combination first and second grade and Mrs. Bergeron will teach third grade.

Mrs. Claire Joanne Christoff will teach kindergarten. She obtained her masters degree from Northern Michigan University and taught at Flat Rock School last year.

Mrs. Audrey Manville, reading specialist, graduated from Central Michigan University and received her masters degree from Michigan State University.

High School: Peter Brock, recent graduate of Northern Michigan University, will teach English and speech.

Mrs. Sylvia Dye, who graduated from Central Michigan University, will teach girls' phy. ed. and typing.

Don L. Johnson obtained his masters degree in counseling and guidance from Northern Michigan University. He taught at Powers-Spalding schools last year, and will teach math and be in charge of guidance and counseling at Rapid.

The remedial reading teacher will be employed all day rather than one half.

With the addition of a new bus, it will no longer be necessary for students to arrive at school before 8:15 a. m. and all bus students will depart at 3:20 p. m.

To better assist kindergartners in their learning process, the kindergarten will be split into a morning and an afternon section. Those kindergartners living north and west of Rapid River will come in the morning and go home at noon. Those kindergartners living south and east of town will be picked up at noon and returned at night. All kindergartners in town and not bussed will come in the afternoon. It may be necessary to adjust the kindergarten assignments.

Book and assembly fees will be collected as a unit the second or third day of school.

The hot lunch program will begin Wednesday, Sept. 3.

Reward Offered For Information About Dog Bite

Members of an Escanaba family and Escanaba police today focused attention on locating two boys who last Thursday witnessed a dog bite incident on 8th Ave. S.

The dog bit Steve Stein, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Stein, 1524 8th Ave. S. Unless the dog is located to determine whether or not it has had the proper shots, the boy could be forced to undergo painful anti-rabies treatment.

A reward has been offered for information about the dog.

Members of the family again appealed to parents, particularly those residing in and south of the area where the dog bite occurred, to ask their children for information.

Two boys riding bicycles apparently called the dog after it had bitten the Stein boy and they rode south on 15th St.

Aaron Stein said that the boys may be afraid to tell their parents about the bite because they are afraid that their pet will be impounded, but he emphasized that the family only wishes to determine whether or not the dog has had anti-rabies shots.

Anyone with information should notify the police department.

Thunderbirds To Highlight Airport Program

Military and civilian aircraft participating in the Escanaba Municipal Airport Dedication program will begin arriving in Escanaba Friday for the two-day celebration.

The Air Force Thunderbirds, feature attraction of Saturday afternoon's air show over Ludington Park, will touch down at the airport about 4 p. m., Friday after a "pre-show" demonstration over the park.

Before the weekend is over, military planes from the Air Force, Marines, Navy and Coast Guard and civilian propellor and jet aircraft will have landed at the airport in what is expected to be the biggest weekend in Escanaba aviation history.

A luncheon for members of the news media will kickoff dedication activities at noon Friday at the House of Ludington. A press conference with Thunderbird pilots and crew members is scheduled for 4:45 p. m.

Banquet Friday

The Airport Dedication Banquet gets underway with a cocktail hour at 6:30 p. m., at the Terrace.

Members of the Dedication Committee announced today that the banquet program will feature a presentation to Wally Arntzen of Escanaba, pioneer aviator, and remarks by Lt. Col. Joseph Moore, commander and leader of the Thunderbirds.

Other speakers scheduled include Lt. Gov. Thomas Schweigert, Congressman Philip E. Ruppe, Rep. Charles Varnum, Escanaba Mayor Cecil Chase, Gladstone Mayor Arne Anderson, Chairman of the Board of Supervisors Frank Stupak, Harold Vanlerberghe, James Palm of North Central Airlines, Green Bay, and Col. John R. Hinton Jr., commander of the 410th Bombardment Wing at K. I. Sawyer.

Jean Worth, former editor of the Escanaba Daily Press, will be master of ceremonies. Rev. Karl Hammar will deliver the invocation and Fr. Louis Coppo will give the benediction.

The banquet is a sell-out with over 360 persons expected.

Saturday, static displays of participating aircraft are scheduled at the airport and will be open to the public.

To Offer Rides

Trans - Michigan Airlines, which will start across-the-lake flights connecting Escanaba with Lower Michigan in the near future, will land one of its Beechcraft 99 prop-jets about 8 a. m., and offer rides at $3 per person. Tickets will be available at the TMA window in the terminal building.

North Central's DC-9 is scheduled to land about 11 a. m., immediately following the formal Dedication Program, and scenic rides over the area will be offered for $5 per person. The DC-9 will leave Escanaba about 1:30 p. m., to return to its regular routes from Minneapolis.

The Dedication Program will begin at 10 a. m., at the airport.

Band To Play

A concert by the Escanaba City Municipal Band under the direction of Paul Cowan will preceed the ceremonies.

Invocation will be given by Rev. Charles Carmody. Mayor Chase will make introduction of guests.

Speakers will include Schweigert, Ruppe and Col. Hinton. Representatives of the Veterans Council, Varnum and members of the Thunderbirds, including Lt. Col. Joe Moore, flight leader, also will participate in the program. The Benediction will be given by Rev. Reuben Carlson.

Autograph Session

Saturday afternoon's air show will begin at 1:15 with airflight demonstrations over the Municipal Beach. The U. S. Coast Guard will simulate an air-sea rescue and flyovers from other military aircraft are scheduled before the Thunderbirds demonstration.

Immediately after the demonstration, the Thunderbirds will be returned to the park by helicopter to meet the public and sign autographs.

Music for the program will be provided by the Municipal Band and the Escanaba Area High School band directed by John Chown.

The U. S. Coast Guard Cutter Sundew will be tied up at the Municipal Dock Saturday for public inspection tours.

Two-Year-Old Shoots Lad, 12

DETROIT (AP) — A two-year-old boy who shoots from the hip claimed a victim Wednesday. The boy, identified by police only as "Toby", was walking down a Detroit street carrying a .22 caliber pistol when 12-year-old Allen Willis tried to take the gun away from him.

The toddler wouldn't let the gun go, so Allen started to walk away. A shot rang out and Allen was hit in the left forefinger.

Police said they questioned the two-year-old, then turned him over to his parents.

New Kraft Mill Permit Not Yet Okayed By State

O. C. Christiansen, manager of the Escanaba Paper Co., today clarified a report on processing of a Michigan State Department of Health permit for the bleach kraft paper mill which Mead Corp., has authorized for its publishing paper center in Escanaba.

The Escanaba Daily Press on Wednesday reported that the Department of Health had approved plans for the mill and issued a permit for its construction.

No formal application for a permit has been made yet because engineering is still incomplete, but one will be made and must be approved by the Department before the mill can be built, Christiansen said.

Two-Block Canopy Proposed For Business District Mall

A two-block shopping mall with a canopy from curbing to store fronts has been proposed for the 1000 and 1100 blocks of Ludington St.

The canopy, supported at the curb by upright braces, would stretch from 10th to 12th Streets on both north and south sides of Ludington St. There also would be a canopy over a pedestrian walkway across Ludington St. at the present 11th St. intersection.

Eleventh St. would be closed to through traffic, although an oval drive is proposed between Ludington St. and the southside alley to retain parking places in the area. N. 11th St. to the alley would be closed and a grassy park area constructed.

Angle parking and continued two-way traffic on Ludington St. would remain under the plan, but special turning lanes would be created at the 10th and 12th St. intersections to aid traffic flow.

Time To Move

The plan to redevelop the two blocks of downtown Escanaba was unveiled Wednesday at a meeting of the Downtown Development Committee at the Sherman Hotel. Another meeting of the group—particularly the owners and businessmen who would be involved in the project — was scheduled for 7:30 p. m. Wednesday, Sept. 3, at the Chamber of Commerce Building.

Robert Mosenfelder, chairman of the group, said that now is the time to get moving.

"Hopefully, before the end of this year, we will see some real physical change downtown," he said.

Mosenfelder said the downtown development efforts have "reached the point where we feel we need to consider specifics. If we can get going on a couple of blocks and set an example it won't be long before the other blocks follow."

Developed By Ness

The proposal was developed by Roy Ness of Escanaba and he estimated the cost would run about $85 per running foot ot Ludington St. frontage, a figure which Ness said was not a firm price but should be "very, very close."

That would include $65 per foot for the canopy in front of the store, plus $14 per foot for the canopy across 11th St. and another $11 per foot for the canopy across Ludington St.

Mosenfelder said the plan could only succeed with 100 per cent cooperation from all the businessmen and property owners of the area. He said that "breaks" in the canopy where stores did not participate, for example, would destroy the whole program.

Members of the downtown retail community who attended the meeting expressed tentative approval of the program.

Rest Area Included

Gordon Sullivan, owner of the Photoart Shop, said the downtown must move now. Ground has been broken for the shopping center on N. 23rd St., he pointed out, and there no longer is any question about it becoming a reality.

Palmer Derouin, Escanaba fire chief, said the closing of 11th St. would present no problem to the fire department. Although 11th St. now is considered a "fire lane" Derouin said it is a "poor one" and the fire department could use alternative streets.

Police Chief Richard Frederick added that the proposed closing would create no problems for the police department.

Incorporated into the mall proposal is a rest station at the 11th St. and Ludington St. corner in the former Standard Oil Co. station which was given to the City of Escanaba by the company. The circle drive and parking area on S. 11th St. would leave room for a smaller park area than the one proposed between Ludington St. and the northside alley.

The canopy, which Ness said he designed with steel components, would not adjoin store fronts except for at the entrances. This feature, he said, would allow individual store owners to continue any plans they might have for modernization and also allow additional lighting.

The canopy, he said, would be strong enough to hold heavy snowfalls in winter.

Lighting would be uniform throughout the two-block area beneath the canopy and uniform signing was suggested to give the area its own image.

The Downtown Development Committee has been meeting regularly for several months in an effort to draft a program for modernization of the central business district in the face of the shopping center which is scheduled to open next year.

Incorporated into the mall proposal is a rest station at the 11th St. and Ludington St. corner in the former Standard Oil Co. station which was given to the City of Escanaba by the company. The circle drive and parking area on S. 11th St. would leave room for a smaller park area than the one proposed between Ludington St. and the northside alley.

The canopy, which Ness said he designed with steel components, would not adjoin store fronts except for at the entrances. This feature, he said, would allow individual store owners to continue any plans they might have for modernization and also allow additional lighting.

The canopy, he said, would be strong enough to hold heavy snowfalls in winter.

Lighting would be uniform throughout the two-block area beneath the canopy and uniform signing was suggested to give the area its own image.

The Downtown Development Committee has been meeting regularly for several months in an effort to draft a program for modernization of the central business district in the face of the shopping center which is scheduled to open next year.

Gun Control

The Nixon administration last month declared its opposition to further gun control legislation. Four days later, the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence, headed by Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, recommended confiscation of most of the nation's 25 million handguns and gradual state registration and licensing of shotguns and rifles.

In going on record against further controls, the administration said, "There is no clear indication that such a program (registration of shotguns and rifles) would have a significant impact on the criminal misuse of firearms." The administration also pointed out that "the national registration of firearms and the federal licensing of gun owners would be an extremely costly undertaking."

The question of whether further gun controls would result in a reduction in crime, as the Eisenhower commission maintains it would, is an interesting one. In the seven months since the Gun Control Act of 1968 took effect, crime actually has increased in Detroit, Washington, D. C., and other cities.

Minor crimes in the first six months of 1969 were down 12.1 per cent in Detroit, but major crimes (in which weapons are used) increased considerably — 13.6 per cent overall. There were 13.6 per cent more homicides for instance, and 29.2 per cent more robberies.

For the month of June major crimes in Detroit increased 3.9 per cent over last year. The greatest increase in the June figures was in homicides. There were 29 murders committed this year in June, compared to 21 in the same month last year.

Lee Wulff, one of the nation's leading sportsmen and for years one of the most distinguished voices on behalf of conservation, put the case for opposition to more gun control laws quite eloquently in a recent interview with Tom Tiede, Newspaper Enterprise Association staff correspondent.

"Why the hell should I (give up guns)?" Wulff asked. "Or why should I have to ask the local police chief if it's okay for me to buy another? I've done nothing wrong with them. Really, if they pass any of these national gun measures, I feel it's just like saying I'm guilty until proven innocent.

"I'm not against all gun control. I'm not against local laws requiring a time lapse (usually 24 to 48 hours) between gun purchases and gun possession. I'm not against further measures to keep guns out of the hands of maniacs. What I am against is passing national control laws that won't work. Sure, I know that there are evils inherent to private gun ownership — but the evils of unworkable gun laws, I think, are much greater.

★ ★ ★

"The thing that worries me is that these national gun laws seem to be just another step in a direction I've worried about for years. I think they indicate a going-away from the concept of sports for everyone.

"I mean, what we seem to be doing is moving towards what they have in Europe. For decades over there, only a limited number of people, in most countries, have been privileged to own guns and participate in sport.

"And I think it could happen in the United States, too. It is conceivable that if we keep going the way we are, we'll wind up sometime in the future with a class society as far as outdoor sports goes — where only a few enjoy them.

"There is a solution other than more gun laws. All we have to do is enforce the laws we already have. The laws right now say that criminals shouldn't have guns. All right. Let's enforce that. In other words, let's start getting mad at the crooks instead of the sportsmen."

Vacationers and cabin owners in the Old Fort area on Drummond Island are beginning to wish they had a company of grenadiers and a few brass cannon to fight off what they are calling "the new seige of old Fort Drummond." The new beseigers are souvenir hunters, amateur archaeologists and just plain curious tourists. None of those who come looking for "Fort Drummond" seem to realize that there is no fort and that they actually are invading the private property of vacationers. The seige started last spring when Drummond Township appointed a commission to study the possibility of reconstructing the old British fort. The resultant publicity lured numerous visitors to the site. Actually there never was any fort in the sense of a stockade with Redcoats inside and Redskins outside. But from 1813 to 1828, the British did have a fur-trading outpost on Drummond which they called Fort Collyer. Residents of the western side of Drummond Island are unanimous in wanting the public to know that there is no "Fort Drummond," no state-owned land in the area and that any uninvited visitors actually are trespassing.

HAUNTED

Nixon Should Beware Of Promoting Scarcity

BY JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The only proven way of stemming an inflation without creating an unacceptable amount of unemployment is to combine monetary restraints with an actual increase in the national capacity to produce. The trick, if it could be worked, would be to add to the available industrial plant and, at the same time, to hold back on the annual increase in the money supply. It stands to reason that this would force industrialists to cut prices in order to clear their inventories and keep their production lines working.

The arithmetical numbskulls who hope to combine monetary restraints with the abolition of the seven per cent investment credit are, however, dedicated to the nonsensical idea that the way to combat inflation is to limit our capacity to produce. What they are saying is that the way to lower prices is to promote scarcity. Could anything be more contradictory, not to say idiotic?

If the self-elected wizards who champion such non-thinking are permitted to have their way when Congress reconvenes, the 1970 and 1971 results will be predictable. The investment pipelines will, at some point, be suddenly emptied. And, at the same time, producers will feel constrained to keep prices up in order to cover the cost of using obsolescent production lines in plants that are in need of renovation or replacement.

★ ★ ★

...It is a strange thing that Nixon Republicans should be put in the position of trying to legislate scarcity, which is always synonymous with high prices. The farmers, who put Richard Nixon over in the "heartland" states, would be the first to turn against the Republicans if the investment credit were repealed. The key to farm profitability is more and better tractors, seeders, fertilizing machinery, reapers and threshers. Take away the investment credit and farmers will have to face rising production costs.

This, combined with higher interest rates, would make them mutinous as well as sullen. It is time to take warning when the influential Farm Journal says to its readers: "Don't be surprised if you have to pay 15 per cent or more for some farm equipment loans."

The attempt to cut the oil and gas depletion allowance from 27.5 per cent to 20 per cent also has its inbuilt inflationary dangers. For it is the depletion allowance that sparks the search for the new domestic oil reserves that are the key to domestic oil plenty.

When Harold McClure of the McClure Oil Co. of Michigan, speaking for the independent oil and gas producers, points out that new resources are needed to keep prices from rising, he is obviously being a partisan for his own interest. But he could also be right. It is the prospect of new wells that keeps the 5,000 members of the Independent Petroleum Association of America looking for oil wherever the geologists say there is the ghost of a chance of finding it.

The case for the depletion allowance would seemingly collapse if it could be shown that there is no strategic reason to protect the American economy against dependence on oil imports from the Middle East and North Africa. But even if the prospects for peace in the Mediterranean and the Indian Ocean were rosy there would still be a reason to encourage the discovery of new oil reserves on the North American continent.

It should be obvious that the future of the gas industry is bound up with oil: if the domestic production of oil lags, the supply of natural gas must lag along with it. Oil and gas come from the same fields. Dependence on Libya, Saudi Arabia, and Venezuela for oil would not hurt gasoline users provided the foreigin political situation remains relatively stable. But there is no known way of importing natural gas across thousands of miles of ocean. "Gas for the burners in Boston" might be a slogan to win the sympathy of New England Senators for continuation of the domestic oil depletion allowance.

In any case, the Nixon Administration, in fighting inflation, should not be put in the position of encouraging scarcity on any production front. Low prices are dependent on the encouragement of plenty, not on its opposite. This is such an elementary economic truth that even a moron should be able to grasp it.

Mott Funds Assist Community School

(Recently named director of the Community School program in Escanaba, W. Steve Storey describes the financing of the project in this, the last in a series of four articles.)

By W. STEVE STOREY

In order to get a clear understanding of the funding for the Escanaba Area Community School Program it is necessary to understand the relationship between the schools and the community school concept.

Under the concept of community education the school believes that the community has a profound influence on the success of the child in school and in life, and consequently the school becomes involved to the point that it is prepared to use its leadership and resources to come to grips with problems concerning the community.

The concept then entails the assignment of a small fraction of the professional staff, usually one full-time man, who with the assistance of the entire staff, works specifically toward bringing the community into the school and taking the school into the community. This person is called a community school director.

The Escanaba Community School Program will receive money in the form of a $6,000 grant from the Mott Foundation. The school board contributes an amount of $7,000. This will be the total cost to the district for a full year's operation. This amount is equivalent to less than 3/10 of one per cent of the general budget.

This amount will allow the school to extend its program to a potential student body equivalent to the total population of the community; for the possible programs which are part of the community school concept can extend the gammit of ages from pre-schooler through senior citizen. With the school and its facilities a center for activities more use is made of one of the communities most expensive investments. The actual hours of operation can nearly be doubled, depending on the demand for classes from the people.

Using the buildings after school and evenings, six days a week, 11 months a year can become a reality with a very small increase of cost.

The grant through the Mott Foundation was arranged by Northern Michigan University, who assumes the responsibility of promoting and developing the Community School concept through local districts in the Upper Peninsula. This grant will be withdrawn on a sliding scale over a three year period with the hope that the school district will recognize the worth of such a philosophy and adopt it as an integral part of its total program.

The actual programs offered through the Community School concept are to a large degree operated through funds the district becomes eligible for because of the nature of its new programs. Included in this category are the adult high school completion and basic education program.

Mediation Board Gets New Name

LANSING (AP) — If you call the State Labor Mediation Board and someone answers with "employment relations commission" — don't hang up.

You've reached the right number, with a different name.

State Labor Department Director Barry Brown issued a reminder of the name change — accomplished by legislation this spring — because of confusion with callers.

A department spokesman explained that several persons have called the board offices and hung up when they heard what the secretary said.

The name was changed, the spokesman added, because the former board — now commission — "does things other then mediate."

LANSING (AP) — Tourists will spend nearly $100 million more this year than the record $1.17 billion spent in Michigan last year, William McGraw, Michigan Tourist Council director, reports.

During the summer months of July and August, he noted, tourist business increased from 15 to 18 per cent in the Upper Peninsula and 10 to 15 per cent in the Lower Peninsula.

Opening lead—six of hearts.

When a contract depends on how the opponents' cards are divided, you cannot do better than follow the straightforward mathematical probabilities.

This question of percentages is sometimes simple and sometimes complicated, but, unless you're an expert mathematician, you will occasionally run into problems very difficult to solve. Fortunately, not many hands present such insoluble problems and most of the percentage plays that arise can be worked out on a common-sense basis.

Take this hand where South was in three notrump. He won the heart lead in dummy and saw that he had eight sure tricks. He realized that a ninth trick could come either from a club finesse or from a 3-3 break in diamonds.

South knew enough about probabilities to recognize that he had a 50 per cent chance of wining a club finesse but only a 36 per cent chance of finding an even division in diamonds. So at trick two he led a club and finessed the queen. West won, returned a heart to East's king, and South finished down one.

Of course, he should have made the hand. It was a case of misapplied knowledge. South was mathematically right as far as he went, but he didn't go far enough.

After winning the heart lead, he should have cashed the A-K of diamonds and led a diamond to the queen. In the actual case, he would have discovered the 3-3 division and his worries would have been over. He would cash nine tricks and not worry about the club finesse.

If the diamonds were not divided 3-3, he could still fall back on the club finesse and hope for the best.

The correct method of play was bound to give him two chances for the contract, instead of one, and it raised his prospects of success from 50 per cent to 68 per cent.

Prefers Idiot Box To Yakking Wife

Dear Ann Landers: I do not like cats. I am not signing my name because I would probably be boiled in oil for making this statement. Cat lovers are the most fanatic people in the world. They view with enormous suspicion and a deep distrust for anyone who does not share their enthusiasm for these sneaky, selfish creatures.

I cannot figure out why — cat-hater that I am — when I am in a room with ten people, a cat will select me to sit on. This happened yesterday. I tried not to be obvious about my displeasure. I said "Scat" and "Shoo" a few times but the cat continued to hang around, taking occasional swipes at my shoelaces. The hostess noticed it and said adoringly, "Isn't that cute?" Finally the cat became unusually rambunctious and ripped my nylons. The hostess said, matter-of-factly, "I hope they weren't brand new."

I am furious. Did the hostess have an obligation here? — Minus $4.00

Dear Minus: Yes, she should have offered to replace your nylons. A hostess is responsible for damage done by her children and pets.

I am the man you are talking about and I can tell you, after 15 years of marriage I would rather look at that idiot box than listen to that idiot who calls herself a wife. Senator Asks Cut In Lamb Imports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Odds are that a lamb import quota in racehorse clothing won't cross the finish line in Congress.

But Sen. Wallace F. Bennett is trying.

The Utah Republican already has won Senate Finance Committee approval of an amendment setting a lamb import quota as part of a House-approved measure designed to prevent multiple payment of customs duties on race horses temporarily sent abroad.

But Bennett concedes the chances of final passage of his amendment are small.

The attempt is noteworthy because it is the only quota proposal—and a relatively minor one at that—which has been pushed hard this year in Congress. This is in contrast to recent years when there has been a drive to give a wide range of American industries import quota protection from foreign competition.

The only proven way of stemming an inflation without creating an unacceptable amount of unemployment is to combine monetary restraints with an actual increase in the national capacity to produce. The trick, if it could be worked, would be to add to the available industrial plant and, at the same time, to hold back on the annual increase in the money supply. It stands to reason that this would force industrialists to cut prices in order to clear their inventories and keep their production lines working.

The arithmetical numbskulls who hope to combine monetary restraints with the abolition of the seven per cent investment credit are, however, dedicated to the nonsensical idea that the way to combat inflation is to limit our capacity to produce. What they are saying is that the way to lower prices is to promote scarcity. Could anything be more contradictory, not to say idiotic?

If the self-elected wizards who champion such non-thinking are permitted to have their way when Congress reconvenes, the 1970 and 1971 results will be predictable. The investment pipelines will, at some point, be suddenly emptied. And, at the same time, producers will feel constrained to keep prices up in order to cover the cost of using obsolescent production lines in plants that are in need of renovation or replacement.

★ ★ ★

It is a strange thing that Nixon Republicans should be put in the position of trying to legislate scarcity, which is always synonymous with high prices. The farmers, who put Richard Nixon over in the "heartland" states, would be the first to turn against the Republicans if the investment credit were repealed. The key to farm profitability is more and better tractors, seeders, fertilizing machinery, reapers and threshers. Take away the investment credit and farmers will have to face rising production costs.

This, combined with higher interest rates, would make them mutinous as well as sullen. It is time to take warning when the influential Farm Journal says to its readers: "Don't be surprised if you have to pay 15 per cent or more for some farm equipment loans."

The attempt to cut the oil and gas depletion allowance from 27.5 per cent to 20 per cent also has its inbuilt inflationary dangers. For it is the depletion allowance that sparks the search for the new domestic oil reserves that are the key to domestic oil plenty.

When Harold McClure of the McClure Oil Co. of Michigan, speaking for the independent oil and gas producers, points out that new resources are needed to keep prices from rising, he is obviously being a partisan for his own interest. But he could also be right. It is the prospect of new wells that keeps the 5,000 members of the Independent Petroleum Association of America looking for oil wherever the geologists say there is the ghost of a chance of finding it.

The case for the depletion allowance would seemingly collapse if it could be shown that there is no strategic reason to protect the American economy against dependence on oil imports from the Middle East and North Africa. But even if the prospects for peace in the Mediterranean and the Indian Ocean were rosy there would still be a reason to encourage the discovery of new oil reserves on the North American continent.

It should be obvious that the future of the gas industry is bound up with oil: if the domestic production of oil lags, the supply of natural gas must lag along with it. Oil and gas come from the same fields. Dependence on Libya, Saudi Arabia, and Venezuela for oil would not hurt gasoline users provided the foreigin political situation remains relatively stable. But there is no known way of importing natural gas across thousands of miles of ocean. "Gas for the burners in Boston" might be a slogan to win the sympathy of New England Senators for continuation of the domestic oil depletion allowance.

In any case, the Nixon Administration, in fighting inflation, should not be put in the position of encouraging scarcity on any production front. Low prices are dependent on the encouragement of plenty, not on its opposite. This is such an elementary economic truth that even a moron should be able to grasp it.

On Safety Board

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has announced reappointment of three men to the State Occupational Safety Standards Commission for three-year terms.

They were Francis Dery of Dearborn Heights, Thomas F. Yager of Farmington and Robert D. Brenner of Battle Creek.

To Cut Nike Base

DETROIT (AP) — The Army has announced it soon will close its Nike - Hercules air defense missile battery at Detroit Metropolitan Airport as part of a Pentagon economy move.

Originally a site at Carleton in Monroe County was to have been closed, but an Army spokesman said it had been decided to continue this battery, along with others at Detroit's Belle Isle, Selfridge Air Force Base, Commerce Lake and Utica.

Mott Funds Assist Community School

(Recently named director of the Community School program in Escanaba, W. Steve Storey describes the financing of the project in this, the last in a series of four articles.)

By W. STEVE STOREY

In order to get a clear understanding of the funding for the Escanaba Area Community School Program it is necessary to understand the relationship between the schools and the community school concept.

Under the concept of community education the school believes that the community has a profound influence on the success of the child in school and in life, and consequently the school becomes involved to the point that it is prepared to use its leadership and resources to come to grips with problems concerning the community.

The concept then entails the assignment of a small fraction of the professional staff, usually one full-time man, who with the assistance of the entire staff, works specifically toward bringing the community into the school and taking the school into the community. This person is called a community school director.

The Escanaba Community School Program will receive money in the form of a $6,000 grant from the Mott Foundation. The school board contributes an amount of $7,000. This will be the total cost to the district for a full year's operation. This amount is equivalent to less than 3/10 of one per cent of the general budget.

This amount will allow the school to extend its program to a potential student body equivalent to the total population of the community; for the possible programs which are part of the community school concept can extend the gammit of ages from pre-schooler through senior citizen. With the school and its facilities a center for activities more use is made of one of the communities most expensive investments. The actual hours of operation can nearly be doubled, depending on the demand for classes from the people.

Using the buildings after school and evenings, six days a week, 11 months a year can become a reality with a very small increase of cost.

The grant through the Mott Foundation was arranged by Northern Michigan University, who assumes the responsibility of promoting and developing the Community School concept through local districts in the Upper Peninsula. This grant will be withdrawn on a sliding scale over a three year period with the hope that the school district will recognize the worth of such a philosophy and adopt it as an integral part of its total programs.

The actual programs offered through the Community School concept are to a large degree operated through funds the district becomes eligible for because of the nature of its new programs. Included in this category are the adult high school completion and basic education program.

Mediation Board Gets New Name

LANSING (AP) — If you call the State Labor Mediation Board and someone answers with "employment relations commission" — don't hang up.

You've reached the right number, with a different name.

State Labor Department Director Barry Brown issued a reminder of the name change — accomplished by legislation this spring — because of confusion with callers.

A department spokesman explained that several persons have called the board offices and hung up when they heard what the secretary said.

The name was changed, the spokesman added, because the former board — now commission — "does things other then mediate."

Tourism Record

LANSING (AP) — Tourists will spend nearly $100 million more this year than the record $1.17 billion spent in Michigan last year, William McGraw, Michigan Tourist Council director, reports.

During the summer months of July and August, he noted, tourist business increased from 15 to 18 per cent in the Upper Peninsula and 10 to 15 per cent in the Lower Peninsula.

Opening lead—six of hearts.

When a contract depends on how the opponents' cards are divided, you cannot do better than follow the straightforward mathematical probabilities.

This question of percentages is sometimes simple and sometimes complicated, but, unless you're an expert mathematician, you will occasionally run into problems very difficult to solve. Fortunately, not many hands present such insoluble problems and most of the percentage plays that arise can be worked out on a common-sense basis.

Take this hand where South was in three notrump. He won the heart lead in dummy and saw that he had eight sure tricks. He realized that a ninth trick could come either from a club finesse or from a 3-3 break in diamonds.

South knew enough about probabilities to recognize that he had a 50 per cent chance of wining a club finesse but only a 36 per cent chance of finding an even division in diamonds. So at trick two he led a club and finessed the queen. West won, returned a heart to East's king, and South finished down one.

Of course, he should have made the hand. It was a case of misapplied knowledge. South was mathematically right as far as he went, but he didn't go far enough.

After winning the heart lead, he should have cashed the A-K of diamonds and led a diamond to the queen. In the actual case, he would have discovered the 3-3 division and his worries would have been over. He would cash nine tricks and not worry about the club finesse.

If the diamonds were not divided 3-3, he could still fall back on the club finesse and hope for the best.

The correct method of play was bound to give him two chances for the contract, instead of one, and it raised his prospects of success from 50 per cent to 68 per cent.

Prefers Idiot Box To Yakking Wife

Dear Ann Landers: I do not like cats. I am not signing my name because I would probably be boiled in oil for making this statement. Cat lovers are the most fanatic people in the world. They view with enormous suspicion and a deep distrust for anyone who does not share their enthusiasm for these sneaky, selfish creatures.

I cannot figure out why — cat-hater that I am — when I am in a room with ten people, a cat will select me to sit on. This happened yesterday. I tried not to be obvious about my displeasure. I said "Scat" and "Shoo" a few times but the cat continued to hang around, taking occasional swipes at my shoelaces. The hostess noticed it and said adoringly, "Isn't that cute?" Finally the cat became unusually rambunctious and ripped my nylons. The hostess said, matter-of-factly, "I hope they weren't brand new."

I am furious. Did the hostess have an obligation here? — Minus $4.00

Dear Minus: Yes, she should have offered to replace your nylons. A hostess is responsible for damage done by her children and pets.

Dear Ann Landers: I take exception to your reply to the woman who was foaming at the mouth because her husband went from the dinner table to the TV set where he promptly plugged in his eyeballs until the wee hours of the morning.

You said you felt sorry for a man who had such a limited mentality that he could sit for hours in front of the idiot box and watch anything that moved.

I am the man you are talking about and I can tell you, after 15 years of marriage I would rather look at that idiot box than listen to that idiot who calls herself a wife. She hasn't the vaguest idea of what is going on in the world. All she thinks about is her clothes, her hair, her card club and the dirt she reads in the movie magazines.

I hope every woman who complains because her husband doesn't talk to her will read this twice and see if she recognizes anyone she knows. — Married To An Idiot

Dear Married: And who picked the idiot?

Dear Ann Landers: Quite a while back you printed a definition of success. I've carried it in my wallet until time has turned it yellow. Constant thumbing has made it almost illegible. Will you do me a favor and reprint it? I promise to have it encased in plastic and keep it always. Many thanks. — Faithful Reader

Dear Faithful: Here it is:

"To laugh often and much; to win the respect of intelligent people and the affection of children; to earn the appreciation of honest critics and endure the betrayal of false friends; to appreciate beauty; to find the best in others; to leave the world a bit better, whether by a healthy child, a garden patch or a redeemed social condition; to know even one life has breathed easier because you lived. This is to have succeeded."

Senator Asks Cut In Lamb Imports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Odds are that a lamb import quota in racehorse clothing won't cross the finish line in Congress.

But Sen. Wallace F. Bennett is trying.

The Utah Republican already has won Senate Finance Committee approval of an amendment setting a lamb import quota as part of a House-approved measure designed to prevent multiple payment of customs duties on race horses temporarily sent abroad.

But Bennett concedes the chances of final passage of his amendment are small.

The attempt is noteworthy because it is the only quota proposal—and a relatively minor one at that—which has been pushed hard this year in Congress. This is in contrast to recent years when there has been a drive to give a wide range of American industries import quota protection from foreign competition.

Off To School-- With Dad's Help

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that a young man preparing to start kindergarten gets tired of hearing:

"I don't know why you feel you have to lead him by the hand to class the first day, Madge. After all, Andrew is not exactly a baby any longer."

"I hear you're going to have Miss Blimpstein as your teacher. Boy, that old girl is a tiger. I had her myself when I was in kindergarten. At the end of the year three of us kids were missing, and everybody figured she ate them."

"What's all the fuss about anyway? Andrew isn't going to the moon—he's just starting kindergarten."

Just Beginning

"Don't worry so much, kid. Even if you weather kindergarten, you still have 16 more years to go before you'll get out of college."

"Don't let him pull any fake illness on you, Madge. Whether he claims he has a fever or a bellyache, I want him in that kindergarten seat when the bell rings."

"I understand that that little bully in the next block is going to be in the same kindergarten class with you, Andrew. Don't let him knock all your front teeth out."

"If you aren't polite to all the little girls, Andrew, Miss Blimpstein will make you stand in the corner and let them throw spitballs at you."

"You'll get to do all kinds of fascinating things, Andrew — such as galloping around the room to music, cutting out dolls, and learning to draw and color little white lambs in green grass."

"What do you mean you think you'll drive him to school every day, Madge? You'll not only spoil him—you'll stunt his growth. Let him walk. It'll do him good."

"Mom, I'm not going to have Andrew tagging along after me to school every day. What'll the other guys in the third grade think if I gotta stop every few steps to let my baby brother catch up with me?"

"If you wipe your nose on the sleeve of your sweater, Andrew, Miss Blimpstein will make you drink ink instead of milk for your lunch."

No Pets

"Now quit blubbering, Andrew. I insist you wear short pants to kindergarten. You look so darling in them. You can have long pants when you start first grade."

"No, you can't take the dog with you . . . or the cat . . . or your turtle . . . or any other pet. You just take yourself, understand?"

"If you're a really good boy, you'll be rewarded. You may be permitted to beat the blackboard erasers."

"Don't let them tease you, Andrew—kindergarten is no worse than a bad case of mumps."

"You don't have to know how to read and write by recess time, Andrew. But if you haven't learned how to by the end of the first day, Miss Blimpstein will send you to the principal's office,and he'll put you in an automatic spanking machine that whacks you 150 times a minute."

Doubt Cast On Bankrobber's Sex

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit police are seeking a male—or was it a female?—bankrobber who wore lipstick and demanded money from a Michigan Bank branch teller in Detroit Wednesday.

The teller said she handed $600 to what she thought was a man dressed as a woman after he gave her a note and pulled a gun.

Other witnesses said the bandit was a woman. The bandit wore blue jeans and a white turtle-neck shirt.

Rock Lions Sponsor Labor Day Festival

The 27th Rock Lions Annual Labor Day Harvest Festival will get underway Monday, Sept. 1, with a parade at 10 a. m.

Water Fight

Games and rides of all sorts will be offered on the Fairway throughout the day. Refreshments, mojakka, pasties, hot dogs, and hamburgers will be available on the grounds all day. ;A water fight in the afternoon wil add to the festivities. The grand finale on the grounds will be the fireworks at 8:15 p. m.

Festival Dance

The Rock Senior class will bring Labor Day festivities to a close by sponsoring a dance at the Finn Hall(several miles west of Rock. Music will be furnished by, 'The 'Porridge," band. Dancing will be from 10 p. m. until 1 a. m. The public is welcome.

Time To Seed Lawn Is Now

EAST LANSING (AP) — The best time to seed a lawn is now, advises a Michigan State University expert.

Dr. James Beard, a turfgrass researcher, suggests seeding up until Sept. 1. The seeded or sodded lawn should be mowed when the grass is 2½-3 inches high, he adds. The new grass should be cut to a height of 1½-2 inches.

Lawn growers should apply a light application of soluble nitrogen, such as ammonium nitrate or urea—1½ pounds of actual nitrogen per 1,000 square feet of lawn, he says, when the young seedlings have reached a height of 1½ inches. The fertilizer should be watered into the soil to help the lawn get established quickly, Beard advises.

Rock Schools Open Tuesday

George E. Weingartner, superintendent, has announced that the Rock Public Schools will open Tuesday, Sept. 2 for the 1969-70 academic year.

The first day sessions will be abbreviated and students will report at 9 a. m. Books will be issued and assignments made. Dismissal will be at 11 a. m.

Wednesday, Sept. 3 will be first full day of school for all students. Hot lunch will begin on Wednesday. Daily lunch tickets will be 20 cents per day or $3 for the month (20 days). Parents are urged to purchase monthly tickets when possible.

Bus routes will remain essentially the same as last year. Pickup and departure times, with the exception of opening day, will not change.

Personnel and staff will remain the same as last year except for the following changes: Kathleen Wykhuis of Marquette will teach English, forensics, girls physical education and advise the senior class. She graduated from Northern Michigan University with a BA degree.

Douglas Palomaki of Negaunee with a BS degree from NMU will coach football, teach the fifth grade and drafting in Industrial arts.

Stanley Bjork, with a degree in elementary education from NMU will teach the fourth grade and coach the grade school basketball teams.

Irene Kaukola who received her degree in elementary education from NMU will teach the first grade.

The school calendar for the 1969-70 school year is briefly as follows: Thanksgiving vacation, Nov. 27-28; Christmas vacation, Dec. 24-Jan. 5; Easter vacation, March 27-30; Commencement, May 21; Last day of school, tentative date, May 29 or June 1.

Doubt Cast On Bankrobber's Sex

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit police are seeking a male—or was it a female?—bankrobber who wore lipstick and demanded money from a Michigan Bank branch teller in Detroit Wednesday.

The teller said she handed $600 to what she thought was a man dressed as a woman after he gave her a note and pulled a gun.

Other witnesses said the bandit was a woman. The bandit wore blue jeans and a white turtle-neck shirt.

Games and rides of all sorts will be offered on the Fairway throughout the day. Refreshments, mojakka, pasties, hot dogs, and hamburgers will be available on the grounds all day. ;A water fight in the afternoon wil add to the festivities. The grand finale on the grounds will be the fireworks at 8:15 p. m.

Festival Dance

The Rock Senior class will bring Labor Day festivities to a close by sponsoring a dance at the Finn Hall(several miles west of Rock. Music will be furnished by, "The 'Porridge," band. Dancing will be from 10 p. m. until 1 a. m. The public is welcome.

Time To Seed Lawn Is Now

EAST LANSING (AP) — The best time to seed a lawn is now, advises a Michigan State University expert.

Dr. James Beard, a turfgrass researcher, suggests seeding up until Sept. 1. The seeded or sodded lawn should be mowed when the grass is 2½-3 inches high, he adds. The new grass should be cut to a height of 1½-2 inches.

Lawn growers should apply a light application of soluble nitrogen, such as ammonium nitrate or urea—1½ pounds of actual nitrogen per 1,000 square feet of lawn, he says, when the young seedlings have reached a height of 1½ inches. The fertilizer should be watered into the soil to help the lawn get established quickly, Beard advises.

Rock Schools Open Tuesday

George E. Weingartner, superintendent, has announced that the Rock Public Schools will open Tuesday, Sept. 2 for the 1969-70 academic year.

The first day sessions will be abbreviated and students will report at 9 a. m. Books will be issued and assignments made. Dismissal will be at 11 a. m.

Wednesday, Sept. 3 will be first full day of school for all students. Hot lunch will begin on Wednesday. Daily lunch tickets will be 20 cents per day or $3 for the month (20 days). Parents are urged to purchase monthly tickets when possible.

Bus routes will remain essentially the same as last year. Pickup and departure times, with the exception of opening day, will not change.

Personnel and staff will remain the same as last year except for the following changes: Kathleen Wykhuis of Marquette will teach English, forensics, girls physical education and advise the senior class. She graduated from Northern Michigan University with a BA degree.

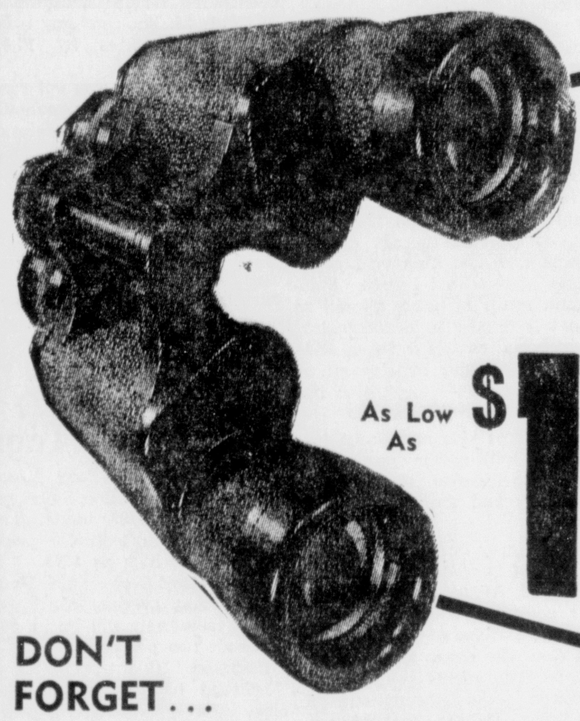

Douglas Palomaki of Negaunee with a BS degree from NMU will coach football, teach the fifth grade and drafting in Industrial arts.

Stanley Bjork, with a degree in elementary education from NMU will teach the fourth grade and coach the grade school basketball teams.

Irene Kaukola who received her degree in elementary education from NMU will teach the first grade.

The school calendar for the 1969-70 school year is briefly as follows: Thanksgiving vacation, Nov. 27-28; Christmas vacation, Dec. 24-Jan. 5; Easter vacation, March 27-30; Commencement, May 21; Last day of school, tentative date, May 29 or June 1.

GLADSTONE

1,550 Students Start School On Wednesday

Gladstone Public Schools will begin classes for 1969-70 Sept. 3 with an approximate enrollment of 1,550, according to Superintendent of Schools Wesley Fleet.

All students have been pre-registered and junior and senior high school students will report at 8:20 a. m. Wednesday. Elementary students report at 9 a. m. Staff meetings for both teaching and non-teaching personnel are scheduled for Tuesday.

Gladstone schools will have a full time elementary principal for the first time this year, Fleet said. Gerald Danhoff will assume this responsibility and brings four years of experience with him.

Other new members of the elementary staff include Barbara Peterson, second grade, Sharon DuPont and Patricia Glimm both third grade, Linda Westerman, fifth grade and Ann VanTassel, remedial reading.

Use Church Rooms

Classrooms in the new First Lutheran Church will be used to house three second grade sections. The James T. Jones Elementary School will have kindergarten, first, third, fourth, fifth and sixth grades; The Buckeye Elementary School will have grades one through four.

New staff members in the junior-senior high school include: Fred Boddy, science and coaching; Jack Ingalls, mathematics and coaching; Roselynn Lindstrom, English; Agnes Lindemulder, English; Ann Youngs, art, and Thomas Bolek, guidance.

Because of the increased enrollment of approximately 85 students over the past year, seven additional members are being added to the staff in order to reduce class sizes to reasonable numbers, Fleet said.

Curriculum Improved

A number of curriculum improvements will be implemented in both the elementary and secondary schools, according to Fleet. These changes will strengthen the overall school program.

The employment of a full-time principal should strengthen the overall elementary program, Fleet pointed out. One of his key responsibilities for the ensuing year will be to develop continuity in the total elementary curriculum. Initiating an effective testing program, individual student placement and closer student supervision in all facilities are areas that will receive his attention, Fleet said.

Remedial reading has been added to the elementary curriculum. Youngsters with reading difficulties will receive individualized instruction.

Changes Cited

A broader teaching system in English with sections for slower learners, which will include auxiliary libraries and simplified texts, has been added. New science programs are being implemented on the high school leevl and the art department now has it's own facility. The high school math textbook series is being altered so that it is now in chronological order and chorus is being added to the music department. A second guidance counselor has been added to the staff.

Facilities also have been improved with major changes being made in the Buckeye Elementary and the Junior High School.

The study hall located in the old gym has had the floor refinished. All science rooms will be equipped with tables and chairs, purchased with federal money. The desks that were in those four rooms will replace broken desks throughout the building. Ceilings on the second floor now have suspended tile, which is a major improvement, and both drafting and art room facilities have been improved, Fleet said.

Fleet, who came to Gladstone from Mancelona, Mich., to succeed the late Wallace Cameron, said the Board of Education, administration and staff are enthusiastic about the new school year and feel confident that it should be an excellent year.

Army Refuses Defective Guns

WASHINGTON (AP) — Calling the weapons poorly made, the Army has stopped accepting M16 rifles produced by a Massachusetts company involved last year in a contract award that raised the ire of Congress.

The Army says in effect that the Harrington & Richardson Co., of Worcester, Mass., has been turning out shoddy rifles but it hopes the suspension of M16 acceptances will be temporary.

In response to questions, the Army said it had rejected five lots totaling 5,000 rifles before suspending further acceptances last July 25. The company is behind in deliveries by 12,866 weapons.

"The contractor was not complying with the contractually prescribed quality assurance program," the Army said. "Some rifles failed to pass function, endurance and targeting and accuracy tests."

Furthermore, H&R's M16s failed final examinations because of such flaws as defective barrels and bolt carriers and improper lubrication, the Army said.

New Cars Carry Higher Price Tags

DETROIT (AP)—Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. are reported shipping 1970 model cars to dealers with tentative price increases as high as $275.

The Detroit News said Wednesday that average Ford car prices tentatively will be up $68 or about two per cent.

Chrysler Chairman Lynn Townsend has refused to disclose an average tentative price hike but said the 1970 prices would be "up" over last year.

These prices represent only notification on invoices to dealers who arrange pre-introduction sales. Final prices may be either higher or lower than these tentative estimates.

Actual Ford prices will be set before the cars go on sale officially Sept. 19. Final Chrysler prices will be decided shortly before their sale opening Sept. 23.

Budget Squeezed

BATTLE CREEK (AP) — Barry County voters have put what officials termed a "real squeeze" on the county's operating budget by defeating a one-mill request for a building fund.

Voters rejected a five-year millage proposal, 1,791 to 1,190. The levy would have paid for construction of a sewage lagoon at the Barry County medical care facility, a lockup for county prisoners and expansion of county office facilities.

BIG TROUBLE — Mrs. Irene Williams (above), a sister of the late western singer Hank Williams, found herself under federal arrest in Laredo, Tex., where authorities say they found cocaine in her car which would retail at $7 million. She once was chosen "Woman of the Month" in Dallas, Tex., where she was in the real estate business.

Atom Scientist's Testimony Sought

BATTLE CREEK (AP) — The prosecutor in a mail bomb murder trial has asked court permission for an atomic scientist to testify in the case.

Prosecutor John M. Jereck said C. Michael Hoffman of the National Office Laboratory of the U.S. Treasury Department, would testify "in conjunction with evidence acquired after arraignment."

As a federal research chemist, Hoffman has experimented in the field of neutron activation analysis.

If Jereck's petition is approved by the Circuit Court, Hoffman would testify at the murder trial of Enoch D. Chism of Marshall. Chism is accused of slaying Mrs. Paul Puyear, who was killed when a package she received in the mail exploded.

World Will Go Berserk When Food Runs Out

SEATTLE (AP) — The world won't simply starve to death when it runs out of food—it will simply go berserk, a scientist says.

Dr. A.S. Sussman, research botanist from the University of Michigan, made the statement here at the meeting of the International Botanical Congress. Sussman will head a public symposium Thursday on world food supply problems.

Sussman noted experts have predicted a world famine by 1975, and he said federal funding for basic research to find the solution of an international food shortage is so little, "We may not even be able to see the way to go in 10 years."

Miniskirt Gals Boost Gas Sale

DETROIT (AP) — Watching his gas station staff of short-skirted girls prance about tending to motor needs, owner Ken Wall noted, "Business has picked up 10 to 15 per cent. These girls are even getting tips! It's unheard of!"

The girls, ranging in age from 17 to 24 years-old, were hired out of desperation, said Wall, owner of the East Detroit station.

"Every boy over the age of 12 has worked in a gas station. By the time they came to me, they just had too many bad habits," Wall said. "'I couldn't find and keep reliable boys."

He said he was afraid he'd have trouble teaching the girl how to work under the hood, but they picked it up within one day.

With girls like Kathy Fair, 18, of St. Clair Shores, working at the station, Wall doesn't worry. She says, "I took auto shop twice at Lakeview High School because I liked it so much. I just like cars."

Then smiling, she indicated there might be more to it than love of autos. "Sometimes I date customers, but they have to stop by six or seven times before I go out."

How do the customers react? Janet Gartrell, 19, of Dearborn, said "I think the women sometimes would like a man to work on their car, but they are very quick to tell us when they are pleased.

"The boys just sit and stare with their jaws open," she said.

Therapy Board Members Named

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has named Jean Cuthbertson of Ann Arbor and Dr. Leslie Mandel of Southfield to the State Board of Physical Therapy Registration. Miss Cuthbertson, an assistant professor at Wayne State University, succeeds Virginia Wilson of Ann Arbor as the board's physical therapist representative.

Mandel succeeds Dr. Charles Frantz of Grand Rapids as the physician representative. A former medical director at a Windsor hospital, Mandel has been in private practice in Detroit since 1962. The appointments are subject to Senate confirmation.

Citizen May Sue To Secure End To Pollution

MUSKEGON (AP) — A judge at Muskegon has ruled, in effect that a private citizen can seek pollution abatement through the courts as well as through the State Water Resources Commission.

Muskegon County Circuit Judge John H. Piercey made the ruling this week in a suit filed by A. Winton Dahlstrom against the city of Whitehall and the Whitehall Leather Co.

Dahlstrom charged that the tannery is a private and public nuisance in the discharge of waste into White Lake.

Dahlstrom's suit was filed in his name although he said he was acting on behalf of the White Lake Improvement Association.

Dahlstrom charged the tannery's discharge of wastes had resulted in the pollution of White Lake.

The city of Whitehall and the tannery had asked that the suit be thrown out of court, contending the courts have no jurisdiction in water quality control because the power already is vested in the State Water Resources Commission.

Piercey denied their motion for dismissal, declaring that courts always have had the power to determine whether nuisances exist and then to order them abated.

Detroit MEA Charter Lifted

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Education Association has revoked the charter of its 1,200-member Detroit affiliate, charging the local group mismanaged funds and failed to communicate and cooperate with the parent body.

A Detroit Education Association official, however, said his group couldn't be expelled because it quit the MEA in May.

Robert Johnson, DEA president said the Detroit unit pulled out because of its opposition to MEA proposals for agency shop provisions in contracts and what Johnson termed "pornographic material" used in sex education programs.

The Detroit unit had been on probation since November 1967.

MEA board action, taken at a recent meeting, means the Detroit local no longer will receive subsidies and service from the state group and will not be able to use the name "education association," an MEA spokesman said.

Board action is subject to appeal through the MEA Board of Reference.

The MEA spokesman said "the MEA and the National Education Association favor agency shop clauses. The DEA formed a coalition with the National Right to Work Committee, which opposes the agency shop concept."

Reasons for disaffiliation cited by the MEA board, without elaboration, included:

—Mismanagement of funds on the part of the DEA.

—Membership fees confiscated by the DEA.

—Failure of the DEA to adhere to the provisions of its own constitution.

—Failure to elect a member properly to the state board of directors.

—Lack of communication and cooperation with the MEA.

—Irresponsible and unfounded charges in the mass media regarding program and policies of the MEA and the National Education Association.

The Detroit Teacher group had been affiliated with the MEA for some 25 years, the spokesman said.

'Drive Safely' Is Labor Day Plea By Police

EAST LANSING (AP) —State Police Director Fredrick Davids is appealing to Michigan residents and visitors to follow safety precautions in all Labor Day weekend activities.

Davids said the 51 traffic deaths in Michigan during the Labor Day observance last year was the second highest for a holiday period in the state's history.

Some 58 persons died over the Memorial Day period in 1941, setting the current record.

Davids also warned against carelessness in swimming, water skiing, boating and fishing, saying five persons died last year in water mishaps over the Labor Day weekend.

The State Police director said holiday weekend traffic patrols would be operating from noon Friday through midnight Monday.

Planes Watch Traffic

Boosting the trooper numbers over the weekend will be motor vehicle inspection personnel from checklanes that will not be operating, three high-wing Cessna planes — weather permitting—and maybe some special police reserve officers.

Meanwhile, the State Highway Department announced that there would be 11 construction detours on state highways during the Labor Day weekend.

They include:

U.S. 2 Detour

—M20 between Holton and M82 at the Muskegon - Newaygo county line. Traffic is detoured on Holton Duck Lake and Skeels roads with no additional mileage.

—U.S. 141 between Iron Mountain and Niagara, Wis. Traffic is detoured on U.S. 2 and U.S. 8 via Norway, adding about four miles to the route. The detour will be in effect until October.

—The interchange of I 75 in Flint. The interchange is open to northbound I 75 traffic only. Other interchange traffic is detoured to the nearby M121 interchange.

—M204 between M22 and Lake Leelanau. Traffic is detoured north from Lake Leelanau of Eagle Highway to M22 and south around Leelanau Lake to M204, adding eight miles to the route. The detour will be in effect until fall.

—U.S. 25 between Port Austin and Huron City. Through traffic is detoured on M142 and M53, around nine miles of construction. The detour will be in effect until the fall of 1970.

—M21 and M47 in Owosso. Traffic is being detoured on city streets to permit replacement of a bridge carrying M21 over the Shiawassee River and the modernization of M47, adding four blocks to the route. The detour will be in effect until fall.

—M44 near Grattan in Kent County. Traffic is detoured on county roads, adding three miles to the route. The detour will be in effect until late fall.

—M47 between M78 and Owosso. Traffic is detoured on M78 and M71, adding 11 miles to the route. The detour will be in effect until late fall.

South Of Soo

—M52 north of Stockbridge in Ingham County. Traffic is detoured on county roads around two miles of construction. The detour adds no additional mileage and will be in effect until fall.

—M54 between Clion and M54. Traffic is routed north on M54 and Tuscola and Clio roads, adding 1.5 miles to the route. The detour will be in effect until fall.

—M129 at Donaldson south of Sault Ste. Marie. Traffic is detoured west and south of county roads around six miles of construction, adding nine miles to the route. The detour will be in effect until fall. Traffic between Kinross and Barbeau is not affected.

Miniskirt Gals Boost Gas Sale

DETROIT (AP) — Watching his gas station staff of short-skirted girls prance about tending to motor needs, owner Ken Wall noted, "Business has picked up 10 to 15 per cent. These girls are even getting tips! It's unheard of!"

The girls, ranging in age from 17 to 24 years-old, were hired out of desperation, said Wall, owner of the East Detroit station.

"Every boy over the age of 12 has worked in a gas station. By the time they came to me, they just had too many bad habits," Wall said. "I couldn't find and keep reliable boys."

He said he was afraid he'd have trouble teaching the girl how to work under the hood, but they picked it up within one day.

With girls like Kathy Fair, 18, of St. Clair Shores, working at the station, Wall doesn't worry. She says, "I took auto shop twice at Lakeview High School because I liked it so much. I just like cars."

Then smiling, she indicated there might be more to it than love of autos. "Sometimes I date customers, but they have to stop by six or seven times before I go out."

How do the customers react? Janet Gartrell, 19, of Dearborn, said "I think the women sometimes would like a man to work on their car, but they are very quick to tell us when they are pleased.

Donna Proehl Bride Of John H. Rogers

Donna L. Proehl of Rapid River and John H. Rogers of Escanaba exchanged wedding vows during a double ring ceremony Saturday, Aug. 16 at the Calvary Lutheran Church of Rapid River.

The Rev. Theophil Hoffman officiated at the nuptials at 2:30 p. m. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert J. Proehl of Rapid River and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Mae Rogers, 1615 Washington Ave.

Silk Organza

The bride chose for her wedding a floor length A-line gown of satin lined silk organza styled with a rounded neckline, long sleeves and a cathedral length train of Chantilly lace.

A cluster headpiece of English lace petals held her elbow length veil of imported silk illusion and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and white daisies.

Jane Wright of Lebanon, Mo. was maid of honor for the bride and bridesmaids were Sue and Lois Proehl, sisters of the bride.

Dotted Swiss

They wore floor length frocks of aqua dotted Swiss and carried wicker baskets of yellow and white daisies. Their gold heart pendants were a gift of the bride.

Serving as best man for his brother was Gary Rogers and groomsmen were Arnie and John Proehl, brothers of the bride. Seating the guests were Donald and Dorian Brandt, cousins of the bridegroom.

Orchid Corsages

Mrs. Proehl wore for her daughter's wedding a three piece lime green suit with white accessories and she was presented a yellow orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother selected a three piece light blue ensemble with beige accessories and she pinned a pink orchid corsage.

The reception was held at the Dutch Mill, Rapid River, followed by a dance. Assisting at the reception were Doug Proehl, Delores Samson and Nora Doonan. The wedding cake was made by the bridegroom's mother and flower arrangements were by Mrs. Lee Beeck.

Historic castle-hotels also dot the countrysides of Belgium, England, Ireland, Northern Ireland, Scotland, the Netherlands, Italy, Portugal, Spain, Switzerland and Sweden.

Softened Water Offers Better Beauty Care

People who bathe in soft water claim they feel better. They're not imagining things, They really do, because their skin is free of the sticky soap and dirt film that occurs in hard water. The Water Conditioning Foundation points out that the deposit you see in a tub or lavatory bowl when hard water is used is what remains on the skin when it's washed in hard water.

Soft water is important for a goid shampoo too. It leaves the hair more lustrous and full-bodied, with less tendency to tangle. When hard water is used, deposits on the hair can cause uneven results with home permanent waves, tinting, dyeing or bleaching, the Foundation notes.

Over 85 percent of the water in the U. S. is hard enough to require treatment. The best way is with an automatic softener that conditions the water before it enters the piping system. In the modern unit, the water flows through a tank containing a chemical that removes certain minerals such as iron and calcium. As the chemical is saturated with the minerals, it's regenerated automatically. The unit is easy to install and requires almost no maintenance.

Gay S. Chipman Named State Fair Queen

DETROIT (AP) — Wednesday was Queen's Day at the Michigan State Fair, and blonde, blue-eyed Gay S. Chipman, 17, of Franklin was named Miss Michigan State Fair.

The five-foot-four, 103-pound Miss Chipmen was selected from a group of 55 Wednesday night while representing the Birmingham Groves High School senior class.

Semi-finals were held Tuesday night, when the competition was reduced to the ten girls who paraded for the judges' final choice.

Miss Chipman says her hobbies include tennis, modeling, swimming and skiing. She is working this summer as a dental assistant.

Along with the crown, title and trophy, she won a $100 savings bond, an evening gown and an assortment of other prizes.

In other judging Wednesday, the grand champion Clydesdale stallion chosen is owned by Anheuser Busch, of St. Louis, Mo. The champion mare was entered by Castagnasso and Sons, of Charlotte.

In the Morgan category for horse entries, the champion gelding selected is owned by Walter Carrol, of Farmington.

State Fair attendance Wednesday totalled 73,597, bringing the running total to 473,507. Last year's attendance after the same number of days was 453,163, according to fair records.

Dear Heloise:

Here is the hint of the year for those who have any curtain panels that wave and stretch on the side when they are washed or ironed.

Before I even begin to launder my curtain panels, I get out my sewing machine, set it on the biggest stitch available, and make two rows of stitching along each side on the selvage.

I find that this machine stitching helps hold the selvage in place and keeps it from making the panels wavy along the sides.

Dear Heloise:

The children were always dragging the cushions of my furniture on the floor to watch TV. I bought three different pieces of corduroy in solid material to match the colors in my print cushions and made three monstrous pillows. Then I stuffed them with about three pounds of foam rubber.

Each boy has a certain color pillow so there is absolutely no arguing. When not in use they are stacked in an empty corner of the den.

The only problem is that my grown daughters and their husbands now want pillows of their own.

Dear Heloise:

Several weeks ago, I followed your suggestion to dilute the dish-washing liquid with an equal amount of water.

I was very pleased with the results, and could give it a good, healthy and luxurious squeeze and still get the right amount.

I also had visions of all the liquid I was saving when the kids were doing the dishes.

Then one morning I happened to be out in the kitchen with my youngest daughter. She picked up the bottle of liquid detergent and casually said, "You know, Mother, they just aren't making this stuff like they used to. It's so thin! But don't worry, I've been thickening it up with this old bottle from under the sink."

And there was my new "reserve bottle," almost empty.

Softened Water Offers Better Beauty Care

People who bathe in soft water claim they feel better. They're not imagining things, They really do, because their skin is free of the sticky soap and dirt film that occurs in hard water. The Water Conditioning Foundation points out that the deposit you see in a tub or lavatory bowl when hard water is used is what remains on the skin when it's washed in hard water.

Soft water is important for a goid shampoo too. It leaves the hair more lustrous and full-bodied, with less tendency to tangle. When hard water is used, deposits on the hair can cause uneven results with home permanent waves, tinting, dyeing or bleaching, the Foundation notes.

Over 85 percent of the water in the U. S. is hard enough to require treatment. The best way is with an automatic softener that conditions the water before it enters the piping system. In the modern unit, the water flows through a tank containing a chemical that removes certain minerals such as iron and calcium. As the chemical is saturated with the minerals, it's regenerated automatically. The unit is easy to install and requires almost no maintenance.

Donna Proehl Bride Of John H. Rogers

The Rev. Theophil Hoffman officiated at the nuptials at 2:30 p. m. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert J. Proehl of Rapid River and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Mae Rogers, 1615 Washington Ave.

Silk Organza

The bride chose for her wedding a floor length A-line gown of satin lined silk organza styled with a rounded neckline, long sleeves and a cathedral length train of Chantilly lace.

A cluster headpiece of English lace petals held her elbow length veil of imported silk illusion and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and white daisies.

Jane Wright of Lebanon, Mo. was maid of honor for the bride and bridesmaids were Sue and Lois Proehl, sisters of the bride.

Dotted Swiss

They wore floor length frocks of aqua dotted Swiss and carried wicker baskets of yellow and white daisies. Their gold heart pendants were a gift of the bride.

Serving as best man for his brother was Gary Rogers and groomsmen were Arnie and John Proehl, brothers of the bride. Seating the guests were Donald and Dorian Brandt, cousins of the bridegroom.

Orchid Corsages

Mrs. Proehl wore for her daughter's wedding a three piece lime green suit with white accessories and she was presented a yellow orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother selected a three piece light blue ensemble with beige accessories and she pinned a pink orchid corsage.

The reception was held at the Dutch Mill, Rapid River, followed by a dance. Assisting at the reception were Doug Proehl, Delores Samson and Nora Doonan. The wedding cake was made by the bridegroom's mother and flower arrangements were by Mrs. Lee Beeck.

Historic castle-hotels also dot the countrysides of Belgium, England, Ireland, Northern Ireland, Scotland, the Netherlands, Italy, Portugal, Spain, Switzerland and Sweden.

Gay S. Chipman Named State Fair Queen

DETROIT (AP) — Wednesday was Queen's Day at the Michigan State Fair, and blonde, blue-eyed Gay S. Chipman, 17, of Franklin was named Miss Michigan State Fair.

The five-foot-four, 103-pound Miss Chipmen was selected from a group of 55 Wednesday night while representing the Birmingham Groves High School senior class.

Semi-finals were held Tuesday night, when the competition was reduced to the ten girls who paraded for the judges' final choice.

Miss Chipman says her hobbies include tennis, modeling, swimming and skiing. She is working this summer as a dental assistant.

Along with the crown, title and trophy, she won a $100 savings bond, an evening gown and an assortment of other prizes.

In other judging Wednesday, the grand champion Clydesdale stallion chosen is owned by Anheuser Busch, of St. Louis, Mo. The champion mare was entered by Castagnasso and Sons, of Charlotte.

In the Morgan category for horse entries, the champion gelding selected is owned by Walter Carrol, of Farmington.

State Fair attendance Wednesday totalled 73,597, bringing the running total to 473,507. Last year's attendance after the same number of days was 453,163, according to fair records.

hints from Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

Here is the hint of the year for those who have any curtain panels that wave and stretch on the side when they are washed or ironed.

Before I even begin to launder my curtain panels, I get out my sewing machine, set it on the biggest stitch available, and make two rows of stitching along each side on the selvage.

I find that this machine stitching helps hold the selvage in place and keeps it from making the panels wavy along the sides.

Dear Heloise:

The children were always dragging the cushions of my furniture on the floor to watch TV. I bought three different pieces of corduroy in solid material to match the colors in my print cushions and made three monstrous pillows. Then I stuffed them with about three pounds of foam rubber.

Each boy has a certain color pillow so there is absolutely no arguing. When not in use they are stacked in an empty corner of the den.

The only problem is that my grown daughters and their husbands now want pillows of their own.

Dear Heloise:

While visiting with my daughter recently, I was hanging my clothes in her closet and noticed such a wonderful scent of pine.

She told me she had painted a pine cone with pine oil. I t ied it when I got home and it's wonderful.

Letter Of Laughter

Dear Heloise:

Several weeks ago, I followed your suggestion to dilute the dish-washing liquid with an equal amount of water.

I was very pleased with the results, and could give it a good, healthy and luxurious squeeze and still get the right amount.

I also had visions of all the liquid I was saving when the kids were doing the dishes.

Then one morning I happened to be out in the kitchen with my youngest daughter. She picked up the bottle of liquid detergent and casually said, "You know, Mother, they just aren't making this stuff like they used to. It's so thin! But don't worry, I've been thickening it up with this old bottle from under the sink."

And there was my new "reserve bottle," almost empty.

Dear Heloise:

If your child's last year's coat has become too short in the sleeves but fits O. K. otherwise, get busy and knit some ribbed cuffs.

Fasten them up under the edge of the sleeve and your coat looks smarter than it did when it was new.

Deacons To Serve U. P. Parishes

Five young men ordained as deacons in June return to the Roman Catholic Diocese of Marquette, Aug. 29 to serve U. P. parishes for seven months in the midst of their last year in the seminary.

Interrupted by three four-day workshops at St. John's Provinicial Seminary, Plymouth, Mich., the assignments announced by the Most Rev. Bishop Charles A. Salatka, D. D., extend until Easter, March 29.

The assignments are: The Rev. Mr. Peter Carli, of Ironwood, to St. Thomas, Escanaba; the Rev. Mr. William LaBre, formerly of Escanaba, to St. William's, Menominee; The Rev. Mr. Michael Rhoades, of St. Ignace, to St. Agnes, Iron River; The Rev. Mr. Michael Shanley of Marquette, to St. Ambrose, Ironwood; The Rev. Mr. James Williams, of Ann Arbor, to Loretto Central, Sault Ste. Marie, with residence at St. Joseph's.

The Rev. Patrick Wisneske of White Pine directs the deacon program in the diocese.

A deacon may assist with Mass, distribute Communion, lead prayer services, witness weddings, preach the Gospel, comfort the dying, bury the dead and he may also teach and counsel.

While these deacons aim for ordination as priests next June, the Catholic Church has also begun to restore a permanent Diaconate, in which older men, married or single, might serve.

Mrs. James S. Noggle (Lees' Studio)

Linda S. Robitaille, James S. Noggle Wed

Linda Susan Robitaille and James Sheldon Noggle exchanged wedding vows during a ceremony performed Saturday, Aug. 16 at St. Anthony's Catholic Church in Wells.

The Rev. Norbert Freiburger officiated at the 2 p. m. ceremony and the bride was given in marriage by her father.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Robitaille of 1226 N. 16th St. and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Noggle of 1323 Delta Ave., Gladstone.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Larry Krause of Rapid River and bridesmaids were Coleen and Roberta Lake of Gladstone, nieces of the bridegroom. Lori Warner of Union Lake, Mich., was the flower girl.

Serving as best man was Larry Krause and further attending the bridegroom were Larry Robitaille, brother of the bridegroom, and Alex Chenier Jr., cousin of the bride. Performing ushering duties were Rene Robitaille Jr. and Steven Reno, cousins of the bride. David Warner of Union Lake, nephew of the bridegroom, was ringbearer.

Lace and Satin

For her wedding the bride selected a shaped cage gown of delicate acetate and nylon lace over a fitted underdress of satin with an acetate satin bow on the bodice. The shoulder train had a scalloped border and the neckline was slightly scooped.

A crown of seed pearls and crystals on nylon petals secured her three-tiered veil of silk illusion and she carried a cascade bouquet of white daisies and pompons. Her only jewelry was a cultured pearl necklace, a gift of the bridegroom.

Maize Gowns

The bridal attendants wore identical gowns of sheer nylon over maize taffeta fashioned with bouffant, three-quarter length sleeves. Ruffles and satin bows highlighted the front of the dresses and they carried bouquets of white daisies. The flower girl was identically attired and carried a basket of white daisies.

Mothers' Attire

Mrs. Robitaille wore a three-piece mint green suit for her daughter's wedding and a navy blue dress was worn by the bridegroom's mother. Both mothers and grandmothers were presented corsages.

Reception

The newlyweds greeted guests at a reception at the Eagles Hall. After a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination they will reside in Perronville.

Out of town guests were from Superior, Wis., Chicago, Milwaukee and Detroit.

Housing Session Termed Success

Information of importance in the development of housing program and projects was brought to about 75 persons atending an Upper Peninsula housing meeting in the Civic Center at Escanaba on Wednesday.

Representatives of municipalities, building contractors, banks and credit unions interested in housing financing, and other agencies attended the session.

Purpose of the meeting was to brief interested persons on functions and duties of the Michigan Housing Development Authority and also on the Governor's Task Force for "Operation Breakthrough." Richard R. Dodg, housing specialist, presided at the session held in conjunction with John Gannon and the Escanaba Housing Authority.

Information was presented by Robert C. McClean, executive director of the Michigan Housing Authority, who discussed the Authority's role as it pertains to Northern Michigan; and by Jack Mogk, director of Governor Milliken's Task Force for "Operation Breakthrough."

Others on the session program included John Back of the office of Housing and Urban Development, Chicago; and Robert Nolt, of the Grand Rapids office of HUD.

Gannon said there was intense interest on the part of those attending and that many questions were asked to bring additional information to the region on a subject of vital importance to public housing.

Bathtub Sailor Calls It Quits

LUDINGTON (AP)—Vic Jackson, who crossed Lake Michigan in a bathtub, says "I'll never do that again."

The East Lansing man made it across the lake Sunday in a cast iron tub mounted on two yellow pontoons and powered by a 20-horsepower outboard motor.

Jackson 30 said he plans to keep the craft for pleasure boating and research on small craft navigation.

This is not the first time that Jackson has said he was through with boating by tub. He called off an effort to cross Lake Michigan July 5 because of high waves and said he would not attempt the crossing again.

Briefly Told

There will be an immunization clinic Friday from 2 to 4 p. m. at the Delta County Building.

State Police issued citations Wednesday to Arnold Stapleton, Iron River, no license plates and defective brakes; Mary L. Derovin, Chemical Plant Location, Gladstone, allowing a minor to drive a motor vehicle; and Charles Wanic, Rte. 2, Bark River, violation of the basic speed law.

Tunnel Cave-In Kills Two Boys

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Two boys were killed Wednesday when a tunnel collapsed, burying them in the sand of a gravel pit, but two brothers of one of the victims were saved after the sand trapped them.

Kent County sheriff's deputies said the victims were Tim Robidoux, 12, of Ada and his cousin, 6 - year - old Shawn Thomet of Grand Rapids.

Two other Thomet brothers, Rick, 12, and Randy, 8, were rescued.

Deputies said the cave-in occurred while the boys were tunneling into the side of the gravel pit. The cave-in was discovered when Scott Thomet, 11, returned from lunch.

Gail Cobb, a neighbor, said he was driving a gravel truck when he spotted the collapsed tunnel and saw the heads of the two boys who survived sticking above the sand. Cobb dug the boys out.

Copper Range Head Talks To Tech Graduates

HOUGHTON (AP) — Summer commencement exercises Friday at Michigan Technological University will feature an address by James K. Richardson, vice president of the Copper Range Co., of New York.

Along with the awarding of 139 degrees, honors will be given to two Michigan Tech alumni — James B. Stone, vice president for corporate engineering with General Foods Corp., and John Towers, Jr., vice president of American Metal Climax, Inc.

The university's Distinguished Service Award will be presented to E.J. Townsend, retired financier and businessman. Honary doctor of engineering degrees will be awarded to Richardson and Maj. Gen. William C. Gribble, Jr., who will deliver an address at the dedication of MTU's Science and Engineering building.

Youths Sent To Marquette

Two Escanaba criminals were sentenced to the Marquette State Prison by Circuit Court Judge Bernard H. Davidson Wednesday in Delta County Circuit Court.

Larry Daniel Buckley, 18, 310 N. 16th, Escanaba, was sentenced to Marquette for from one to two years for conviction of car theft. Buckley had been placed on probation for a similar offense on June 9 of this year, and was also in violation of probation when convicted.

Sentenced to Marquette along with Buckley was William Spaulding, 21, 318 1st Ave. S., Escanaba. Spaulding was convisted of breaking and entering—third offense, and was a parolee when he committed the crime. He was sentenced to from two to ten years.

Probationers

Michael Moen, 26, of Ft. Worth, Texas, was given two years probation on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. Moen was convicted following his arrest by Escanaba Police during a tavern brawl.

Three 17 - year - old Delta County youths were given one-year delayed sentences following their conviction on charges of breaking and entering. Richard Bingham, Donald Farenbach and Paul Lippens were previously arrested by the Delta County Sheriff's Department for breaking into the Pine Forest Lodge near Ford River.

Stephen C. Larson, 17, Old State Rd., Escanaba, was placed on two years probation for his part in the breaking and entering of a Phillips 66 gas station.

Allan Schwietzer, Menominee, who was convicted on a charge of acosting and soliciting a minor child, was placed on probation for a period of two years on the stipulation that he seek pychiatric help.

Action Board Meeting Called

Chrysler Shows Off 1970 Models

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Chrysler-Plymouth took the wraps off its 1970 models today and revealed its answer to the Ford Maverick—the compact Plymouth Valiant Duster.

Plymouth is available in 46 models, from the popular Fury through a redesigned Barracuda, to the brand-new Duster, which company officials feel might be the surprise car of 1970.

There will be 15 Chrysler models to choose from, featuring a quieter ride and modern styling, the company says.

The 65 different Chrysler-Plymouth-Imperial models will be introduced to the public next month, along with their prices. The auto firm is nearing the end of a four-day special preview, first ever in the Southwest.

Board chairman Lynn Townsend said Wednesday the prices would probably not be announced until after General Motors reveals its prices next month.

Duster is Chrysler Corp.'s answer to the Ford Maverick. The compact will be available in two models, one a true compact and the other a high-performance version. The price will rise with the horsepower.

A mainstay in the Plymouth stable, the Fury, will come in a freshly styled and realigned series, along with an improved intermediate line inspired by the Roadrunner.

Chrysler's luxurious Imperial will offer four models in the prestige car field.

Among the Chrysler-Plymouth standard features for 1970 are an ignition-steering lock system to deter theft and a Cleaner Air System meeting federal regulations for control on exhaust-emission.

Within the Plymouth line are 16 models, including Belvedere, Satellite, Sport Satellite, Road Runner and GTX. The intermediates will sport eight engines, ranging from a 225 cubic inch six to the special 44-inch, six-barrel number.

Barracuda wears a new look from front to rear, ground to top. The line comes in a hardtop or convertible.

Chrysler 1970 is available in 15 models in five series—Newport, Newport custom, 300, New Yorker and Town & Country.

All models balance on a two-inch wider track, with new grills and a loop rear bumper.

Leaders Invited To 'Invest-Tours' Meeting Oct. 10

Invitations have been mailed to more than 300 leaders of industrial and business elements and community agencies of the Upper Peninsula to attend a Friday, Oct. 10, Marquette session of "Invest-Tours."

The meeting is part of an Operation Action and Upper Michigan Tourist Association-sponsored program to bring interested investors to the area. The committee in charge is hopeful that at least 200 persons will be present for the event.

The "Invest-Tours" three-day program starts Thursday, October 9, with a general presentation at the Holiday Inn in Marquette. Participants will be flown to four regional areas within the Peninsula on Friday and will converge back on Marquette Friday evening, when there will be an exchange of impressions between the groups. There will also be a factual presentation of feasibility studies of the area. A wide range of resource people will be available for conference. The sponsors of the tour hope visitors can meet a representative group fo Upper Peninsula leaders.

The conference closes with a breakfast Saturday morning, Oct. 11, for members of the investor group and such people as they may want to meet with for conference, or interview purposes.

While detailed plans are not now available, general outlines have been determined. "Because of a high degree of cooperation from all sources," Planning Committee Chairman W. H. Treloar of Marquette, says, "a successful project is assured with investors coming from a five-state area."

Nuclear Plant Hit By Strike

BRIDGMAN (AP) — A walkout by union members has halted construction at the $300 million Donald C. Cook Nuclear Power Plant near here for the second time in just over one week.

Members of Local 819, Laborers International Union of North America, walked off the job Wednesday after a dispute with the general contractor, J.A. Jones Construction Co. of Detroit. The union contended it left work because two of its members were fired.

Robert Lawson, resident engineer for the Indiana - Michigan Electric Ck. project, said some workers were reporting for work today although picket lines are still up.

Lawson said discussions about possible settlement of the walkout are continuing.

Members of Local 324, Operating Engineers, walked off the job Aug. 19 in another dispute with the contractor. That walkout was settled after a two - day interruption of construction.

Big Bay Hearing Is Rescheduled

The fact-finding hearing between the Big Bay de Noc Board of Education and the Big Bay de Noc Education Association scheduled for Friday at 10 a. m., has been rescheduled for 10 a. m., Labor Day, according to Carl VanReMortel, president of the school board.

Hearings officer James T. Dunn will preside. The public is invited.

Menominee Tax Hike Approved

MENOMINEE — The Menominee Public Schools will have a balanced budget for fiscal year 1969-70.

Voters of the district Tuesday approved 2.94 mills for school operation by a narrow margin of 1,772 to 1,705.

The millage will provide about $116,500 in revenue to the district to balance the record budget of $1,921,571 adopted by the Board of Education. It was the fourth attempt to obtain additional operating revenue through a millage increase.

Park Says U.S. Arms Are Vital

SEOUL (AP) — President Chung Hee Park declared today that U.S. forces will have to remain in South Korea until the threat from all Communists in North Asia is eliminated.

He referred to the Soviet Union as well as Communist China and North Korea.

Park's interview with The Associated Press was his first interview since his talks with President Nixon in San Francisco last week.

Asked when U.S. forces could be reduced or withdrawn, Park said he and Nixon had discussed the subject, and both recognized the threat from the North Koreans.

"The reason they are not executing their invasion plans," the president said, "is because the U.S. forces are in Korea. A withdrawal of U.S. forces is not foreseeable until the threat has been eliminated. And until then, the continued presence of U.S. forces will be required."

Park said South Korea probably would achieve economic self-sufficiency by the end of the third economic plan in 1976.

"Militarily, however," he said, "we are inferior in some aspects to North Korea. We have to improve our weapons and make them strong enough to deter the North Koreans. When that can be achieved is difficult to predict."

Park added that even if South Korea could withstand an offensive from North Korea, the U.S. presence would have to continue in the face of threats from the Soviet Union and Communist China.

Concerning Japan's campaign to regain Okinawa and his own opposition to closing of the U.S. bases there, Park said he had taken pains to make clear he does not wish to interfere in the territorial and administrative functions of Okinawa, that these have to be worked out between Japan and the United States.

Told the U.S. people were puzzled by North Korea's seizure of the Pueblo and its downing of a U.S. reconnaissance plane over international waters, Park said he was equally puzzled. His guess, he said, was that the North Koreans were testing the degree of U.S. determination to defend South Korea and attempting to split the United States and South Korea.

Milliken Trains To Hike Bridge

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken walked to work this morning—very fast.

Some followers said he was running.

The governor left several in his administration wet with sweat after a 2.6-mile hike from his residence to the state capitol in some 36 minutes.

"An economy move—don't have to pay for gas for the car," quipped State Budget Director Glenn S. Allen Jr.

"If he's feeling ambitious this morning, he can come help us," offered construction workers outside the capitol.

Neither economy nor sheer ambition prompted Milliken's sprint.

The Governor's getting in shape for the traditional walk across the 4.5-mile Mackinac Bridge Monday.

When his party arrived at the capitol, one Milliken aide's shirt was soaked through with sweat —looked like he just stepped out of the shower — and one of several newsmen following the governor lost the heel of a shoe.

Milliken looked almost fresh, wiping small beads of perspiration from his brow as he climbed the two flights of steps to his office.

He's made it across the Logan Street Bridge—about four blocks long—in 2:2: minutes.

Tricia Released From Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tricia Nixon, smiling but moving slowly, left Walter Reed Army Hospital this morning, two days after she entered with abdominal pains.

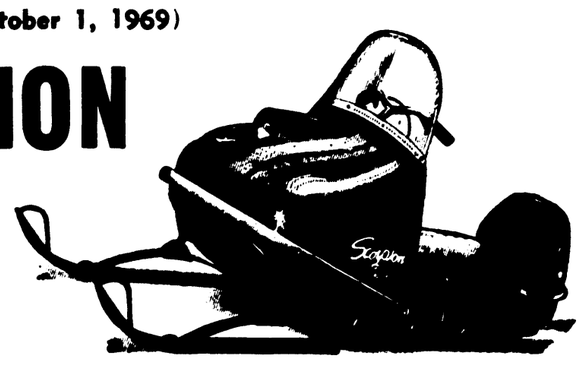

She waved to waiting photographers as she walked down the steps to a White House limousine, accompanied by Brig. Gen. Carl W. Hughes, commandant of the hospital. Also on hand was her Secret Service escort.

The latest report before she left the hospital was that doctors still hadn't pinpointed the cause of her difficulty, but that President Nixon's elder daughter was free of pain.

Park added that even if South Korea could withstand an offensive from North Korea, the U.S. presence would have to continue in the face of threats from the Soviet Union and Communist China.

Concerning Japan's campaign to regain Okinawa and his own opposition to closing of the U.S. bases there, Park said he had taken pains to make clear he does not wish to interfere in the territorial and administrative functions of Okinawa, that these have to be worked out between Japan and the United States.

Told the U.S. people were puzzled by North Korea's seizure of the Pueblo and its downing of a U.S. reconnaissance plane over international waters, Park said he was equally puzzled. His guess, he said, was that the North Koreans were testing the degree of U.S. determination to defend South Korea and attempting to split the United States and South Korea.

Milliken Trains To Hike Bridge

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken walked to work this morning—very fast.

Some followers said he was running.

The governor left several in his administration wet with sweat after a 2.6-mile hike from his residence to the state capitol in some 36 minutes.

"An economy move—don't have to pay for gas for the car," quipped State Budget Director Glenn S. Allen Jr.

"If he's feeling ambitious this morning, he can come help us," offered construction workers outside the capitol.

Neither economy nor sheer ambition prompted Milliken's sprint.

The Governor's getting in shape for the traditional walk across the 4.5-mile Mackinac Bridge Monday.

When his party arrived at the capitol, one Milliken aide's shirt was soaked through with sweat —looked like he just stepped out of the shower — and one of several newsmen following the governor lost the heel of a shoe.

Milliken looked almost fresh, wiping small beads of perspiration from his brow as he climbed the two flights of steps to his office.

He's made it across the Logan Street Bridge—about four blocks long—in 2:2; minutes.

Tricia Released From Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tricia Nixon, smiling but moving slowly, left Walter Reed Army Hospital this morning, two days after she entered with abdominal pains.

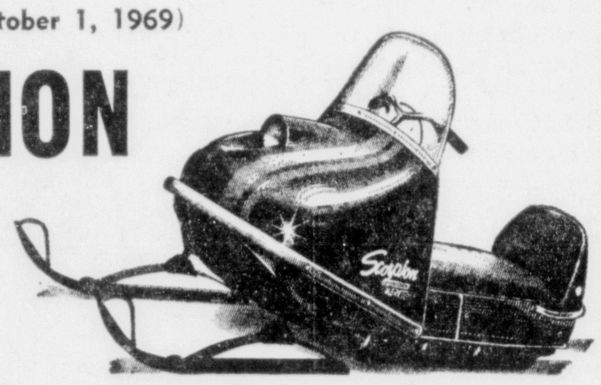

She waved to waiting photographers as she walked down the steps to a White House limousine, accompanied by Brig. Gen. Carl W. Hughes, commandant of the hospital. Also on hand was her Secret Service escort.

The latest report before she left the hospital was that doctors still hadn't pinpointed the cause of her difficulty, but that President Nixon's elder daughter was free of pain.

REWARD

The dog that bit the 10 year old boy last Thursday morning around 11:00 o'clock has not been found as yet. The dog was seen with two boys across the street from the Southside Super Market.

After he bit the boy in front of the store he went down 15th Street South with two boys on bicycles to whom he may have belonged.

Mothers . . . will you please ask your boys if they know anything about this incident. All we want is to determine if the dog had the proper shots. For information that leads to finding this dog, I will give a proper reward and my deepest appreciation.

Govt. Cut Delays Pollution Controls

DETROIT (AP) — Blaming cutbacks in federal grants, the head of the Detroit Metropolitan Water Services said Wednesday the massive water pollution control program for the Detroit area may be delayed two years or longer.

Gerald J. Remus told the State Water Resources Commission that when he set target dates in 1966 for completion of the pollution control program, he anticipated receiving federal and state grants totaling 80 per cent of the estimated $230 million - plus cost.

He said the currently available federal - state funds total only 55 per cent — with 50 per cent provided by the state as part of last November's $335 million bond issue to curb water pollution.

The Detroit Metropolitan Water Services treats sewage for 55 area communities.

Remus estimated he will need another $80 million by mid-1970 to supplement the finances raised by the city.

He said the extra money needed might mean boosting sewage rates for Detroiters and the surrounding 54 other communities.

Remus noted that in 1966 Congress authorized $1 billion to be spent in the 1969 fiscal year to clean up the nation's waterways. But, he said, the cost of the Vietnam war and other domestic demands are expected to cut back federal pollution control money to $214 million — of which Michigan is to get $8 million.

John E. Vogt, chairman of the State Water Resources Commission, has said that progress is being made despite shortages of funds.

"Work will progress at a slower pace, but every time one phase is completed the quality of the water being discharged into the Detroit River will improve," Vogt said.

"You should be able to see measurable improvements in lake Erie before the compliance dates," he added.

New deadlines for the Detroit metropolitan system are expected to be set at either the September or October meetings of the commission.

Governor Urges Teachers To Open School On Time

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken recently urged teachers to "in any case, open those schools" next week, whether or not contract agreement had been reached with local boards of education.

"If settlement is not reached, I urge them to open anyway," the governor told a morning news conference.

Milliken added that he believed late passage of the 1969-70 state school aid act was "a major factor" causing late negotiations. The 1968-69 school aid act was signed into law some two months earlier than this year.

Cycle Helmets Back To Heads

LANSING (AP) — Motorcyclists must move their helmets from handlebars to heads Monday or risk running into a $100 fine and 90-day jail sentence.

Col. Fredrick Davids, Michigan State Police director, issued a reminder Wednesday that a new state law requiring helmets worn "on the head" takes effect Sept. 1.

Some law enforcement officers predict the law will cause some confusion—but they contend it will be enforced.

Ingham County Prosecutor Raymond L. Scodeller suggested the possible confusion because the law—first passed in 1967—was ruled unconstitutional by the Michigan Court of Appeals.

The Legislature then passed a measure requiring the headgear carried on cycles.

"The idea of the second law was to encourage people to wear the headgear," said Rep. Loren Anderson, R- Pontiac, sponsor of the helmet-on-the - head bill.

"We felt that by forcing motorcyclists to have the headgear on the bike, we would encourage them to wear the protective coverings," he added.

That move failed, Anderson maintained, noting that in 1967, the first year the law requiring helmets to be worn was in effect, there were 84 motorcycle fatalities in Michigan.

The next year, when helmets had only to be carried, there were 124 cycles fatalities. The total in 1966, before the helmet legislation, was 122.

Anderson said 1967 was "the only motorcycle season in which the number of fatalities was significantly different. Since that was the year we required motorcyclists to wear the headgear, it's safe to say the law was a significant factor."

Anderson decided to try helmet - on - the - head legislation again this year after discovering that several courts in other states had upheld the constitutionality of similar measures. Such precedents could point to possible reversal by Michigan courts if the measure is tested, he said.

The new law spells out that helmets should be worn "on the head."

"That's so people can't wear the headgear on their knees or elbow and circumvent the law."

Garden Peninsula

Construction Bids

Architects for the new Big Bay De Noc School to be built at Garden Corners let out construction bids Monday, Aug. 25. Bond bids will be opened Wednesday Sept. 17 at 8 p. m. at the Catherine Bonifas Elementary School in Garden. If the bonds are sold, construction on the new school should begin in October.

Briefs

Carol Van Remortal who attended Michigan State University and Northern Michigan University this summer has returned to East Lansing where she will again teach the second grade in the Corruna Elementary School in Corruna.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Tobin and daughter Kristine of Lansing visited for a week with his mother, Mrs. Margie Tobin in Garden.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Frieberg, Jack LaSalle and Joey Herro of Garden and Miss Jeanne Weinert of Manistique spent the weekend in DePere, Wis., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Walch and attended the Walch, Servais wedding in Green Bay, Saturday, Aug. 23.

Wayne VanRemortal and family who spent the summer in their trailer home in Fayette have returned to their home in Pontiac where Wayne is a counselor in Seaholm High School in Birmingham. His wife Mary Jane also teaches in a Catholic Elementary School.

Mr. and Mrs. Meddie LeBresh, son Wilfred (Butch) and his fiancee, Mary Ann St. Dennis have returned to their homes in Pontiac and Rochester after spending a week at their home at Garden Corners and visiting relatives in the area and with Mrs. LeBresh's mother who is a patient in Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital.

FLYING TEETH

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Frank F. Goetzmann's new teeth gave him a pain in the wallet.

He was cruising a city expressway when he sneezed, and both plates sailed out the window.

With traffic zipping along at 50 miles an hour he couldn't stop, nor could he find the teeth later when he retraced his route.

The only thing was to order another set from the dentist.

"Now I drive with the windows closed," Goetzmann said.

MANISTIQUE

New Vocational Courses Offered In Area School

Several new educational programs will be available to students in the Manistique Area Schools this fall. In addition, new equipment will be available to enhance the learning processes of the students.

A new vocational education program at Bay de Noc Community College in Escanaba will involve at least 36 high schoolers who will attend three-hour classes from 9 a. m., to noon on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

The students will be able to enroll in electricity, welding or machine operation courses which are much advanced from any vocational courses now offered at the local school. The machine operations course involves instruction on lathes, punches, drills and other equipment not available locally while the welding course utilizes machines used by Harnischfeger Corporation at their Escanaba plant.

Eat On Bus

The students will be transported to Escanaba on the new 72-passenger "audio bus" equipped with special tape recording equipment on a variety of subjects. They will carry lunches and eat on the bus while returning to Manistique. The exact starting date of the program is still uncertain.

High school students will be able to obtain business experience through part-time jobs in the community under a cooperative vocational training program to be administered by Miss Helen Jean Voisine. The program, concentrating on retailing, distributive and office positions, is partially paid by state monies. Miss Voisine, who formerly taught at Wayne State University, is certified as a vocational coordinator by the State Department of Education.

Three special education classes for students with learning difficulties will be offered — with two at the Fairview School and one at the Central School— with qualified special education instructors.

Mrs. Ruth England will work with students in the lower elementary grades; Harold Miller will instruct 4th, 5th and 6th grade students; and Peter Derber will help junior high and 9th grade students in a special classroom at Central. Mrs. England and Miller will teach at the Fairview School.

Cut Grade Lines

In preparation for the new special education classes, a diagnostician from the Intermediate School District has been interviewing youngsters with possible learning difficulties this summer. The program will be financed through state and Delta - Schoolcraft Intermediate School District cooperation.

Lakeside School students will be receiving instruction in group teaching situations part of the day as the first step toward ungraded classrooms in the new school.

Youngsters will be grouped according to ability to allow them to progress at their own level of accomplishment. Students will also be grouped for departmental instruction in science, language and social studies. The design of the new school — with an "open space" concept — will allow the students to easily divide and reassemble throughout the day.

Summer driver education students have been receiving instruction in the new Link Simulator — a $42,500 mobile trailer — classroom purchased for use in the 13-district Upper Peninsula Highway Safety Training project which the Manistique Area Schools are coordinating. The simulator will also be utilized by students enrolled in fall and winter driver education classes as it is available. Students sit in individual "driver seats" in the simulator and their reactions to driving situations are tested as a film depicting driving conditions is shown on a screen.

New report cards for elementary students in the Area Schools will also be introduced this year. The school year will begin next Wednesday, Sept. 3.

W. H. Wachter Dies Tuesday

William H. Wachter, 92, died Tuesday, Aug. 26, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Clifford Miller, 102 E. Bayshore St., Marinette, Wis. He had made his home with his daughter for the past 24 years.

Mr. Wachter, who was a commercial fisherman, was born Feb. 19, 1877 in Eagletown, Mich. He spent the greater part of his life on Garden Island and in Naubinway. He retired in 1945.

He married the former Lida Vincent on Garden Island and she died in 1945. He was a member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Marinette.

Survivors include two sons, William and Isadore, both of Marquette; six daughter, Mrs. James Browning, Manistique; Mrs. Miller, Marinette; Mrs. Lloyd Leveille, Salem, Mich.; Mrs. Clarence Maudrie, Mrs. David Houghton and Mrs. Greg King, all of Naubinway. Paper Mill, City Study Pollution

City and Manistique Pulp and Paper Co., officials met Tuesday with representatives of federal and state agencies to explore the possibility of mutual cooperation in securing federal assistance for construction of a secondary sewage treatment plant in Manistique.

Meeting with the local officials were George Rusch, executive chairman of the Central Upper Peninsula Economic Development District (CUPEDD), and Robert Rehberg, Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission.

The possibility of involving the Indian Lake area in a project application was also discussed since local health officials state that Indian Lake is contributing to the pollution of Indian River, the source of the city's water supply.

The meeting Tuesday followed the appearance of both the City and the Paper Mill before a hearing conducted by the Michigan Water Resources Commision in Escanaba on Aug. 20 to answer charges of contributing to the pollution of Lake Michigan.

Representatives of the Manistique Pulp and Paper Co., and the City of Manistique feel that mutual cooperation between the city, the mill and county areas involved — in attempting to meet the requirements of the Water Resources Commission— is the only practical solution from a cost and operational standpoint.

FLYING TEETH

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)— Frank F. Goetzmann's new teeth gave him a pain in the wallet.

He was cruising a city expressway when he sneezed, and both plates sailed out the window.

With traffic zipping along at 50 miles an hour he couldn't stop, nor could he find the teeth later when he retraced his route.

The only thing was to order another set from the dentist.

"Now I drive with the windows closed," Goetzmann said.

MANISTIQUE

New Vocational Courses Offered In Area School

Several new educational programs will be available to students in the Manistique Area Schools this fall. In addition, new equipment will be available to enhance the learning processes of the students.

A new vocational education program at Bay de Noc Community College in Escanaba will involve at least 36 high schoolers who will attend three-hour classes from 9 a. m., to noon on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

The students will be able to enroll in electricity, welding or machine operation courses which are much advanced from any vocational courses now offered at the local school. The machine operations course involves instruction on lathes, punches, drills and other equipment not available locally while the welding course utilizes machines used by Harnischfeger Corporation at their Escanaba plant.

Eat On Bus

The students will be transported to Escanaba on the new 72-passenger "audio bus" equipped with special tape recording equipment on a variety of subjects. They will carry lunches and eat on the bus while returning to Manistique. The exact starting date of the program is still uncertain.

High school students will be able to obtain business experience through part-time jobs in the community under a cooperative vocational training program to be administered by Miss Helen Jean Voisine. The program, concentrating on retailing, distributive and office positions, is partially paid by state monies. Miss Voisine, who formerly taught at Wayne State University, is certified as a vocational coordinator by the State Department of Education.

Three special education classes for students with learning difficulties will be offered — with two at the Fairview School and one at the Central School— with qualified special education instructors.

Mrs. Ruth England will work with students in the lower elementary grades; Harold Miller will instruct 4th, 5th and 6th grade students; and Peter Derber will help junior high and 9th grade students in a special classroom at Central. Mrs. England and Miller will teach at the Fairview School.

Cut Grade Lines

In preparation for the new special education classes, a diagnostician from the Intermediate School District has been interviewing youngsters with possible learning difficulties this summer. The program will be financed through state and Delta - Schoolcraft Intermediate School District cooperation.

Lakeside School students will be receiving instruction in group teaching situations part of the day as the first step toward ungraded classrooms in the new school.

Youngsters will be grouped according to ability to allow them to progress at their own level of accomplishment. Students will also be grouped for departmental instruction in science, language and social studies. The design of the new school — with an "open space" concept — will allow the students to easily divide and reassemble throughout the day.

Summer driver education students have been receiving instruction in the new Link Simulator — a $42,500 mobile trailer — classroom purchased for use in the 13-district Upper Peninsula Highway Safety Training project which the Manistique Area Schools are coordinating. The simulator will also be utilized by students enrolled in fall and winter driver education classes as it is available. Students sit in individual "driver seats" in the simulator and their reactions to driving situations are tested as a film depicting driving conditions is shown on a screen.

New report cards for elementary students in the Area Schools will also be introduced this year. The school year will begin next Wednesday, Sept. 3.

Attention bear hunters!

Have you taken your trusty old gun out of storage and cleaned it up? Have you sharpened up your shooting eye with a few practice rounds? If not, then you've got less than two weeks before opening day in which to prepare yourself.

According to Joe Vogt, local game biologist for the Department of Natural Resources (DNR), prospects for another good early bear season are excellent. The special season opens on Wednesday, Sept. 15. "We've had numerous bear reports this year, and by all the information we can gather it looks like it's going to be another good season for bear," said Vogt.

Joe told me that U. P. Bears are found wherever there are thornapple or beechnut trees and in areas where there are a lot of berry plants. Wild areas near swamps are also fine bear hunting grounds, he added.

"You don't have to go far from the Escanaba-Gladstone area to get to good bear country," Vogt said. "In fact, we have some excellent bear country in the Whitefish River Valley and also on the Stonington Peninsula, he said.

A favorite technique used by successful U. P. bear hunters is the use of dogs. First of all, the hunters drive down a woods road until they see a fresh bear track or any other spot where they think a bear may have crossed.

When these hunters have found a likely spot they let their pack of dogs pick up the scent. Then the hounds are released, and the hunt begins.

Once a bear is treed the first hunter to the tree, or sometimes a pre-elected hunt leader, gets an easy crack at the kill.

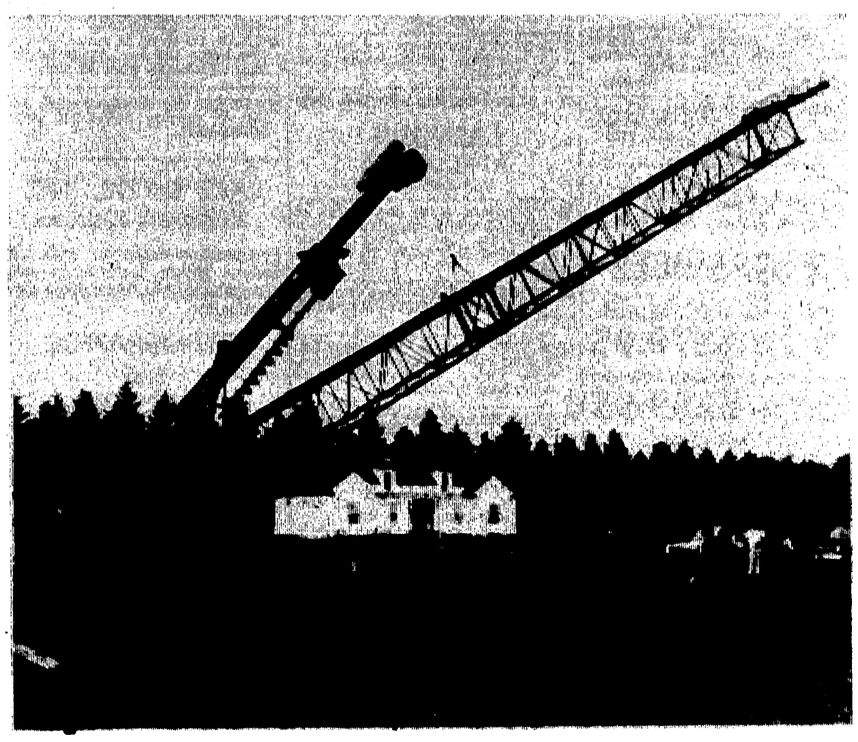

"These organized hunts are probably the best method for taking bear," Vogt stated. Although he did say that DNR bear hunter surveys show that hunters that use dogs out-kill their "no-dog" counterparts by only two per cent margin.

According to the DNR, 660 bears were killed during the U. P.'s early bear season in 1968. This, added to the 180 bear that were killed incidental to deer season, brought the total of bear killed in the U. P. to 840.

Another good reason to bear hunt during the special early season is because it's sometimes the only season when you can get a shot at a bear. The reason for this is that bear often hibernate before deer season arrives — which makes your chances of getting a bear during deer season very unlikely.

During the special season bear may be taken either with a gun or bow and arrow under the $5.10 resident bear hunting license. All bear hunters are asked to study the firearms regulations carefully before going afield. Hunters are warned to refrain from shooting cubs.

It's not a bad price, $5.10 plus a small taxidermy fee, for a beautiful bearskin rug. Good lock and straight shooting. I hope you're wishing me the same. You see I'm after my first bear too!

Oiler-Cowboy Clash Gets 13 Pro Contests Started

By The Associated Press

The Houston Oilers, sporting the best squad in years, hope to snap the Dallas Cowboys' hold on the texas Pro Championship tonight in a sell-out game at the Astrodome which kicks off a 13-game holiday weekend program.

Coach Wally Lemm warned his Oilers to watch for quick outside and up the middle plays when he learned that the Dallas starting backfield will include Craig Baynham and Les Shy.

The Oilers also will have an eye on Cowboy quarterback Craig Morton, who stepped in for retired Don Meredith to direct the multiple formation Dallas attack. It was Morton who came off the bench late in the game the last two years to clinch 30-17 and 33-19 thrillers for the Cowboys.

Identical Teams

Both teams have identical 2-1 preseason records and almost identical rushing records. Dallas has averaged 120 yards on the ground while allowing 86 yards on defense. Houston has averaged 126 yards to its opponents' 86 yards.

Morton has a slight edge over Pete Beathard, the Oilers' rapidly maturing quarterback. In three games, Beathard has completed 35 of 71 passes for 534 yards and four touchdowns while Morton has hit on 39 of 77 for 561 yards and three touchdowns.

Another grudge game is on tap Friday night when the Kansas City Chiefs, unbeaten in four exhibitions and the hottest team in the American Football League meet the Cardinals at St. Louis for the Governors' Cup. The Chiefs won the inaugural game last year 13-10 and are favored to repeat.

Big Night

Kansas City got a 418-yard, four-touchdown performance from quarterback Len Dawson while beating the Los Angeles Rams 42-14 last weekend. Cardinals' quarterback Charlie Johnson managed 15 for 32, 162 yards and one touchdown in the loss to Minnesota, the Cards' first defeat after two victories.

In Saturday's games, the New York Giants (0-2) meet the Philadelphia Eagles (1-1) at Princeton, N.J.; Los Angeles (1-2) is at San Diego (2-1-1); Chicago (2-2) faces Buffalo (1-3) and Green Bay (1-2) takes on Cleveland (2-0-1) in a doubleheader at Cleveland; Miami (0-4) hosts Baltimore (4-0); New Orleans (1-2) entertains Atlanta (2-1), and Cincinnati (1-2) travels to Pittsburgh (1-1).

In Sunday games, San Francisco (0-3) is at Oakland (1-3), Minnesota (3-0) faces the Jets (2-2) in New York, and Boston (1-2) entertains Denver (1-2).

Keyes Signs

Eagles' General Manager Pete Ratzlaff indicated running back Leroy Keyes, the last of the big name holdouts who signed Wednesday, might see some action against the Giants.

Keyes, All-America from Purdue, said he hoped he'd be able to justify his salary, reported in the vicinity of $200,000.

"I feel 82 per cent in condition now," said Keyes, who started working out at Purdue six weeks ago.

Both teams will unleash their best running backs. Tucker Frederickson will make his first start for the Giants and Philadelphia expects their ground game to improve with the return of Tom Woodeshick, who missed the early pre season games because of a knee strain.

Veteran Gone

The Rams will be minus veteran cornerback Clancy Williams, who was indefinitely suspended by Coach George Allen Wednesday.

Allen threatened to trade Williams because of his "indifferent attitude."

Williams, the Rams' No. 1 draft choice from Washington State in 1965, was not immediately available for comment. He has been bothered by a bruised right arm suffered three weeks ago in the preseason opener against Dallas.

The appearance of Buffalo's O. J. Simpson and Chicago's Gayle Sayers on the same field has helped lure a sell-out crowd for the doubleheader at Cleveland. Simpson played about half the game in last weekend's 20-7 losing encounter with Baltimore. The most publicized rookie in pro football history carried five times for 25 yards and returned a kickoff for 23 yards.

Sayers, in the Bears' 19-17 loss to Houston, was contained in rushing, managing only 34 yards in 11 carries, but he returned a kickoff 97 yards for a touchdown.

Kilkenny Stops A's As Tigers Win, 2-0

DETROIT (AP) — Mike Kilkenny, the Canadian southpaw who got interested in baseball through bubble gum cards, gummed up Oakland's hitting machine Wednesday night by pitching the Detroit Tigers to a masterful 2-0, three - hit victory.

The 24-year-old rookie from Bradford, Ont., relied on his curve ball and recently developed "sneaky fast ball" to hold the Athletics to three singles. He struck out six in gaining his first major league shutout, evening his record at 4-4.

"I thought it was pretty exciting looking at those pitchers on the baseball cards," Kilkenny smiled.

The lanky, dark - haired pitcher peeled off his sweaty uniform in the Tiger dressing room and spoke of his background:

"Where I come from all they play is hockey," he said. "In my town nobody wanted to go down to the ballfield because it was a disaster area, and there was nobody around to teach the game anyway."

"When the guys got to be 15 they would find a girl, start sitting in the back rows at the movies—and three days later it seemed like they were almost married.

"So I used to get a ride about 45 miles to Toronto to play sandlot ball there. There was a rule in the league that you had to be 21. I was only 15, but if you had a red - haired grandmother who was in a wheelchair or something you could play. In other words, there were a lot of exceptions to the rules. We played 18 games and I pitched all of them."

Kilkenny was given his first major league start July 31 because Tiger Manager Mayo Smith was in dire need of a fourth starter.

He lost his first two games to the American League East Division's front runner Minnesota and thought he blew his chance of starting again.

"But when Mayo put me back in I decided I had to do something in return," Kilkenny said. "I'm a lot more confident now."

The Tigers tagged Jim "Catfish" Hunter, now 9-12, for four runs in the third and fourth innings. The first scored on a walk to Bill Freehan, a ground out by Don Wert and a single by Mickey Stanley, who drove in six runs in Tuesday's doubleheader. Then in the next inning, Willie Horton walked, stole second, and reached third when A's catcher Phil Roof threw into center field for an error. Tom Matchick slashed a single to right scoring Horton.

The only hits Kilkenny allowed were singles to Bert Campaneris in the third and Horton in the fifth, plus a bunt single by Jose Tartabull in the eighth.

"I think my curve ball was my best pitch tonight," Kilkenny said. "My fast ball has improved 200 per cent in the last two years, but I got my strikeouts with curves. My fast ball used to hang but now it's what I'd call a sneaky fast ball."

Florida Golfer Leads Tourney

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Concentration is the name of the game over the tough Oakmont Country Club course in the 69th annual U.S. Amateur Golf Championship.

Steve Melnyk, 235-pound belter from the University of Florida who led the way into today's second round with a two stroke advantage, and his two closest pursuers, Marvin "Vinnie" Giles and Rick Jones, agreed on the winning formula.

"You've got to concentrate 18 holes and you don't have a give away-hole on the course," said Melnyk, who shot the only subpar round Wednesday—36-34—70.

"I think this is one of the finest tests of golf there is, though it's the kind of course you can never let up on," commented Giles.

"You go to sleep one hole on this course and you're dead," said Jones. "You can shoot an 85."

The three leaders had to know what they were talking about, since in a field of 150 of the world's top amateurs, 74 scored 90 or above on a par 36-35—71 course. Only one broke par and none equaled it.

Millie's Lillies Wins Ladies' Title At Country Club

Millie's Lillies captured the Escanaba Country Club's Ladies' League championship last night, beating the runnerup Fearless Leaders by 2½ points for the title.

Rita Sauers paced all golfers in league play with a 43 while Milly Boyce, Doris Kivela, Marie Wicklander and Ruth Needham had 47's, Gloria Hansley and Marilyn Knoll had 48's, Marge Owens carded a 49 and Shirley Shomin and Virginia Anzalone had 50's.

In the low net day's event Group 1 scorers were Marie Wicklander 37 and Blanche LaCrosse and Milly Boyce 38's; Group 2 Rita Sauers 35 and Nicky Traverse, Marge Owens and Marilyn Knoll 38's and Group 3 Dorothy Olsen 38, Jean McDonough and Ann Harrington 40's and Esther Lorey 41.

Final team standings: Millie's Lillies 58, Fearless Leaders 55½, Ole Yellers 51½, Fitz's Witches 44, Barrons 41, Thirsties 40, Whips 36½ and Lanterns 35½.

Toledo Pennant Hopes Dwindle

By The Associated Press

The sinking Toledo Mud Hens all but saw their hopes of a first-division finish in the International League destroyed Wednesday as they lost to the Syracuse Chiefs 7-5.

It was the Mud Hens' third loss in as many days.

A double by Dave McDonald a single by Marv Staehle, a passed ball and a sacrifice gave Syracuse the runs it needed in the 10th inning. The loss moved the Mud Hens to 10 games back of the new league leaders, the Tidewater Tides.

In other games Wednesday, Tidewater whipped Louisville 9-2, Buffalo swept a doubleheader from Richmond 2-1 and 5-3 and Columbus downed Rochester 8-3.

Dartball

An organizational meeting of the Escanaba Tavern Dartball Association has been called for Tuesday, Sept. 2, at the Bay de Noc Tavern at 8 p. m. The association is trying to expand to ten or twelve teams and there are still a few openings available. Any tavern owner interested in putting a team in the league is asked to have a representative at this meeting.

The greatest horse ever imported to America was the Engilsh stallion Messenger, unloaded at the Philadelphia docks in 1797. Virtually every harness horse racing today traces to Messenger, for whom the great pacing classic at Roosevelt Raceway is named.

Sandbaggers Stay First In League

GLADSTONE — The Sandbaggers remained in first place in the standings of the Gladstone Golf Club's men's league last night by scoring a total of 131 points.

Playing on the team were John Gilbert and Bob Richards, who had the low net scores of the night with a 30 and 31 respectively, Jim Bratonia net 35 and Wayne Cassell net 35.

Pete Peterson shot the low gross score with a 36 while Jim Sundalius carded a 38. Other low scorers were J. C. Miller, John Gilbert, Dean Roddy and Norm Butler with 39's.

Team standings: Sandbaggers 701, Playboys 721, Clowns 724, Unusuals 730, Youngsters 748, Hackers 750, Professionals 751 and Optimists 787.

Warren Grabs Mallory Lead

MENOMINEE, Mich. (AP)—A judges decision awarding him an additional point for a breakdown Wednesday gave Peter Warren of Marblehead, Mass., a half-point lead in the standings going into today's final round of the North American Yacht Racing Union's Mallory Cup Series.

Warren had 41½ points after completion of seven races in the eight-race series for 5.5-meter boats on Lake Michigan's Green Bay. Dropping back to second place with 41 points was Graham Hall of Bayside, N.Y., Tuesday's leader.

Warren won Wednesday morning's race, in which Hall placed seventh. They switched positions in the afternoon, with Hall winning and Warren finishing seventh.

But Warren's request for breakdown points was allowed by the officials, allowing him to move ahead in the standings. They awarded him one additional point, ruling that a jib halyard winch break shortly after the start of the seventh race prevented him from completing the first weather leg of the course at normal speed.

Yachtsmen receive one point for finishing a race, one point for each crew they defeat, and a quarter point for first place.

Hearing Slated On Grid Drills

LANSING (AP) — Do high school football players need a week of conditioning exercises before scrimmage practice?

The Michigan High School Athletic Association plans a public hearing on the subject Sept. 10 at its Lansing office.

High school teams now are required to practice three weeks before starting games.

The extra conditioning, tentatively approved by the State Board of Education, has been recommended by the Michigan Medical Society, the American Medical Association's committee on medical aspects of sports and groups of high school coaches.

The rule would take effect in 1970.

Other proposed changes in high school athletics would involve track and cross country and allow inter-city competition between junior high school girls' basketball teams.

Wandering Romo Defeats Royals

By The Associated Press

Vicente Romo is missing again—this time from the Boston Red Sox bullpen.

Romo the wandering Mexican reliever who disappeared from the club for 36 hours in Chicago a couple of weeks ago, hasn't been back to the bullpen since.

Manager Dick Williams, who decided Romo didn't make enough money to be fined for his AWOL escapade, has turned him into a starter and with good results. The stocky right-hander pitched his first complete game in the majors Wednesday night, beating Kansas City 4-3.

That gave Romo a 2-1 record as a starter for the Red Sox and 5-9 over-all. He scattered nine hits and got credit for the victory when Syd O'Brien's two-out, bases-loaded single drove in George Scott with the winning run in he bottom of the ninth inning.

In other American League action Wednesday, Detroit blanked Oakland 2-0, Minnesota clipped Washington 4-2, California took Cleveland 4-1 in 10 innings, Baltimore jolted Seattle 7-2 and New York downed Chicago 6-3.

Romo left the Red Sox without an explanation on the club's last trip to Chicago. He turned up 1½ days later safe and sound after the Red Sox had called out just about everyone but the Marines to search for him.

The pitcher's explanation was that he had become ill and stayed at a friend's house. Williams docked Romo one day's pay but did not fine him, explaining, "Vicente can't afford a big fine on the salary he's making."

Jerry Adair's leadoff homer in the ninth tied the game for the Royals against Romo, earlier Pat Kelly had tagged a two-run shot for KC.

But the Red Sox won it for Vicente in the last of the ninth. Scott and Russ Gibson both singled with two out and Dick Schofield, swinging for Romo, walked, loading the bases. Then O'Brien singled Scott home with the deciding run.

Rico Petrocelli had a two-run homer for the Red Sox.

Minnesota rushed four first inning runs across the plate and Jim Perry made them stand up to beat Washington.

Perry pitched a four-hitter and batterymate John Roseboro singled home two of the Twins' first inning runs. Lee Maye homered for the Senators.

Rick Reichardt slammed a bases-loaded triple in the 10th inning, moving California past Cleveland and beating Sam McDowell, 15-11.

Jim Fregosi tied the score with a leadoff homer in the ninth against McDowell, who until then, had outduelled Rudy May. One inning later, Hits by Joe Azcue and Sandy Alomar and a walk to Fregosi loaded the bases for Reichardt, who promptly unloaded them.

Frank Robinson hammered his 29th homer and drove in three runs as the Orioles halted their mini-slide by pounding Seattle. Baltimore had dropped four straight before Mike Cuellar set down the Pilots on four hits. It was Cuellar's 18th victory and 15th complete game.

Mel Stottlemyre won his 17th game for the Yankees with Horace Clarke sparking a pair of rallies that brought New York from behind twice against the White Sox.

Clarke doubled two runs home in the second and singled to start another two-run rally in the fifth.

Koosman, Mets Upend Padres 4-1 To Close In On Division Leader

By The Associated Press

It took the New York Mets seven years to recover from the National League's first expansion, but the second one has turned out to be a big hit for them—and Jerry Koosman.

After taking their lumps from the older teams since they came into the league in 1962, the Mets suddenly have become bullies themselves against one of this season's new kids on the block, the San Diego Padres.

With Koosman, who hurled a two-hitter, once again taking advantage of San Diego hitters and embarrassing pitcher Clay Kirby, the Mets rolled to their 11th straight victory over the expansionist Padres Wednesday night.

The 4-1 triumph crept the charging Mets within two games—and even on the all-important loss side—of the sinking Chicago Cubs, the East Division leaders who were beaten by Cincinnati 6-3 in the afternoon for their fourth consecutive defeat.

Cincinnati's victory matched San Francisco's 8-7, 10 inning afternoon verdict over Philadelphia and kept the Reds within a half game and three percentage points of the first-place Giants in the West Division.

Atlanta, a half game and five points back, also kept pace with a 1-0 victory over Pittsburgh, and Los Angeles remained one game behind with a 7-3 triumph over Montreal. Houston, three games back, beat St. Louis 5-1 in 10 innings in the other game.

Koosman's line single, his first hit in 49 at bats, in the 3rd innning, started a rally that ended in Cleon Jones' two-run double for a 2-1 lead. He beat out a topper in the seventh. His only other hit this year, off Kirby, was a bunt single.

Kirby, taking his 18th loss against three victories, had other troubles in the sixth when Art Shamsky doubled in a run and scored on Ken Boswell's single.

Koosman, 12-8, and 3-0 against San Diego, yielded only a homer to Ollie Brown and a single to Al Ferrara in the first inning. He beat the Padres 4-1 on six hits during an earlier 11-game Mets' winning streak that brought them alive in May and June and won 3-2 on five hits during their current six-game run—and 12 of 13—that has cut 7½ games off Chicago's lead in two weeks.

The Cubs, losing their third in a row against Cincinnati and seventh in nine games, fell before Alex Johnson's two-run double and solo homer and Lee May's two-run homer.

For the third straight day, the Cubs had the tying runs on base in the ninth inning, but this time reliever Clay Carroll got Ron Santo on a liner with two out and the bases loaded to save the victory for Tony Cloninger, 9-14.

Jim Davenport's pinch-hit single with the bases loaded in the 10th gave San Francisco its seventh consecutive victory after Willie McCovey made it 10 RBI in two days with a two-run single and his 41st homer with a man on. Bobby Bonds also had a two-run homer, his third in two days, and singled and scored the winning run.

Phil Niekro, 18-11, hurled a six-hitter and doubled and scored the only run in the sixth inning on Tony Gonzalez' single in besting Dock Ellis, 9-14, for Atlanta's fourth triumph in a row.

Willie Davis drove in three runs with two of his three hits as he extended his hitting streak to 24 games, longest in the majors this season, and helped Bill Singer of the Dodgers to his 16th victory and Montreal to its seventh successive loss.

Doug Rader triggered a four-run 10th inning off Bob Gibson, 16-9, with a tie-breaking double for Houston, raising Tom Griffin's record to 9-6.

Tiger Tales

Canadian Mike Kilkenny, the rookie southpaw who pitched the Detroit Tigers to a 2-0 victory over Oakland Wednesday night, lives in Detroit on an "entertainers visa."

"I have what's called an entertainer's visa, so I can't get drafted," he smiled. "If I had a worker's permit and lived here I could get drafted."

★ ★ ★

Mickey Stanley, who got a single and double Wednesday night, has gone 9-for-19 in the last five games with three home runs and eight runs-batted-in. His 59 RBI are within one of his previous season highs of 60 which he had last year. His 13 homers are two higher than his best previous home run output.

★ ★ ★

The Tigers have won nine of their last 14 games and are 17-9 in August. They are 21-13 since the All-Star break, 41-23 vs. the American League West Division and 32-31 vs. The East. They are 35-29 on the road and 38-25 at home.

Attention bear hunters!

Have you taken your trusty old gun out of storage and cleaned it up? Have you sharpened up your shooting eye with a few practice rounds? If not, then you've got less than two weeks before opening day in which to prepare yourself.

According to Joe Vogt, local game biologist for the Department of Natural Resources (DNR), prospects for another good early bear season are excellent. The special season opens on Wednesday, Sept. 15. "We've had numerous bear reports this year, and by all the information we can gather it looks like it's going to be another good season for bear," said Vogt.

Joe told me that U. P. Bears are found wherever there are thornapple or beechnut trees and in areas where there are a lot of berry plants. Wild areas near swamps are also fine bear hunting grounds, he added.

"You don't have to go far from the Escanaba-Gladstone area to get to good bear country," Vogt said. "In fact, we have some excellent bear country in the Whitefish River Valley and also on the Stonington Peninsula, he said.

A favorite technique used by successful U. P. bear hunters is the use of dogs. First of all, the hunters drive down a woods road until they see a fresh bear track or any other spot where they think a bear may have crossed.

When these hunters have found a likely spot they let their pack of dogs pick up the scent. Then the hounds are released, and the hunt begins.

Once a bear is treed the first hunter to the tree, or sometimes a pre-elected hunt leader, gets an easy crack at the kill.

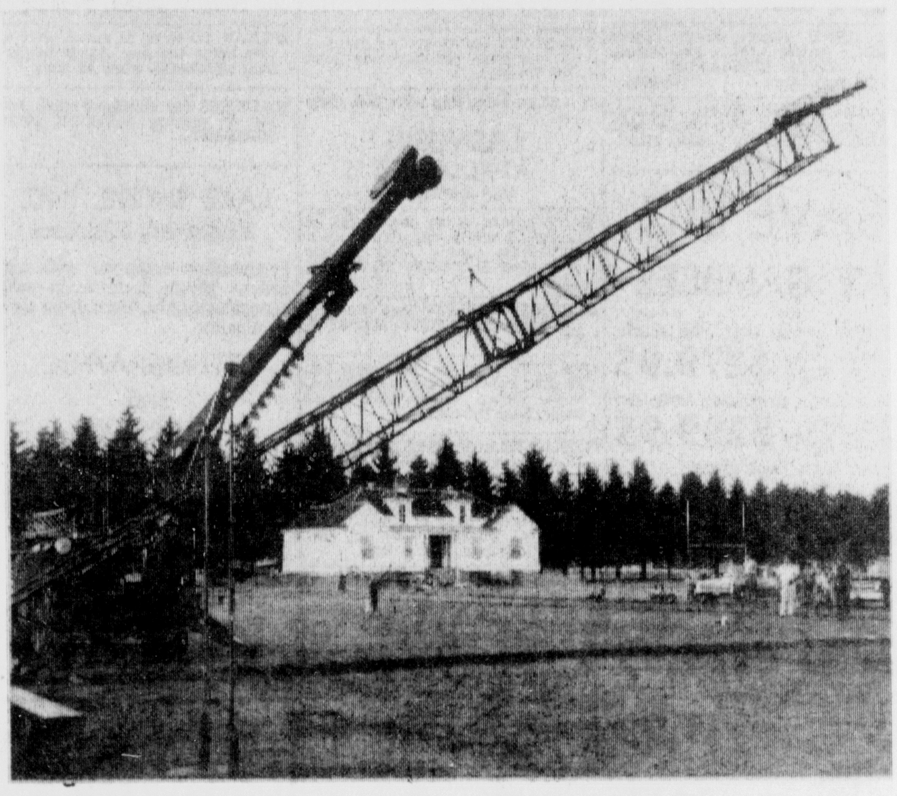

"These organized hunts are probably the best method for taking bear," Vogt stated. Although he did say that DNR bear hunter surveys show that hunters that use dogs out-kill their "no-dog" counterparts by only two per cent margin.

According to the DNR, 660 bears were killed during the U. P.'s early bear season in 1968. This, added to the 180 bear that were killed incidental to deer season, brought the total of bear killed in the U. P. to 840.

Another good reason to bear hunt during the special early season is because it's sometimes the only season when you can get a shot at a bear. The reason for this is that bear often hibernate before deer season arrives — which makes your chances of getting a bear during deer season very unlikely.

During the special season bear may be taken either with a gun or bow and arrow under the $5.10 resident bear hunting license. All bear hunters are asked to study the firearms regulations carefully before going afield. Hunters are warned to refrain from shooting cubs.

It's not a bad price, $5.10 plus a small taxidermy fee, for a beautiful bearskin rug. Good lock and straight shooting. I hope you're wishing me the same. You see I'm after my first bear too!

Oiler-Cowboy Clash Gets 13 Pro Contests Started

By The Associated Press

The Houston Oilers, sporting the best squad in years, hope to snap the Dallas Cowboys' hold on the texas Pro Championship tonight in a sell-out game at the Astrodome which kicks off a 13-game holiday weekend program.

Coach Wally Lemm warned his Oilers to watch for quick outside and up the middle plays when he learned that the Dallas starting backfield will include Craig Baynham and Les Shy.

The Oilers also will have an eye on Cowboy quarterback Craig Morton, who stepped in for retired Don Meredith to direct the multiple formation Dallas attack. It was Morton who came off the bench late in the game the last two years to clinch 30-17 and 33-19 thrillers for the Cowboys.

Identical Teams

Both teams have identical 2-1 preseason records and almost identical rushing records. Dallas has averaged 120 yards on the ground while allowing 86 yards on defense. Houston has averaged 126 yards to its opponents' 86 yards.

Morton has a slight edge over Pete Beathard, the Oilers' rapidly maturing quarterback. In three games, Beathard has completed 35 of 71 passes for 534 yards and four touchdowns while Morton has hit on 39 of 77 for 561 yards and three touchdowns.

Another grudge game is on tap Friday night when the Kansas City Chiefs, unbeaten in four exhibitions and the hottest team in the American Football League meet the Cardinals at St. Louis for the Governors' Cup. The Chiefs won the inaugural game last year 13-10 and are favored to repeat.

Big Night

Kansas City got a 418-yard, four-touchdown performance from quarterback Len Dawson while beating the Los Angeles Rams 42-14 last weekend. Cardinals' quarterback Charlie Johnson managed 15 for 32, 162 yards and one touchdown in the loss to Minnesota, the Cards' first defeat after two victories.

In Saturday's games, the New York Giants (0-2) meet the Philadelphia Eagles (1-1) at Princeton, N.J.; Los Angeles (1-2) is at San Diego (2-1-1); Chicago (2-2) faces Buffalo (1-3) and Green Bay (1-2) takes on Cleveland (2-0-1) in a doubleheader at Cleveland; Miami (0-4) hosts Baltimore (4-0); New Orleans (1-2) entertains Atlanta (2-1), and Cincinnati (1-2) travels to Pittsburgh (1-1).

In Sunday games, San Francisco (0-3) is at Oakland (1-3), Minnesota (3-0) faces the Jets (2-2) in New York, and Boston (1-2) entertains Denver (1-2).

Keyes Signs

Eagles' General Manager Pete Ratzlaff indicated running back Leroy Keyes, the last of the big name holdouts who signed Wednesday, might see some action against the Giants.

Keyes, All-America from Purdue, said he hoped he'd be able to justify his salary, reported in the vicinity of $200,000.

"I feel 82 per cent in condition now," said Keyes, who started working out at Purdue six weeks ago.

Both teams will unleash their best running backs. Tucker Frederickson will make his first start for the Giants and Philadelphia expects their ground game to improve with the return of Tom Woodeshick, who missed the early pre season games because of a knee strain.

Veteran Gone

The Rams will be minus veteran cornerback Clancy Williams, who was indefinitely suspended by Coach George Allen Wednesday.

Allen threatened to trade Williams because of his "indifferent attitude."

Williams, the Rams' No. 1 draft choice from Washington State in 1965, was not immediately available for comment. He has been bothered by a bruised right arm suffered three weeks ago in the preseason opener against Dallas.

The appearance of Buffalo's O. J. Simpson and Chicago's Gayle Sayers on the same field has helped lure a sell-out crowd for the doubleheader at Cleveland. Simpson played about half the game in last weekend's 20-7 losing encounter with Baltimore. The most publicized rookie in pro football history carried five times for 25 yards and returned a kickoff for 23 yards.

Sayers, in the Bears' 19-17 loss to Houston, was contained in rushing, managing only 34 yards in 11 carries, but he returned a kickoff 97 yards for a touchdown.

Kilkenny Stops A's As Tigers Win, 2-0

DETROIT (AP) — Mike Kilkenny, the Canadian southpaw who got interested in baseball through bubble gum cards, gummed up Oakland's hitting machine Wednesday night by pitching the Detroit Tigers to a masterful 2-0, three - hit victory.

The 24-year-old rookie from Bradford, Ont., relied on his curve ball and recently developed "sneaky fast ball" to hold the Athletics to three singles. He struck out six in gaining his first major league shutout, evening his record at 4-4.

"I thought it was pretty exciting looking at those pitchers on the baseball cards," Kilkenny smiled.

The lanky, dark - haired pitcher peeled off his sweaty uniform in the Tiger dressing room and spoke of his background:

"Where I come from all they play is hockey," he said. "In my town nobody wanted to go down to the ballfield because it was a disaster area, and there was nobody around to teach the game anyway."

"When the guys got to be 15 they would find a girl, start sitting in the back rows at the movies—and three days later it seemed like they were almost married.

"So I used to get a ride about 45 miles to Toronto to play sandlot ball there. There was a rule in the league that you had to be 21. I was only 15, but if you had a red - haired grandmother who was in a wheelchair or something you could play. In other words, there were a lot of exceptions to the rules. We played 18 games and I pitched all of them."

Kilkenny was given his first major league start July 31 because Tiger Manager Mayo Smith was in dire need of a fourth starter.

He lost his first two games to the American League East Division's front runner Minnesota and thought he blew his chance of starting again.

"But when Mayo put me back in I decided I had to do something in return," Kilkenny said. "I'm a lot more confident now."

The Tigers tagged Jim "Catfish" Hunter, now 9-12, for lone runs in the third and fourth innings. The first scored on a walk to Bill Freehan, a ground out by Don Wert and a single by Mickey Stanley, who drove in six runs in Tuesday's doubleheader. Then in the next inning, Willie Horton walked, stole second, and reached third when A's catcher Phil Roof threw into center field for an error. Tom Matchick slashed a single to right scoring Horton.

The only hits Kilkenny allowed were singles to Bert Campaneris in the third and Hunter in the fifth, plus a bunt single by Jose Tartabull in the eighth.

"I think my curve ball was my best pitch tonight," Kilkenny said. "My fast ball has improved 200 per cent in the past two years, but I got my strikeouts with curves. My fast ball used to hang but now it's what I'd call a sneaky fast ball."

Costley Strokes Capture Honors In League Play

The Costley Strokes captured top honors in the Highland Golf Club's Ladies' League Wednesday night by scoring nine points in league play and edging the 19th Holers by 2½ points for the title.

Playing on the winning team were Doris Costley, Judy Ambeau, Lorraine Johnston, Betty Fassbender, Sally Morin, Inez Wolfgram and Doris Fitzpatrick.

Low scorers in last night's play were Dorothy Loodeen with a 44, Elaine Nelson 46, Elaine Fairchild 47, Carolyn Nelson and Vicki Beck 48's and Martha Friets and Gladys Hansen 50's.

Golf ball winners were Caroline Olson, Marcine Smith, Carole Daniels, Cheri Severinsen, Agnes Baribeau, Phyllis Anderson and Marjorie Olson.

Next Wednesday the ladies will try to "Beat the Champ" and golfers are asked to make their own foursomes. Permanent reservations will hold.

Final team standings: Costley Strokes 74, 19th Holers 71½, Highland Flingers 68, Beck's Bombers 60, Glad Bags 59½, Handi-Caps 57, Friets Funnies 54 and Fairway Swingers 52.

Florida Golfer Leads Tourney

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Concentration is the name of the game over the tough Oakmont Country Club course in the 69th annual U.S. Amateur Golf Championship.

Steve Melnyk, 235-pound belter from the University of Florida who led the way into today's second round with a two stroke advantage, and his two closest pursuers, Marvin "Vinnie" Giles and Rick Jones, agreed on the winning formula.

"You've got to concentrate 18 holes and you don't have a give away-hole on the course," said Melnyk, who shot the only subpar round Wednesday—36-34—70.

"I think this is one of the finest tests of golf there is, though it's the kind of course you can never let up on," commented Giles.

"You go to sleep one hole on this course and you're dead," said Jones. "You can shoot an 85."

The three leaders had to know what they were talking about, since in a field of 150 of the world's top amateurs, 74 scored 80 or above on a par 36-35—71 course. Only one broke par and none equaled it.

Highland Men To Open Play

Golfers from the Highland Gold Club will tee off Saturday at 12:15 p. m. for the annual men's golf tournament. Other matches will begin at 9 a. m. Sunday and Monday. The finals will be held in the championship flight on Monday afternoon.

Defending champion Jerry Martin will be on hand to defend his title, in a field of eighty golfers. Runner-up Gerry Harris will also play in the tournament.

Sandbaggers Stay First In League

GLADSTONE — The Sandbaggers remained in first place in the standings of the Gladstone Golf Club's men's league last night by scoring a total of 131 points.

Playing on the team were John Gilbert and Bob Richards, who had the low net scores of the night with a 30 and 31 respectively, Jim Bratonia net 35 and Wayne Cassell net 35.

Pete Peterson shot the low gross score with a 36 while Jim Sundalius carded a 38. Other low scorers were J. C. Miller, John Gilbert, Dean Roddy and Norm Butler with 39's.

Team standings: Sandbaggers 701, Playboys 721, Clowns 724, Unusuals 730, Youngsters 748, Hackers 750, Professionals 751 and Optimists 787.

Warren Grabs Mallory Lead

MENOMINEE, Mich. (AP)—A judges decision awarding him an additional point for a breakdown Wednesday gave Peter Warren of Marblehead, Mass., a half-point lead in the standings going into today's final round of the North American Yacht Racing Union's Mallory Cup Series.

Warren had 41½ points after completion of seven races in the eight-race series for 5.5-meter boats on Lake Michigan's Green Bay. Dropping back to second place with 41 points was Graham Hall of Bayside, N.Y., Tuesday's leader.

Warren won Wednesday morning's race, in which Hall placed seventh. They switched positions in the afternoon, with Hall winning and Warren finishing seventh.

But Warren's request for breakdown points was allowed by the officials, allowing him to move ahead in the standings. They awarded him one additional point, ruling that a jib halyard winch break shortly after the start of the seventh race prevented him from completing the first weather leg of the course at normal speed.

Yachtsmen receive one point for finishing a race, one point for each crew they defeat, and a quarter point for first place.

Millie's Lillies Wins Ladies' Title At Country Club

Millie's Lillies captured the Escanaba Country Club's Ladies' League championship last night, beating the runnerup Fearless Leaders by 2½ points for the title.

Rita Sauers paced all golfers in league play with a 43 while Milly Boyce, Doris Kivela, Marie Wicklander and Ruth Needham had 47's, Gloria Hansley and Marilyn Knoll had 48's, Marge Owens carded a 49 and Shirley Shomin and Virginia Anzalone had 50's.

In the low net day's event Group 1 scorers were Marie Wicklander 37 and Blanche LaCrosse and Milly Boyce 38's; Group 2 Rita Sauers 35 and Nicky Traverse, Marge Owens and Marilyn Knoll 38's and Group 3 Dorothy Olsen 38, Jean McDonough and Ann Harrington 40's and Esther Lorey 41.

Final team standings: Millie's Lillies 58, Fearless Leaders 55½, Ole Yellers 51½, Fitz's Witches 44, Barrons 41, Thirsties 40, Whips 36½ and Lanterns 35½.

Toledo Pennant Hopes Dwindle

By The Associated Press

The sinking Toledo Mud Hens all but saw their hopes of a first-division finish in the International League destroyed Wednesday as they lost to the Syracuse Chiefs 7-5.

It was the Mud Hens' third loss in as many days.

A double by Dave McDonald a single by Marv Staehle, a passed ball and a sacrifice gave Syracuse the runs it needed in the 10th inning. The loss moved the Mud Hens to 10 games back of the new league leaders, the Tidewater Tides.

In other games Wednesday, Tidewater whipped Louisville 9-2, Buffalo swept a doubleheader from Richmond 2-1 and 5-3 and Columbus downed Rochester 8-3.

Wandering Romo Defeats Royals

By The Associated Press

Vicente Romo is missing again—this time from the Boston Red Sox bullpen.

Romo, the wandering Mexican reliever who disappeared from the club for 36 hours in Chicago a couple of weeks ago, hasn't been back to the bullpen since.

Manager Dick Williams, who decided Romo didn't make enough money to be fined for his AWOL escapade, has turned him into a starter and with good results. The stocky right-hander pitched his first complete game in the majors Wednesday night, beating Kansas City 4-3.

That gave Romo a 2-1 record as a starter for the Red Sox and 5-9 over-all. He scattered nine hits and got credit for the victory when Syd O'Brien's two-out, bases-loaded single drove in George Scott with the winning run in he bottom of the ninth inning.

In other American League action Wednesday, Detroit blanked Oakland 2-0, Minnesota clipped Washington 4-2, California took Cleveland 4-1 in 10 innings, Baltimore jolted Seattle 7-2 and New York downed Chicago 6-3.

Romo left the Red Sox without an explanation on the club's last trip to Chicago. He turned up 1½ days later safe and sound after the Red Sox had called out just about everyone but the Marines to search for him.

The pitcher's explanation was that he had become ill and stayed at a friend's house. Williams docked Romo one day's pay but did not fine him, explaining, "Vicente can't afford a big fine on the salary he's making."

Jerry Adair's leadoff homer in the ninth tied the game for the Royals against Romo, earlier Pat Kelly had tagged a two-run shot for KC.

But the Red Sox won it for Vicente in the last of the ninth. Scott and Russ Gibson both singled with two out and Dick Schofield, swinging for Romo, walked, loading the bases. Then O'Brien singled Scott home with the deciding run.

Rico Petrocelli had a two-run homer for the Red Sox.

Minnesota rushed four first inning runs across the plate and Jim Perry made them stand up to beat Washington.

Perry pitched a four-hitter and batterymate John Roseboro singled home two of the Twins' first inning runs. Lee Maye homered for the Senators.

Rick Reichardt slammed a bases-loaded triple in the 10th inning, moving California past Cleveland and beating Sam McDowell, 15-11.

Jim Fregosi tied the score with a leadoff homer in the ninth against McDowell, who, until then, had outduelled Rudy May. One inning later, Hits by Joe Azcue and Sandy Alomar and a walk to Fregosi loaded the bases for Reichardt, who promptly unloaded them.

Frank Robinson hammered his 29th homer and drove in three runs as the Orioles halted their mini-slide by pounding Seattle. Baltimore had dropped four straight before Mike Cuellar set down the Pilots on four hits. It was Cuellar's 18th victory and 15th complete game.

Mel Stottlemyre won his 17th game for the Yankees with Horace Clarke sparking a pair of rallies that brought New York from behind twice against the White Sox.

Clarke doubled two runs home in the second and singled to start another two-run rally in the fifth.

Dartball

An organizational meeting of the Escanaba Tavern Dartball Association has been called for Tuesday, Sept. 2, at the Bay de Noc Tavern at 8 p. m. The association is trying to expand to ten or twelve teams and there are still a few openings available. Any tavern owner interested in putting a team in the league is asked to have a representative at this meeting.

The greatest horse ever imported to America was the Engilsh stallion Messenger, unloaded at the Philadelphia docks in 1797. Virtually every harness horse racing today traces to Messenger, for whom the great pacing classic at Roosevelt Raceway is named.

Tiger Tales

Canadian Mike Kilkenny, the rookie southpaw who pitched the Detroit Tigers to a 2-0 victory over Oakland Wednesday night, lives in Detroit on an "entertainers visa."

"I have what's called an entertainer's visa, so I can't get drafted," he smiled. "If I had a worker's permit and lived here I could get drafted."

★ ★ ★

Mickey Stanley, who got a single and double Wednesday night, has gone 9-for-19 in the last five games with three home runs and eight runs-batted-in. His 59 RBI are within one of his previous season highs of 60 which he had last year. His 13 homers are two higher than his best previous home run output.

★ ★ ★

The Tigers have won nine of their last 14 games and are 17-9 in August. They are 21-13 since the All-Star break, 41-23 vs. the American League West Division and 32-31 vs. The East. They are 35-29 on the road and 38-25 at home.

Koosman, Mets Upend Padres 4-1 To Close In On Division Leader

By The Associated Press

It took the New York Mets seven years to recover from the National League's first expansion, but the second one has turned out to be a big hit for them—and Jerry Koosman.

After taking their lumps from the older teams since they came into the league in 1962, the Mets suddenly have become bullies themselves against one of this season's new kids on the block, the San Diego Padres.

With Koosman, who hurled a two-hitter, once again taking advantage of San Diego hitters and embarrassing pitcher Clay Kirby, the Mets rolled to their 11th straight victory over the expansionist Padres Wednesday night.

The 4-1 triumph crept the charging Mets within two games—and even on the all-important loss side—of the sinking Chicago Cubs, the East Division leaders who were beaten by Cincinnati 6-3 in the afternoon for their fourth consecutive defeat.

Cincinnati's victory matched San Francisco's 8-7, 10 inning afternoon verdict over Philadelphia and kept the Reds within a half game and three percentage points of the first-place Giants in the West Division.

Atlanta, a half game and five points back, also kept pace with a 1-0 victory over Pittsburgh, and Los Angeles remained one game behind with a 7-3 triumph over Montreal. Houston, three games back, beat St. Louis 5-1 in 10 innings in the other game.

Koosman's line single, his first hit in 49 at bats, in the 3rd innning, started a rally that ended in Cleon Jones' two-run double for a 2-1 lead. He beat out a topper in the seventh. His only other hit this year, off Kirby, was a bunt single.

Kirby, taking his 18th loss against three victories, had other troubles in the sixth when Art Shamsky doubled in a run and scored on Ken Boswell's single.

Koosman, 12-8, and 3-0 against San Diego, yielded only a homer to Ollie Brown and a single to Al Ferrara in the first inning. He beat the Padres 4-1 on six hits during an earlier 11-game Mets' winning streak that brought them alive in May and June and won 3-2 on five hits during their current six-game run—and 12 of 13—that has cut 7½ games off Chicago's lead in two weeks.

The Cubs, losing their third in a row against Cincinnati and seventh in nine games, fell before Alex Johnson's two-run double and solo homer and Lee May's two-run homer.

For the third straight day, the Cubs had the tying runs on base in the ninth inning, but this time reliever Clay Carroll got Ron Santo on a liner with two out and the bases loaded to save the victory for Tony Cloninger, 9-14.

Jim Davenport's pinch-hit single with the bases loaded in the 10th gave San Francisco its seventh consecutive victory after Willie McCovey made it 10 RBI in two days with a two-run single and his 41st homer with a man on. Bobby Bonds also had a two-run homer, his third in two days, and singled and scored the winning run.

Phil Niekro, 18-11, hurled a six-hitter and doubled and scored the only run in the sixth inning on Tony Gonzalez' single in besting Dock Ellis, 9-14, for Atlanta's fourth triumph in a row.

Willie Davis drove in three runs with two of his three hits as he extended his hitting streak to 24 games, longest in the majors this season, and helped Bill Singer of the Dodgers to his 16th victory and Montreal to its seventh successive loss.

Doug Rader triggered a four-run 10th inning off Bob Gibson, 16-9, with a tie-breaking double for Houston, raising Tom Griffin's record to 9-6.

Hearing Slated On Grid Drills

LANSING (AP) — Do high school football players need a week of conditioning exercises before scrimmage practice?

The Michigan High School Athletic Association plans a public hearing on the subject Sept. 10 at its Lansing office.

High school teams now are required to practice three weeks before starting games.

The extra conditioning, tentatively approved by the State Board of Education, has been recommended by the Michigan Medical Scoiety, the American Medical Association's committee on medical aspects of sports and groups of high school coaches.

The rule would take effect in 1970.

Other proposed changes in high school athletics would involve track and cross country and allow inter-city competition between junior high school girls' basketball teams.

Flew Here In 1911 'Flying Machine'

Air Progress Started 58 Years Ago

By CLINT DUNATHAN
Of Panax Newspapers

Since the first airplane (or aeroplane as it was spelled in those days) flew in Escanaba 58 years ago the community has been more than ordinarily interested in the development of aviation.

And the first plane to arrive here back on July 1, 1911, so far as our research shows was also the first "flying machine" to visit the Upper Peninsula.

Only eight years after the Wright brothers flew at Kitty Hawk, the Escanaba Business Men's Association sponsored the event of events — a real "aeroplane" that would fly in a demonstration at the Fourth of July celebration.

Already becoming accustomed to the putt-putt-putt of the early-day automobiles along Ludington St., Escanaba area residents were ready to view the new sensation of flight by heavier-than-air craft. Balloons were common and gymnasts hanging from a trapeze as the gas bag ascended were a standard attraction at many county fairs. But an aeroplane — now that was different.

Arrived By Boat

People didn't gather at the airport to see the first plane come in. There wasn't any airport. They turned to the Merchant's Dock where the Curtis biplane arrived from Chicago — by boat.

It was in parts, too, and the bundlies and boxes containing the motor, the wire, the fabric and controls were hauled to the largest clear space in any building in town — the Peterson Opera House, later the Colliseum — where the machine was to be assembled.

The aviator, Harry P. Cowling, was accompanied by mechanics who put the plane together. But Cowling was, of course, the center of most attention. He was the hero of the hour.

When the plane was assembled the doors of the Coliseum were thrown open and the people of Escanaba saw what looked mostly like a rather big but fragile kite made of wire and a few pieces of fabric. There were three wheels, one up front and a couple toward the rear, and there was a seat for the aviator just ahead of the motor.

Over The Fence

The total weight (including the dashing Mr. Cowling) was about 500 pounds. But the events that followed somehow took the dash out of Cowling and made him appear more a victim of unkind fate than an intrepid hero. Here's the way the story is recounted in the Escanaba Century Book:

"On July 3 of 1911 the plane was hauled on a dray up Ludington St., behind a brass band and to the Fairgrounds, where a runway had been prepared. Weather conditions were bad and the plane didn't fly that day. On the Fourth, after a day of delays and much coming and going of the crowds, Cowling believed conditions were right and took off about sunset.

"The crowd watched breathlessly as the open-air bundle of wires with Cowling seated in the center, his coat tails flapping, struggled into the air at the end of the runway. There was scarcely time for spectators to take a breath before the flight was over.

"The plane barely cleared a board fence at the end of the field, continued a short distance, and landed in the top of a pine tree. Cowling climbed down, unhurt. The plane was a mess.

Took Up Passengers

"A new plane and motor were sent for, the runway was improved, and the determined but jinxed Mr. Cowling tried for three successive days to prove to local folks that the air age had arrived. But the weather was against him. He gave up."

A CURTIS BI-PLANE was the first to fly at Escanaba on July 3, 1911, and research indicates that it was the first flight of a plane in any community in the Upper Peninsula. The photograph is by Robb, early-day Escanaba professional photographer, and is from the files of the Delta County Historical Society.

Although brief, the flight by Cowling and his Curtis bi-plane was an historic first, to be followed three years later by the arrival of Baxter Adams who came to Escanaba with an open pusher-type bi-plane.

Adams did stunts, took up more courageous persons on flights, and the way was paved for others who were to follow in making local aviation history. Arne Arntzen of Escanaba helped research the Century Book chapter on aviation, and traced events leading to today's growing air traffic.

"Wally (Shorty) Rowell dropped in at Escanaba in his Curtis Jenny for a few days in 1919 and took up passengers. He then returned to Manistique, where he operated the Schoolcraft County Aircraft Association, an enterprise in which Warren Morrison (now of Escanaba) was a stockholder. Other aviators, including Ernie Berg of Minneapolis, made Escanaba a port of call in those early days of aviation.

Flying Architect

"Wally Arntzen of Escanaba (Arne Arntzen's brother), in 1925 began looking for a plane of his own after returning from Brooks Field, U. S. Army Air Cadet School in Texas. He picked up and OX5 Jenny at Menominee and at Escanaba hopped passengers on weekends, holidays and at Fairtime.

In 1926 with a Thomas Morse, Wally began giving flying instructions. Two years later C. Harold Wescott of Escanaba organized the Upper Peninsula Airways and established a field at Wells. Wally was pilot, Fred Sensiba and Myron Good were mechanics. Good later crashed near the ore docks and drowned. His passenger, Jimmy Hansen, was rescued.

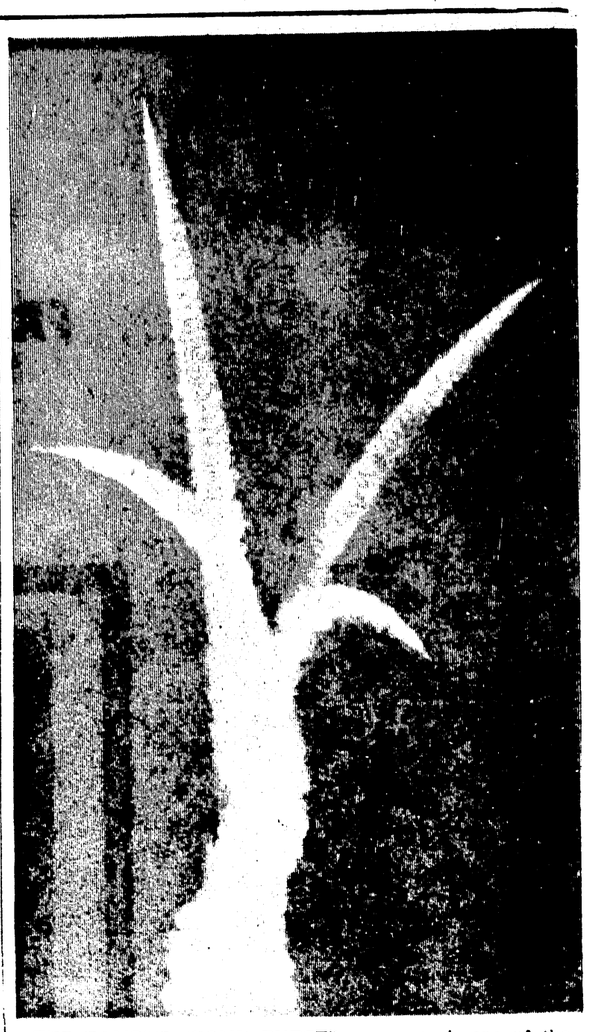

Trained Many Pilots

U. P. Airways operated a good school and some of its graduates are still flying. Some lost their lives in the service of their country.

Pilots Wally trained include Joe Bonen, Harold Skelly, Marion Fontana; Mags Ranguette, Harold Anderson, Dr. C. B. Kitchen, Harold Gessner, Arthur Jacobsen, Julian Schuster, William Karas, Erling Arntzen, Edgar Arntzen, Ralph Olsen, Pete Wydra, Fred Marenger and others.

In a few short years after Kitty Hawk and Harry Cowling and the interest of the Escanaba Business Men's Association in the newfangled aeroplane, the air age had come. As Arne Arntzen comments:

"As runways are lengthened and jets for private transportation prove feasible, Escanaba will again experience a further evolution in the field of transportation and we will have in reality progressed from dog sleds to jet planes."

CONGRATULATIONS

ON THEIR NEW MUNICIPAL AIRPORT TERMINAL.....

We are proud to have had a part in the completion of this new terminal. Our work consisted of all seeding, fencing, sodding, and landscaping.

SNOWDEN INC.

LEDGEND OF THE THUNDERBIRD — In the days when buffalo roamed North America, the legend of the Thunderbird was born. From the wooden long houses of the Northeast, to the tepees of Middle America and the pueblos of the Southwest, the stories of this powerful being were retold not only around evening campfires, but especiall at the height of storms. For when thunder boomed across the sky, it was the Thunderbird flapping his enormour wings. Lightning was the flashing eyes or the arrows that he carried in his mighty talons. The Thunderbird had many powers. Some believed he had the ability to grant success in war. Others attributed long life to his blessing. Basically, however, he was a force of good batling evil, his bolts of light overcoming the darkness. Many Indian nations pictured the Thunderbird in different ways. Usually he was an eagle or hawk. Some drew him with charcoal or scorched his portrait onto animal hides. One tribe from the Southwest even portrayed the Thunderbird in red, white, and blue. In 1953, the newly formed official Air Force aerial demonstration team was based at Luke Air Force Base, near Phoenix, Ariz. This is a land steeped in Indian legend and tradition. They searched for a symbol, for a squadron name that would capture the roar and fire of their jet engines as well as their mission of goodwill. There seemed no more fitting choice than this powreful legend, and so when the squadron flew their first demonstration of precision flying, they had been christened the United States Air Force "Thunderbirds."

Through aviation ,the earth has been made smaller and man now has a better chance of bringing nations together.

We're Proud To Have YOU Step On Us . . .

We urge you to inspect the New Escanaba Municipal Airport Terminal during the Formal Dedication Ceremony on Friday and Saturday, August 29th and 30th.

Flew Here In 1911 'Flying Machine'

Air Progress Started 58 Years Ago

By CLINT DUNATHAN
Of Panax Newspapers

Since the first airplane (or aeroplane as it was spelled in those days) flew in Escanaba 58 years ago the community has been more than ordinarily interested in the development of aviation.

And the first plane to arrive here back on July 1, 1911, so far as our research shows was also the first "flying machine" to visit the Upper Peninsula.

Only eight years after the Wright brothers flew at Kitty Hawk, the Escanaba Business Men's Association sponsored the event of events — a real "aeroplane" that would fly in a demonstration at the Fourth of July celebration.

Already becoming accustomed to the putt-putt-putt of the early-day automobiles along Ludington St., Escanaba area residents were ready to view the new sensation of flight by heavier-than-air craft. Balloons were common and gymnasts hanging from a trapeze as the gas bag ascended were a standard attraction at many county fairs. But an aeroplane — now that was different.

Arrived By Boat

People didn't gather at the airport to see the first plane come in. There wasn't any airport. They turned to the Merchant's Dock where the Curtis biplane arrived from Chicago — by boat.

It was in parts, too, and the bundlies and boxes containing the motor, the wire, the fabric and controls were hauled to the largest clear space in any building in town — the Peterson Opera House, later the Colliseum — where the machine was to be assembled.

The aviator, Harry P. Cowling, was accompanied by mechanics who put the plane together. But Cowling was, of course, the center of most attention. He was the hero of the hour.

When the plane was assembled the doors of the Coliseum were thrown open and the people of Escanaba saw what looked mostly like a rather big but fragile kite made of wire and a few pieces of fabric. There were three wheels, one up front and a couple toward the rear, and there was a seat for the aviator just ahead of the motor.

Over The Fence

The total weight (including the dashing Mr. Cowling) was about 500 pounds. But the events that followed somehow took the dash out of Cowling and made him appear more a victim of unkind fate than an intrepid hero. Here's the way the story is recounted in the Escanaba Century Book:

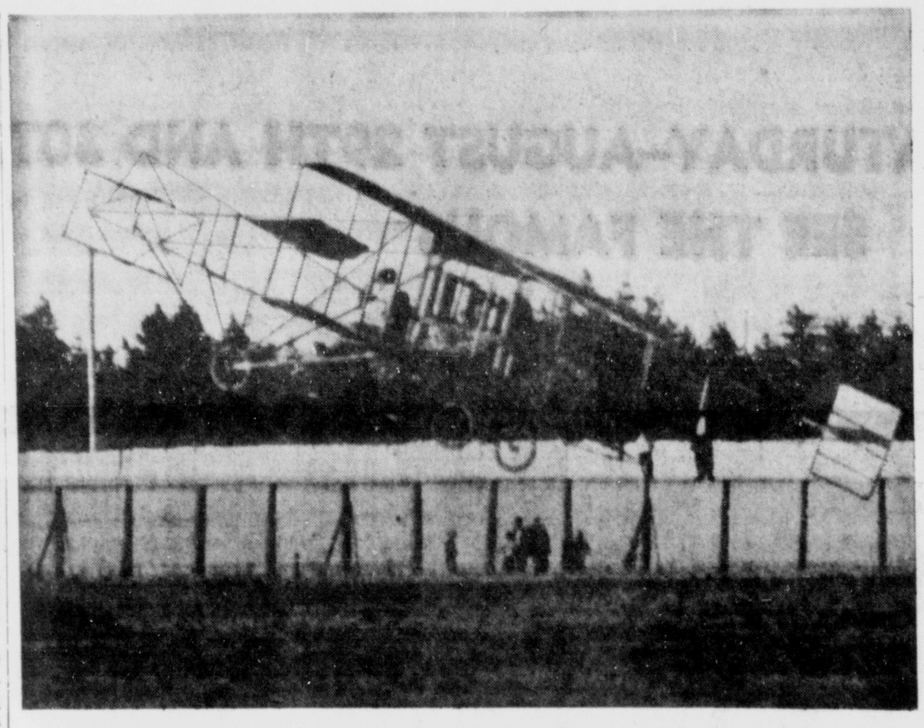

"On July 3 of 1911 the plane was hauled on a dray up Ludington St., behind a brass band and to the Fairgrounds, where a runway had been prepared. Weather conditions were bad and the plane didn't fly that day. On the Fourth, after a day of delays and much coming and going of the crowds, Cowling believed conditions were right and took off about sunset.

"The crowd watched breathlessly as the open-air bundle of wires with Cowling seated in the center, his coat tails flapping, struggled into the air at the end of the runway. There was scarcely time for spectators to take a breath before the flight was over.

"The plane barely cleared a board fence at the end of the field, continued a short distance, and landed in the top of a pine tree. Cowling climbed down, unhurt. The plane was a mess.

Took Up Passengers

"A new plane and motor were sent for, the runway was improved, and the determined but jinxed Mr. Cowling tried for three successive days to prove to local folks that the air age had arrived. But the weather was against him. He gave up."

A CURTIS BI-PLANE was the first to fly at Escanaba on July 3, 1911, and research indicates that it was the first flight of a plane in any community in the Upper Peninsula. The photograph is by Robb, early-day Escanaba professional photographer, and is from the files of the Delta County Historical Society.

Although brief, the flight by Cowling and his Curtis bi-plane was an historic first, to be followed three years later by the arrival of Baxter Adams who came to Escanaba with an open pusher-type bi-plane.

Adams did stunts, took up more courageous persons on flights, and the way was paved for others who were to follow in making local aviation history. Arne Arntzen of Escanaba helped research the Century Book chapter on aviation, and traced events leading to today's growing air traffic.

"Wally (Shorty) Rowell dropped in at Escanaba in his Curtis Jenny for a few days in 1919 and took up passengers. He then returned to Manistique, where he operated the Schoolcraft County Aircraft Association, an enterprise in which Warren Morrison (now of Escanaba) was a stockholder. Other aviators, including Ernie Berg of Minneapolis, made Escanaba a port of call in those early days of aviation.

Flying Architect

"Wally Arntzen of Escanaba (Arne Arntzen's brother), in 1925 began looking for a plane of his own after returning from Brooks Field, U. S. Army Air Cadet School in Texas. He picked up and OX5 Jenny at Menominee and at Escanaba hopped passengers on weekends, holidays and at Fairtime.

In 1926 with a Thomas Morse, Wally began giving flying instructions. Two years later C. Harold Wescott of Escanaba organized the Upper Peninsula Airways and established a field at Wells. Wally was pilot, Fred Sensiba and Myron Good were mechanics. Good later crashed near the ore docks and drowned. His passenger, Jimmy Hansen, was rescued.

Trained Many Pilots

U. P. Airways operated a good school and some of its graduates are still flying. Some lost their lives in the service of their country.

Pilots Wally trained include Joe Bonen, Harold Skelly, Marion Fontana; Mags Ranguette, Harold Anderson, Dr. C. B. Kitchen, Harold Gessner, Arthur Jacobsen, Julian Schuster, William Karas, Erling Arntzen, Edgar Arntzen, Ralph Olsen, Pete Wydra, Fred Marenger and others.

In a few short years after Kitty Hawk and Harry Cowling and the interest of the Escanaba Business Men's Association in the newfangled aeroplane, the air age had come. As Arne Arntzen comments:

"As runways are lengthened and jets for private transportation prove feasible, Escanaba will again experience a further evolution in the field of transportation and we will have in reality progressed from dog sleds to jet planes."

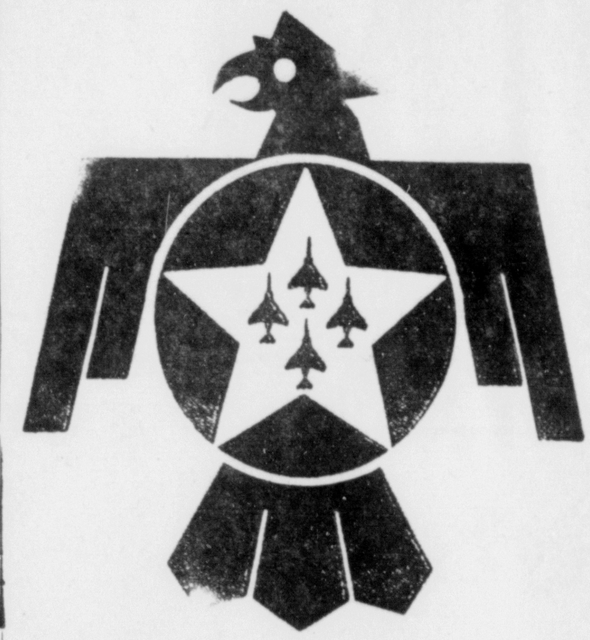

THE FAMOUS "BOMB BURST" maneuver is one of the highlights of the demonstration by the U. S. Air Force Thunderbirds which residents of the Escanaba area will see Saturday afternoon during the Airport Dedication air show over Ludington Park. The Thunderbirds, flying supersonic jets, will perform along with other military aircraft. (U. S. Air Force Photo)

LEDGEND OF THE THUNDERBIRD — In the days when buffalo roamed North America. the legend of the Thunderbird was born. From the wooden long houses of the Northeast, to the tepees of Middle America and the pueblos of the Southwest, the stories of this powerful being were retold not only around evening campfires, but especiall at the height of storms. For when thunder boomed across the sky, it was the Thunderbird flapping his enormour wings. Lightning was the flashing eyes or the arrows that he carried in his mighty talons. The Thunderbird had many powers. Some believed he had the ability to grant success in war. Others attributed long life to his blessing. Basically, however, he was a force of good batling evil, his bolts of light overcoming the darkness. Many Indian nations pictured the Thunderbird in different ways. Usually he was an eagle or hawk. Some drew him with charcoal or scorched his portrait onto animal hides. One tribe from the Southwest even portrayed the Thunderbird in red, white, and blue. In 1953, the newly formed official Air Force aerial demonstration team was based at Luke Air Force Base, near Phoenix, Ariz. This is a land steeped in Indian legend and tradition. They searched for a symbol, for a squadron name that would capture the roar and fire of their jet engines as well as their mission of goodwill. North Central Schedules 100-Passenger DC-9's

Jets Will Start Here On Oct. 26

North Central Airlines will begin DC-9 jet passenger plane service to Escanaba and Marquette on Oct. 26, another major event in the eventful history of the airline that began as Wisconsin Central Airlines in 1948.

David E. Moran, North Central vice president traffic and sales, announces:

"Effective with our Oct. 26 schedule we will be serving Escanaba with 100-passenger DC-9 equipment.

"Our evening flight from Detroit, with connections from Chicago, will arrive in Escanaba at 9:37 p. m. and terminate in Marquette at 10:08 p. m.

"The equipment used on this flight will originate in Marquette at 8:10 a.m. and operate through Escanaba at 8:42 a. m. to Detroit with connections to Chicago."

The DC-9's will be the largest and fastest of all the aircraft that North Central has used in serving this and other communities since its inception. The increased passenger capacity augments the service — and none of the other flights are being withdrawn.

North Central points out that one DC-9 is equal to 16 DC-3's in seat mile capacity. The DC-9 is also four times as fast and four times as large as the DC-3, which was retired from scheduled service in 1968 when North Central became an all-jet line.

The DC-3's were replaced at Escanaba with 44-seat Convairs back in 1962 — considered a major advancement then because of the Convair's pressurized cabin, and its speed. The DC-3's seated only 26 passengers.

Pasing years have brought increasing passenger volume and a continuing improvement of North Central equipment, including prop-jets. The jet program was announced in 1965 and five Douglas DC-9 fan jets were ordered. The Convair fleet then stood at 30.

By the end of 1967 North Central had three DC-9's and eight Convair 580's in scheduled operation, with the airline completing its first 20 years with a perfect safety record. Then at the end of 1968 North Central became an all-jet line with the last of the 26-passenger DC-3's taken off regular flights; all replaced by jets and prop-jets.

There has been a remarkable gain in passenger volume in the Escanaba area, North Central reports.

Escanaba last year gained 43 per cent in air passenger volume over 1967, to lead by far all other cities in the Upper Peninsula. Iron Mountain and Ironwood gained 16 per cent, Menominee - Marinette 13, Houghton - Hancock 12 and Marquette and Sault Ste. Marie 10.

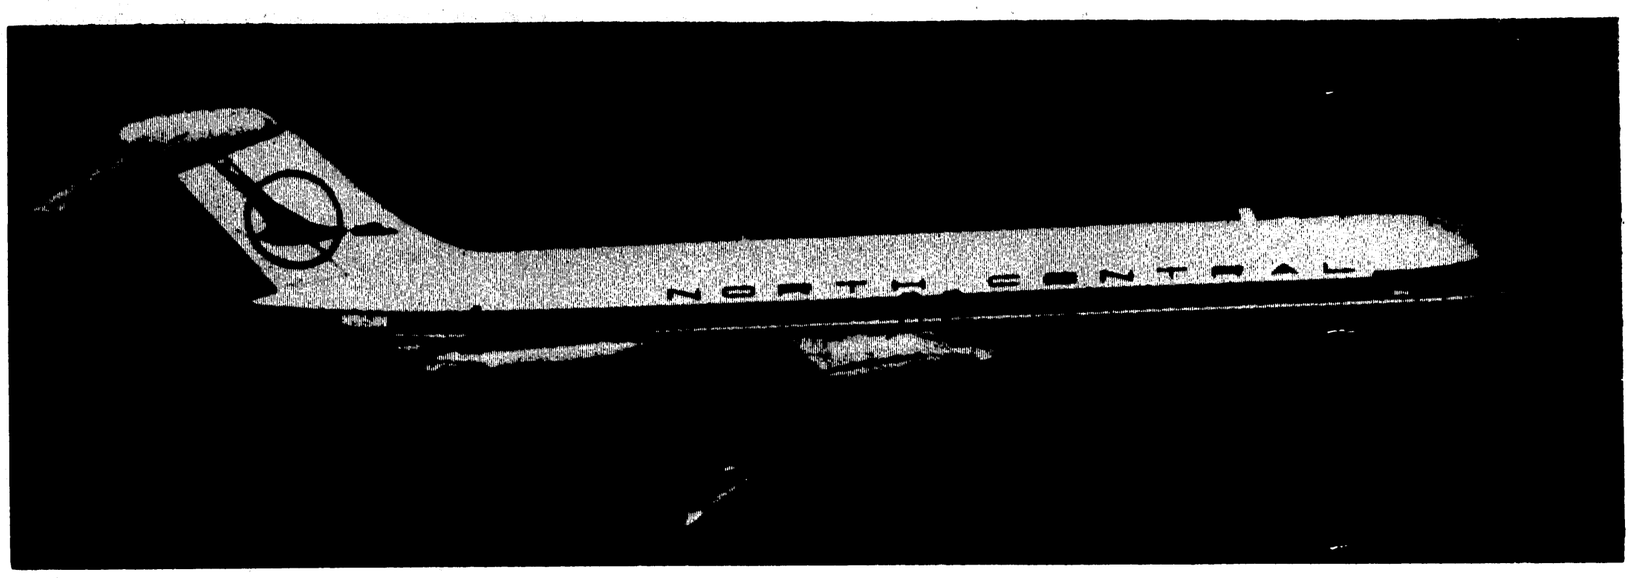

The rapid increase at Escanaba is also shown in statistics on the number of passengers boarding and deplaning here over the past few years.

The number totaled 10,101 in 1963 and gained only a few passengers until 1965 when the total was 12,671. It jumped to 14,358 in 1966, 16,132 in 1967 and climbed to 22,833 last year. All records were broken here in July this year and 1969 is expected to show substantial increases over last year.

Air Space Control FAA Objective

The Federal Aviation Act of 1958 established the independent Federal Aviation Agency which came into operation in 1959. Its main objective is to control the civil and military use of the air space. The administrator of the FAA reports to the president.

The organization is responsible for installing radar, modernizing runways, improving communications and training air traffic controllers. It is divided into four bureaus — flight standards, research and development, facilities and air traffic management.

NORTH CENTRAL AIRLINES will put 100-passenger DC-9 jets on one flight a day into the Upper Peninsula beginning Oct. 26. The DC-9's climax development and improvement of equipment that began back in 1948 with the Lockheed 10-A Electra, followed by the Douglas DC-3 in 1950, Convair 440 in 1959 and the Convair 580 in 1967, spelling progress in flight for the "blue goose that has grown into a big bird."

Proclamation

WHERAS, Walter Arntzen has actively promoted and furthered the cause of aviation throughout a flying career of almost fifty years, and

Whereas, his early belief and enthusiasm for aviation have been fulfilled in the ever-increasing scope and importance of air transportation culminating in the realization of the need of a new and expanded municipal airport facilities, and

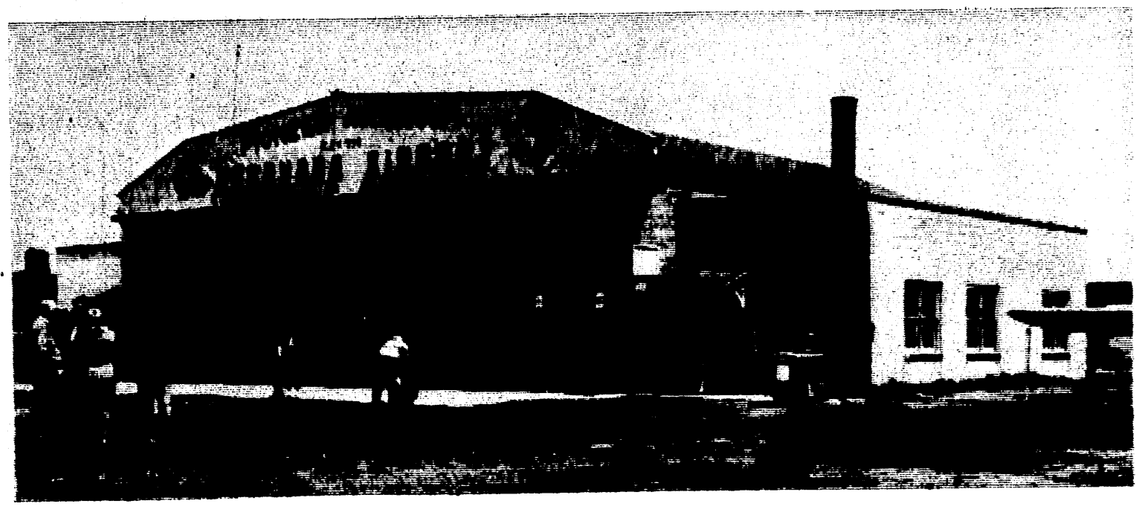

Whereas, from the earliest days when he flew his "Jenny," through his later pursuits, which included his acting as the first Airport Manager at the Escanaba Air Terminal, Walter's career and inspiration have been manifest in the advancement of our municipal air service, and

Whereas, Walter Arntzen returned to Escanaba after World War II with his memories of thousands of hours and countless miles in the air, and through his zeal, foresight, and counsel, Escanaba will again experience a further evolution in the field of transportation through its Jet Age.

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved, that the Escanaba City Council salutes and commends Walter Arntzen as Escanaba's foremost pioneer aviator.

Be It Further Resolved, that a copy of this proclamation be forwarded to Mr. Arntzen acknowledging the role he played in developing aviation in our area.

Demonstration Team Now In 17th Season

Sixteen years ago during the turbulent end of the Korean War, the placid skies over Williams Air Force Base, Ariz., were rent by the howl of jet engines.

Four F-84 aircraft painted red, white, and blue, rolled and looped over the audience below, always keeping their wingtips overlapped three feet.

This was the first show of the United States Air Force Air Demonstration Squadron, the Thunderbirds. Based at Luke Air Force Base, near Phoenix, Ariz., the Thunderbirds had been created about a month before to demonstrate to people in the United States and overseas the capabilities of the men and machines of the United States Air Force.

Needless to say, the Thunderbirds were representing in 1953, a very different Air Force from today's. As a separate service, the United States Air Force was only six years old. The hottest jet fighter then in action was still not capable of breaking the sound barrier in level flight.

100 Shows Yearly

The technological and scientific advances leading to an Air Force of ICBM's and Mach 3 airplanes have been spanned by more than 1,300 Thunderbird aerial demonstrations.

The team now flies an average of 100 air shows a year, making them the nation's busiest precision flying team. To reach show sites located from coast-to-coast and even overseas, the Thunderbirds must cover 175,000 air miles in 250 days of travel. To date, the team has flown an estimated 2,000,000 miles or the equivalent of 65 times around the earth.

The ranks of the 5,000 spectators who watched the first air show in 1953 have been swelled by nearly 75,000,000 aviation enthusiasts from all of the 50 states and more than 40 countries of the free world. The largest single Thunderbird audience gathered in Chicago, Ill., when on July 5, 1959, about two-million people jammed the waterfront of Lake Michigan.

Receive Award

In 11 deployments overseas, the Thunderbirds have demonstrated American friendship by meeting millions of people on a person-to-person basis. During the 1959 trip to the Far East, the team performed 31 shows during one 40-day period.

After returning to the United States, they received the 1959 MacKay Trophy, an annual award made for the most meritorious flight of the year.

The Thunderbirds have performed in five different aircraft. They began in the straight-wing F-84G and in 1955 switched to the swept-wing 84F. Both aircraft were built by Republic. The F-84's, however, were subsonic planes, and it was not until 1956 that the Thunderbirds could shatter the sound barrier with their new North American F-100C's.

The team retained the C-model Super Sabre until 1964 when they spent part of a season in the Republic F-105B. Returning to the F-100D later that year, the Thunderbirds flew Super Sabres until November, 1968. In 1969, the Thunderbirds' 17th season, a new aircraft—the McDonnell Douglas F-4E Phantom II—was introduced.

The most important part of the Thunderbirds, however, is the people in the squadron. All of them are volunteers, chosen in competition with other specialists throughout the Air Force.

In 1953, there were four demonstration pilots, three other officers, and 15 enlisted maintenance specialists. Today, there are 93 Thunderbirds: seven rated pilots, two non-rated officers, and 84 enlisted support personnel.

Airplanes are necessary machines in our transportation system. The nation's goods and services have been greatly improved by the flying machine.

Previous forms of transportation took as long as a century or two to develop. In contrast, the airplane took only half a century as is now the most modern and convenient way to travel.

Airmail Growth Impressive Here

From a little more than 30,000 pieces the first year to nearly 3,000,000 pieces of airmail in fiscal 1969 is the record of growth in airmail service from the Escanaba area in a period of 19 years.

Postmaster James Pryal said that airmail service to Escanaba was inaugurated May 31, 1950. The first year's volume was 31,000 pieces.

"In 1960 the volume had risen to 510,000 pieces; and in fiscal 1969 the volume dispatched by the Escanaba Post Office was 2,760,494 pieces," the postmaster said.

Originally there were two airmail dispatches from Escanaba, one in the morning and one in the afternoon. Now there are three — morning, noon and afternoon — plus an extra Air Star Route after 6 p. m. with mail dispatched to Iron Mountain.

In addition, regular mail is sent by plane on "as is" basis when there is room, thus speeding non-airmail on its way. About 1 million pieces were dispatched in this way last year.

Indicating the growing use of airmail is the fact that 4,494 small packages (none weighed more than 5 pounds) were dispatched by airmail from Escanaba to service men overseas before Christmas last year.

THUMBS UP — Ground crewmembers give the thumbs up signal to a Thunderbird pilot as he begins his taxi prior to performing to a crowd of 25,000 at the K. I. Sawyer Open House. The same airplane, a F-4E Phantom II, will fly in Escanaba Saturday, (USAF Photo)

Thunderbird Planes Play Vital Roles

Every Thunderbird air show is a demonstration of two pieces of military hardware that are playing vital roles in United States Air Force operations around the world.

First in the spotlight, is the McDonnell Douglas F-4E Phantom II — the demonstration aircraft of the Thunderbirds. Except for very minor modifications, this is the same sleek fighter that has been flown extensively in Southeast Asia in close support of ground troops, destroying selected targets in North Vietnam and achieving a three to one kill ratio over enemy fighters.

Standing 16 feet tall, the Phantom II stretches 63 feet from the pitot boom tip of its nose to the tail. The wings, spanning 38 feet, are tapered with upswept outer tips to allow speeds above Mach 2, or twice the speed of sound (760 mph at sea level).

Has Two Engines

Nestled inside the fuselage are two General Electric J-79-GE-17 engines, capable of producing more than 34,000 pounds of thrust. The inherent safety of a twin-engine design is provided in addition to added performance and strike capability. The F-4E can carry more bomb tonnage than two World War II heavy bombers.

The second piece of hardward sits off to one side during the Thunderbird show. It is the Lockheed C-130. Nicknamed the Hercules, the mammoth cargo aircraft totes 34 men of the Thunderbird ground crew and all of their maintenance equipment and clothing from show site to show site, coast-to-coast, country-to-county.

The C-130 can lift more than 20 tons, climb to 30,000 feet, cruise at 360 miles per hour, and travel 4,000 miles without landing to refuel.

Using four turboprop jet engines, each with enough power to pull a 40-car freight train, the C-130 can leap off a landing strip of only 300 feet and land in 500 feet.

Fleet Of C-130's

A fleet of C-130's, another of F-4's and still others equipped with specialized fighter, reconnaissance, and cargo aircraft make up the operational hardware of the Tactical Air Command of which the Thunderbirds are but one squadron.

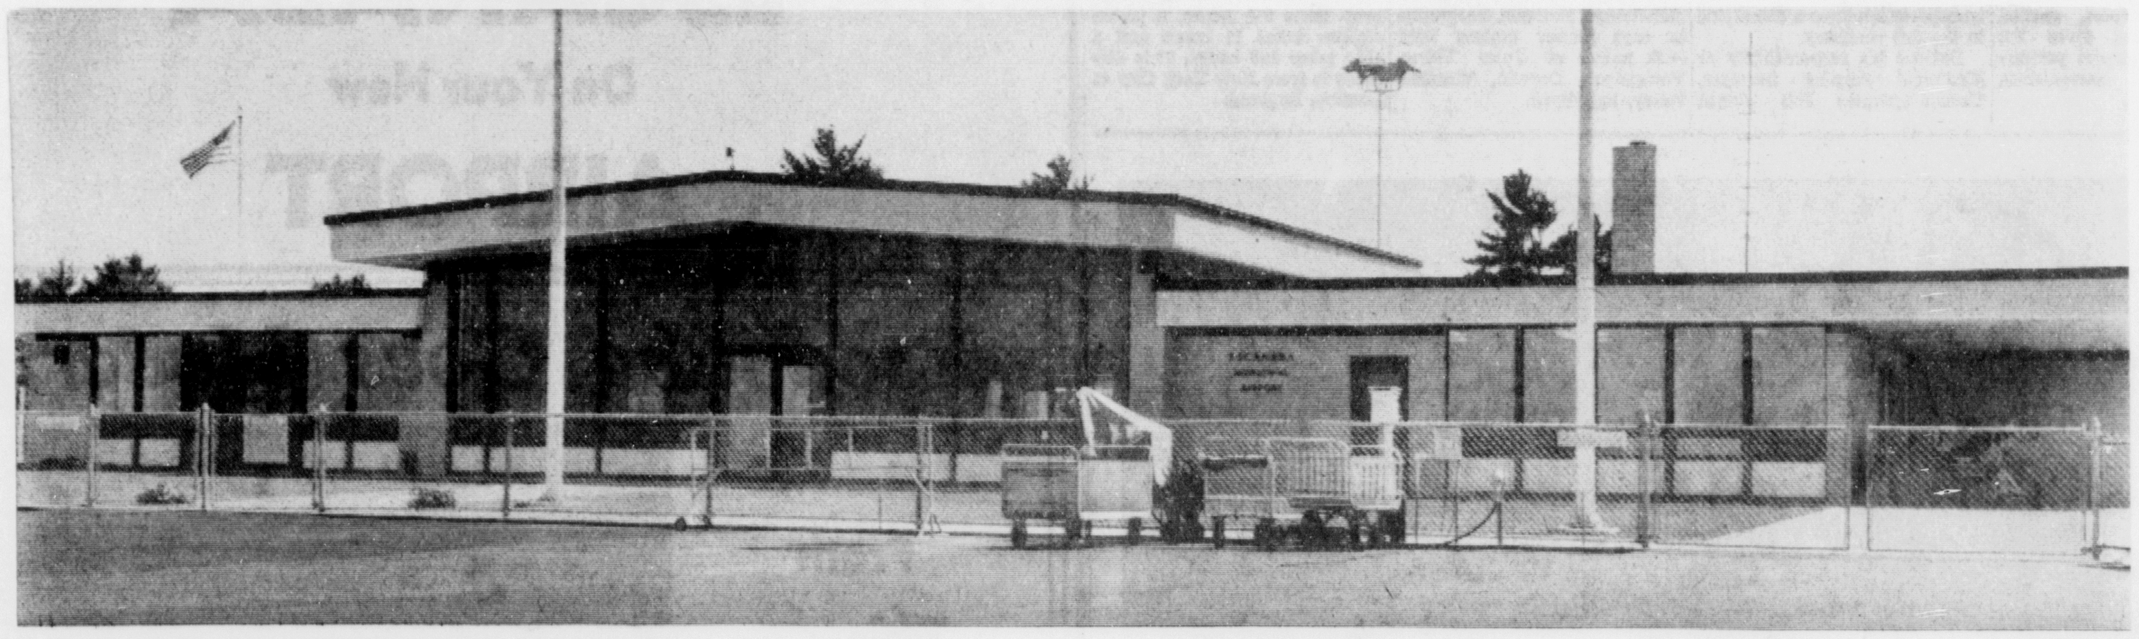

Tactical Air Command is the 85,000-man Air Force command which can fight in limited or general wars. The mission is basically to move forces quickly into position to deter resistance, provide close air support of our troops and achieve air superiority.

The Thunderbirds demonstrate the maneuverability of the F-4 as well as the rapid deployment capability of TAC. The conduct of the air show is a display of the professionalism inherent in the Tactical Air Command of the United States Air Force.

SMALL PLANES, like these single-engine models tied down north of the terminal building at the Escanaba Municipal Airport, are a growing part of aviation in the community. Each year new planes are added to the privately-owned squadron and the Bay de Noc Flying Club was organized several years ago to make it possible for persons unable to finance a plane on their own to learn to fly and pilot a club-owned airplane. Escanaba Chose Not To Sit On Air Laurels

By GEORGE HARVEY
Escanaba City Manager

Escanaba has not chosen to sit on its aviation laurels, but if she did, she would have a very comfortable seat.

The history of aviation in Escanaba is anything but dull, as I have discovered in doing some research for this article.

Wally Arntzen, who its seems has been flying just about forever, had already flown 350,000 miles back in 1939, according to a Daily Press story. And he had been involved in several crashes and emergency landings, in all of which he managed to avoid serious injury.

Another article in 1953 tells of the exploits of two other outstanding Escanaba aviators — Jon Thorin and Wilbert DeGrave. They plucked six stranded ice fishermen from a floe in Green Bay, making five landings in 20 minutes on ice two to three inches thick; an exercise showing that local pilots are second to none in bravery and professional competence.

First City Airport

Jon Thorin is now our City Airport manager and the job that he and his wife Lorayn have done there earned the "Airport Manager of the Year" recognition in 1964 at a meeting of the Michigan Aeronautics conference.

Escanaba was the first city in the Upper Peninsula to have an airport, and the first to have a flying school.

The concept of the air show is not new to Escanaba either. Quite a large aerial spectacular was held here on July 17, 1955. Jon Thorin did acrobatics in a stunt plane, the Healy Air Show performed and Emily Brown of Emmetsburg, Iowa, did a parachute jump exhibition. Top attraction was the world famous Steve Wittman, racing plane builder, in his plane "Bonzo," exact replica of the racing plane "Buster" which is now in the Smithsonian, Washington, D. C.

Let's look back at some significant dates in the history of the Escanaba airport.

Governor Was Here

Michigan's Gov. Fred W. Green was here on Sept. 20, 1928, for the dedication of the first Escanaba airport. The field was established by Upper Peninsula Airways, a company operated by C. Harold Wescott of Escanaba, and its was approximately where Gardens of Rest Cemetery is now located — and was the first in the Peninsula.

Airport construction on the present site was authorized at a special meeting of the City Council on Dec. 11, 1933. T. F. Kessler, then city manager, was authorized to purchase the necessary land. Councilmen Edgar Anderson and Hubert Shepeck were appointed to the airport committee.

Four years later, March 18, 1937, the city manager was authorized to build six hangers and to rent space to defray construction costs.

Escanaba associated itself with the Michigan Board of Aeronautics in 1943, the city engineer was instructed to draw up improvement plans for the airport relative to increasing the program of pilot training. In 1946 the airport was leased to Pioneer Aviation Inc., headed by Wally Arntzen. More than 100 young men were taught to fly under benefits of the GI Bill.

Continues To Grow

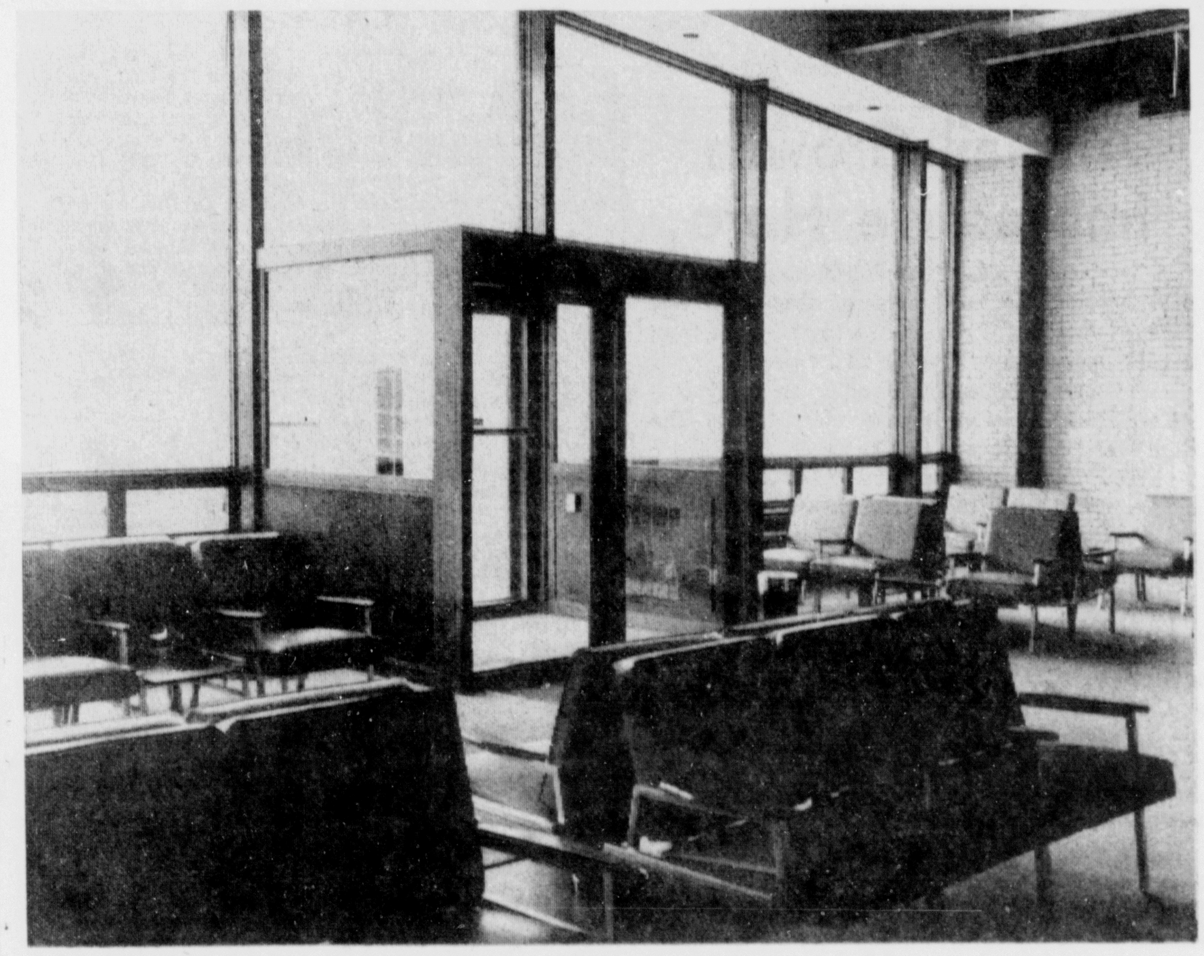

On March 21, 1950, an airport use contract was entered into with Wisconsin Central Airlines, Inc., which was to become North Central Airlines later.

Plans for an east-west runway were approved by the Council in 1955, the beginning of extensions and improvements that followed over a period of years. At present the runway is 6,500 feet long. The north-south runway was originally 2,600 feet long and has been lengthened gradually to 3,800 feet.

Lighting of the east-west runway was approved by the Council in 1958, and the same year authorization was granted for an electronic terminal visual omni-range installation. The latter was the first state-owned facility of its kind. Operation of the omni-range was turned over to the FAA in 1963.

As early as 1958 there was planning for a new terminal building, but the project was delayed by lack of funds. An airport advisory committee was named in 1966; land purchase for airport improvements was authorized the same year; and in 1967 the Council gave approval to the airport master plan and accepted plans for the terminal building which will be dedicated this coming weekend.

Total area of property in the city airport is 847 acres and additional acreage will be required as the improvement continues. The relocation of the north-south runway to the west, for instance, will call for an additional 250 acres, when that time comes.

SPACIOUS WINDOWS in Escanaba's new airport terminal allow passengers to look out over the east-west runway, taxiways and boarding ramps at incoming and outbound aircraft. The terminal, completely air conditioned, is the newest in the Upper Peninsula. (Daily Press Photo)

Airport Use Sets New Records Here

Air travelers are enthusiastic about Escanaba's "new" airport even before the formal dedication, reports Jon Thorin, airport manager.

"This proves out the statement of William Hamelin of the Michigan Aeronautics Commission that airport improvement brings a resulting 20 per cent traffic increase almost automatically," said Thorin, who has been airport manager here since 1959.

The new terminal building at the Municipal Airport, opened earlier this spring, gives the public and the airport personnel maximum convenience, Thorin continued.

"When you compare this with the old terminal you can see why people arriving here are so pleasantly impressed, and that use of the airport is rising so rapidly. For instance, there's ample paved parking area — or so it was thought — at the new facility. But because of the increase we find that we need additional parking spaces beyond the 70 now provided," the airport manager noted.

So before the new terminal has been dedicated its use has zoomed and the development of additional parking space is under way east of the existing ramp. This is to be completed soon.

Hot coffee, tea, chocolate and soup are automatically vended to patrons at the terminal; and a sandwich vending machine is ordered. There were no such snack facilities at the old terminal.

An intercom keeps patrons informed of schedules; the doors are automatically opened and closed for convenience of travelers going and coming; and restful decor and music create a serene and relaxed atmosphere. An air circulation system and adequate lighting add to the comfort of the traveler.

There is a mail deposit station as another convenience, and Thorin noted that this may be used by the general public also. Mail is picked up three times daily. Persons wanting transportation have a direct line to the cab company.

Besides his responsibility as Municipal Airport manager, Thorin operates Jon Thorin Aviation and serves the area in many ways, ranging from pilot training programs to ambulance service to meet emergency situations.

Highest Month

For the first seven months of this year air passenger traffic at Escanaba totaled 13,967 persons planing and deplaning, an increase of 1,788 over the same period one year ago, reports Airport Manager Jon Thorin.

North Central Airlines' passenger total for July this year was 2,634, setting a new monthly record. The comparative figures by months:

	1969	1968
January	1289	1381
February	1844	1460
March	1789	1509
April	2015	1623
May	2069	1899
June	2327	2191
July	2634	2116

Aerial Logging Being Considered For East Forests

Aerial logging, a fairly common practice in forests of the western states, may be introduced in the National Forests of the Eastern Region as timber specialists evaluate the usefulness of that method.

Forests earmarked for consideration include the Green Mountain in Vermont, the White Mountain in New Hampshire and the Monongahela in West Virginia. To a lesser degree, the two National Forests in Missouri — the Clark and the Mark Twain — may also apply the new technique.

One of the primary advantages of aerial logging — which amounts to air-lifting logs up to mountain-top roads with a tractor-driven cable — is that it liberates otherwise inaccessible timber without the introduction of costly and often difficult to construct roads.

About 5,000 markings on the battered face of the moon have been given names by the International Astronomical Union, which approves all lunar nomenclature, National Geographic says Lunar craters bear such names at Jules Verne, Vopernicus, Darwin, Einstein, Peary, and Byrd.

International Air Agreements Early As 1919

International air policy agreements began after WWI. At the Paris Convention in 1919 air control was assigned to the countries over the airspace above it. After several other international meetings, the International Civil Aviation Organization was founded in Chicago.

It is defined as a special agency of the United Nations with its headquarters in Montreal, Canada.

The stations of the ICAO vary from mainland to nautical stations for the best benefit of the 50 countries involved in the organization.

Working closely with the ICAO is the International Air Traffic Association. Its purpose is to assure that international air traffic will move with speed, efficiency and economy. Its headquarters is also located in Montreal.

A 1962 census show that it takes a jet airplane 6½ hours to fly the Atlantic, a turboprop takes 9½ hours, a piston airliner takes 11 hours and a ship takes 108 hours. This distance is from New York City to London, England.

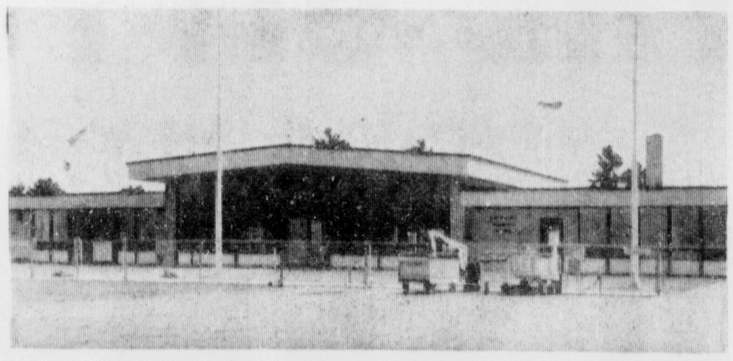

THE AIR FORCE THUNDERBIRDS will be the top attraction in Escanaba at the City Airport dedication program Saturday. They will be guests at an airport dedication banquet tonight after a preliminary show over the municipal beach area; and on Saturday the Thunderbird demonstration of precision flying — one of the most thrilling air shows in the world — will be held at 3 p.m. The total program, accenting progress in the Escanaba area and in aviation, is expected to attract thousands of spectators.

Escanaba has not chosen to sit on its aviation laurels, but if she did, she would have a very comfortable seat.

The history of aviation in Escanaba is anything but dull, as I have discovered in doing some research for this article.

Wally Arntzen, who its seems has been flying just about forever, had already flown 350,000 miles back in 1939, according to a Daily Press story. And he had been involved in several crashes and emergency landings, in all of which he managed to avoid serious injury.

Another article in 1953 tells of the exploits of two other outstanding Escanaba aviators — Jon Thorin and Wilbert DeGrave. They plucked six stranded ice fishermen from a floe in Green Bay, making five landings in 20 minutes on ice two to three inches thick; an exercise showing that local pilots are second to none in bravery and professional competence.

First City Airport

Jon Thorin is now our City Airport manager and the job that he and his wife Lorayn have done there earned the "Airport Manager of the Year" recognition in 1964 at a meeting of the Michigan Aeronautics conference.

Escanaba was the first city in the Upper Peninsula to have an airport, and the first to have a flying school.

The concept of the air show is not new to Escanaba either. Quite a large aerial spectacular was held here on July 17, 1955. Jon Thorin did acrobatics in a stunt plane, the Healy Air Show performed and Emily Brown of Emmetsburg, Iowa, did a parachute jump exhibition. Top attraction was the world famous Steve Wittman, racing plane builder, in his plane "Bonzo," exact replica of the racing plane "Buster" which is now in the Smithsonian, Washington, D. C.

Let's look back at some significant dates in the history of the Escanaba airport.

Governor Was Here

Michigan's Gov. Fred W. Green was here on Sept. 20, 1928, for the dedication of the first Escanaba airport. The field was established by Upper Peninsula Airways, a company operated by C. Harold Wescott of Escanaba, and its was approximately where Gardens of Rest Cemetery is now located — and was the first in the Peninsula.

Airport construction on the present site was authorized at a special meeting of the City Council on Dec. 11, 1933. T. F. Kessler, then city manager, was authorized to purchase the necessary land. Councilmen Edgar Anderson and Hubert Shepeck were appointed to the airport committee.

Four years later, March 18, 1937, the city manager was authorized to build six hangers and to rent space to defray construction costs.

Escanaba associated itself with the Michigan Board of Aeronautics in 1943, the city engineer was instructed to draw up improvement plans for the airport relative to increasing the program of pilot training. In 1946 the airport was leased to Pioneer Aviation Inc., headed by Wally Arntzen. More than 100 young men were taught to fly under benefits of the GI Bill.

Continues To Grow

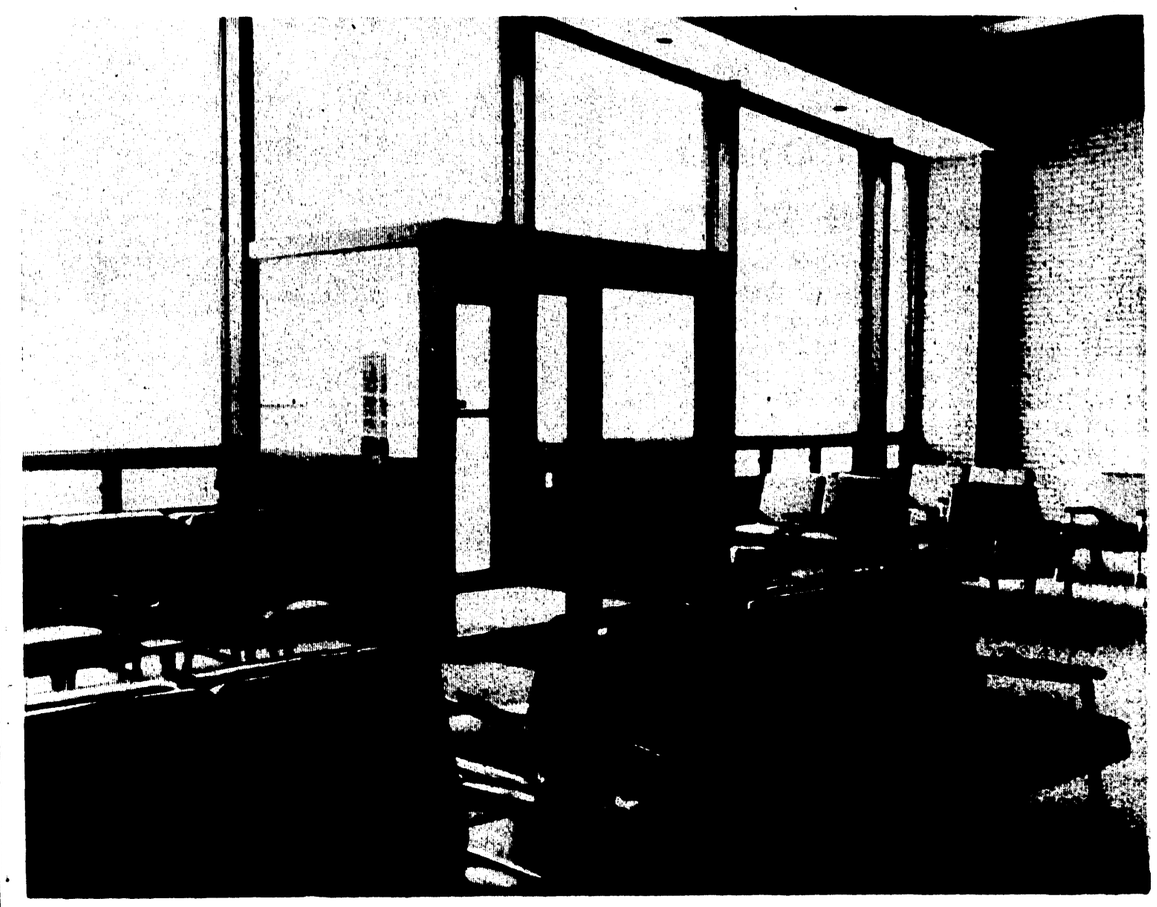

On March 21, 1950, an airport use contract was entered into with Wisconsin Central Airlines, Inc., which was to become North Central Airlines later.

Plans for an east-west runway were approved by the Council in 1955, the beginning of extensions and improvements that followed over a period of years. At present the runway is 6,500 feet long. The north-south runway was originally 2,600 feet long and has been lengthened gradually to 3,800 feet.

Lighting of the east-west runway was approved by the Council in 1958, and the same year authorization was granted for an electronic terminal visual omni-range installation. The latter was the first state-owned facility of its kind. Operation of the omni-range was turned over to the FAA in 1963.

As early as 1958 there was planning for a new terminal building, but the project was delayed by lack of funds. An airport advisory committee was named in 1966; land purchase for airport improvements was authorized the same year; and in 1967 the Council gave approval to the airport master plan and accepted plans for the terminal building which will be dedicated this coming weekend.

Total area of property in the city airport is 847 acres and additional acreage will be required as the improvement continues. The relocation of the north-south runway to the west, for instance, will call for an additional 250 acres, when that time comes.

SPACIOUS WINDOWS in Escanaba's new airport terminal allow passengers to look out over the east-west runway, taxiways and boarding ramps at incoming and outbound aircraft. The terminal, completely air conditioned, is the newest in the Upper Peninsula. (Daily Press Photo)

Airport Use Sets New Records Here

Air travelers are enthusiastic about Escanaba's "new" airport even before the formal dedication, reports Jon Thorin, airport manager.

"This proves out the statement of William Hamelin of the Michigan Aeronautics Commission that airport improvement brings a resulting 20 per cent traffic increase almost automatically," said Thorin, who has been airport manager here since 1959.

The new terminal building at the Municipal Airport, opened earlier this spring, gives the public and the airport personnel maximum convenience, Thorin continued.

"When you compare this with the old terminal you can see why people arriving here are so pleasantly impressed, and that use of the airport is rising so rapidly. For instance, there's ample paved parking area — or so it was thought — at the new facility. But because of the increase we find that we need additional parking spaces beyond the 70 now provided," the airport manager noted.

So before the new terminal has been dedicated its use has zoomed and the development of additional parking space is under way east of the existing ramp. This is to be completed soon.

Hot coffee, tea, chocolate and soup are automatically vended to patrons at the terminal; and a sandwich vending machine is ordered. There were no such snack facilities at the old terminal.

An intercom keeps patrons informed of schedules; the doors are automatically opened and closed for convenience of travelers going and coming; and restful decor and music create a serene and relaxed atmosphere. An air circulation system and adequate lighting add to the comfort of the traveler.

There is a mail deposit station as another convenience, and Thorin noted that this may be used by the general public also. Mail is picked up three times daily. Persons wanting transportation have a direct line to the cab company.

Besides his responsibility as Municipal Airport manager, Thorin operates Jon Thorin Aviation and serves the area in many ways, ranging from pilot training programs to ambulance service to meet emergency situations.

Highest Month

For the first seven months of this year air passenger traffic at Escanaba totaled 13,967 persons planing and deplaning, an increase of 1,788 over the same period one year ago, reports Airport Manager Jon Thorin.

North Central Airlines' passenger total for July this year was 2,634, setting a new monthly record. The comparative figures by months:

	1969	1968
January	1289	1381
February	1844	1460

Aerial Logging Being Considered For East Forests

Aerial logging, a fairly common practice in forests of the western states, may be introduced in the National Forests of the Eastern Region as timber specialists evaluate the usefulness of that method.

Forests earmarked for consideration include the Green Mountain in Vermont, the White Mountain in New Hampshire and the Monongahela in West Virginia. To a lesser degree, the two National Forests in Missouri — the Clark and the Mark Twain — may also apply the new technique.

One of the primary advantages of aerial logging — which amounts to air-lifting logs up to mountain-top roads with a tractor-driven cable — is that it liberates otherwise inaccessible timber without the introduction of costly and often difficult to construct roads.

About 5,000 markings on the battered face of the moon have been given names by the International Astronomical Union, which approves all lunar nomenclature, National Geographic says Lunar craters bear such names at Jules Verne, Vopernicus, Darwin, Einstein, Peary, and Byrd.

International Air Agreements Early As 1919

International air policy agreements began after WWI. At the Paris Convention in 1919 air control was assigned to the countries over the airspace above it. After several other international meetings, the International Civil Aviation Organization was founded in Chicago.

It is defined as a special agency of the United Nations with its headquarters in Montreal, Canada.

The stations of the ICAO vary from mainland to nautical stations for the best benefit of the 50 countries involved in the organization.

Working closely with the ICAO is the International Air Traffic Association. Its purpose is to assure that international air traffic will move with speed, efficiency and economy. Its headquarters is also located in Montreal.

A 1962 census show that it takes a jet airplane 6½ hours to fly the Atlantic, a turboprop takes 9½ hours, a piston airliner takes 11 hours and a ship takes 108 hours. This distance is from New York City to London, England.

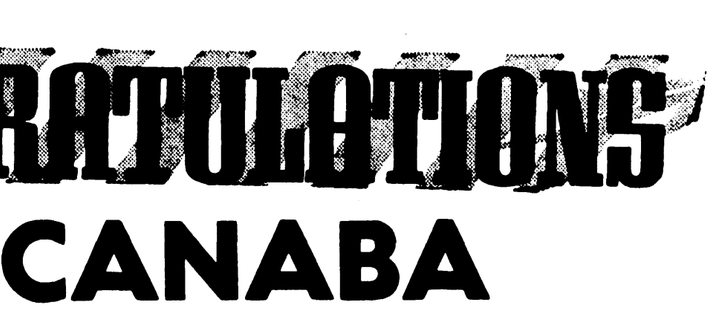

THE AIR FORCE THUNDERBIRDS will be the top attraction in Escanaba at the City Airport dedication program Saturday. They will be guests at an airport dedication banquet tonight after a preliminary show over the municipal beach area; and on Saturday the Thunderbird demonstration of precision flying — one of the most thrilling air shows in the world — will be held at 3 p.m. The total program, accenting progress in the Escanaba area and in aviation, is expected to attract thousands of spectators.

THUNDERBIRD MANEUVERS

Pilots Not Alone In T-Bird Show

Although the five men in the sky are in the spotlight, the U. S. Air Force Thunderbirds are more than a five-man team.

Without the men on the ground, the team couldn't fly at all.

Like the pilots, each of the ground technicians is a volunteer and in the history of the team there has never been a show cancelled due to maintenance difficulties.

Enlisted technicians required are radio, electronic navigation, crew chiefs, aircraft electrician, ground radio communications, pneudraulic, instrument, aerospace ground equipment and mechanical accessories repairmen; and automatic flight control, protective coating, jet engine, supply inventory management, material facilities and personal equipment specialists.

In administration, administrative and aircraft operations specialists as well as an information technician, an illustrator and a photographer are needed.

Capt. Hal Shelton of Wichita, Kan., is the maintenance officer. Shelton, an enlisted man before being commissioned in 1955, he flew 75 combat missions over North Vietnam and holds the Air Medal with five Oak Leaf Clusters. He was at Kirtland AFB before joining the Thunderbirds.

Narrator for the show is Capt. Tom Gibbs of Loveland, Colo. Gibbs flew 100 missions over North Vietnam and holds the Silver Star, Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with 15 Oak Leaf Clusters and the Air Force Commendation medal.

Capt. Dennis Weddle of Des Moines, Iowa, is information officer, while Capt. Clyde LaBell of San Francisco, Calif., handles all adminintrative actions.

There are over 61 men assigned to the ground support crew, each selected in competition among the best men in his particular field.

Fog, snow, hail, turbulent air and thunderstorms are all factors which must be considered in flying. A jet stream or a tail winds may help the craft by as much as 250 miles per hour added to his normal speed.

A jet airliner flying the Atlantic ocean can carry in one year, passengers equal to the largest United States steamship.

Rocket Failure Ends Sun Shot

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Pioneer 10, a $7 million experiment intended to probe earth-sun relations, lay wrecked at the bottom of the Atlantic Ocean Thursday after its booster rocket shot out of control and was destroyed.

Safety officers at three downrange stations sent radio signals to detonate explosive charges in the three-stage Delta rocket when it swerved off course eight minutes after launch Wednesday night.

Pioneer 10 was to have joined four other Pioneers in solar orbit, reporting on interplanetary space and how the sun influences weather, communications and other conditions on earth.

Also lost in the explosion was a small 45-pound communications satellite, which was to have been placed in earth orbit for use as practice by the ground stations in the Project Apollo tracking network.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration traced the rocket problem to loss of hydraulic pressure in the first-stage engine four seconds before it shut down.

Air Regulations Began In 1926

The first attempt to regulate aviation by legislation was in 1926. The Aeronautics Branch of the Department of Commerce was established and was later called the Bureau of Air Commerce.

This department was authorized to promote aviation safety, map airways, develop facilities for air navigation and furnish flight information.

Civil aviation became a big business and in 1938 Congress wrote the Civil Aeronautics Act.

Bird Flights Inspired Man To Conquer Air

Legends of Daedalus and Icarus, and the Eastern Fables of flying horses and carpets certainly go back several hundred years B. C., and such legends led to efforts such as the use of birdlike wings in development of aviation.

In 1861 the Lilienthal brothers started flying experiments after dark for fear of ridicule. Otto, one of the true pioneers of aviation, was killed in a gliding accident in 1896. After the death of Otto Lilienthal, Chanute in America continued the work.

Wilbur and Orville Wright constructed a biplane glider and after 3 years of test flights, a successful flight was made in Dec. 7, 1903. Their first flight lasted 12 seconds, but on the same day they made a flight lasting one minute.

The great development of aircraft in WWI was followed by the beginning of commercial air services all over the world.

Because no public interest or recognition was being made of their progress, they took their machine to Europe in 1907 and in 1908 flew for over 2 hours at LeMans.

Need brought bigger and better aircraft. After WWII airplanes were designed for special purposes, from high-speed, high altitude machines for military purposes to huge freight and passenger carriers.

Combined Flying With Architecture:

Wally Arntzen: Aviation Pioneer

Walter "Wally" Arntzen has received many honors in recognition of a career that has successfully combined aviation and architecture — with his early days as a flyer in a colorful chapter in the history of local aviation.

This weekend in Escanaba with the celebration of Aviation Days he is the subject of a special proclamation by the City Council and honors conferred on him by the Kiwanis Club.

Interest in aviation here and throughout the country was spurred by Lindbergh's historic flight to Paris.

Wally's Curtiss Canuck wartime training Jenny is credited with spurring Escanaba on to bigger and better efforts to provide those initial facilities to serve the growing number of flyers. An airport at Wells served for a time, followed by development of the Municipal Airport at Escanaba.

Back as early as 1925 Wally had started hopping passengers on weekends, at fairs, and on holidays. Flying over Oconto with Roland Hale of Escanaba as a passenger, Wally wrecked his plane on a flight to Minneapolis. They crashed between a house and a garage—and neither Wally nor Hale were hurt. Wally's next plane was a World War I Thomas Morse.

The depression of the 1930's curtailed flying somewhat, and then aviation was spurred to new heights by World War II.

Here are some highlights from the life of Wally Arntzen taken from the files of the Escanaba Daily Press:

1938—Arntzen performed a half hour display of thrilling stunts between 9:30 and 10 a. m. on the Fourth of July, the final day of Manistique's three day homecoming celebration.

1939—Arntzen and his student, Bill Thorin crashed near a group of trees on Lake Shore Drive about two blocks south of the High School athletic field. The plane failed to come out of a turn and landed on its nose.

Wally is recognized as one of the best aviators in this part of the country. He has had several forced landings in his 13 years of flying but has never had any serious injuries.

He has 350,000 miles of flying which is equal to 14 trips around the earth. He has landed in the street at Peshtigo, Wis., the highway at Ironwood and on US 2-41 near the county infirmary.

Wally received his wings at Brooks Field in San Antonio, Texas, and has since then traveled throughout the country and made several mercy flights and carried government mail on several occasions.

He has turned out more aviators than any other instructor in the U. P. and is now teaching one of the largest classes in local history, 30 pupils including four women, his wife, Lillian Nelson, Marian Stratton and Mrs. Ralph Olson.

1941—Arntzen was commissioned by the postal department to fly mail between St. Ignace and Mackinaw City during the duration of the present emergency. He will relieve the mail congestion being caused by the inability of ferries to crash through the ice choked Straits of Mackinac and expects to take passengers across in addition to his regular mail flights. "Wally" was accompanied by his wife and brother-in-law, Harold Olson. Arntzen has one of the best records of U. P. flyers and in May Arntzen was the only U. P. pilot to complete his trip to Sault Ste .Marie in celebration of National Airmail Week. All the rest were grounded due to heavy fog.

His ski-equipped ship landed on an ice floe off Portage Point and rescued two fishermen, Earl Johnson and Hugo Lindquist, who were being carried out into the lake by a sudden breakup of the ice. The ice had drifted about a mile when Arntzen came to the rescue.

1943—Back home for a five day furlough is Captain Walter Arntzen who has been flying the air lanes over the Atlantic to England. He makes a trip every three weeks which includes escorting at least five combat planes who haven't had experience in flying the hazardous trip.

PROJECT PRIDE was a project that won popular support in the community and one of the leaders in the program was Wally Arntzen. He is pictured here at the dedication of the Project Pride Chamber of Commerce building.

BACK IN 1943 Capt. Walter Arntzen was busy ferrying Uncle Sam's bombers and flying fortresses to England, Africa and South America.

1948 — Announcement was made today by Walter "Wally" Arntzen that he is a candidate for the City Council. He is the first officially announced candidate.

He was born in Escanaba on Oct. 18, 1904 and except for the years in the service of the U. S. Army Air Corps, has spent his life in Escanaba. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army Air Corps Reserve after completing a flying course at Brooks Field, Texas, the present "West Point of the Air" in 1926.

In partnership with Fred Sensiba, Arntzen has owned and operated Pioneer Aviation Corporation at Escanaba for the past two years. During World War II he returned to active service in 1941 and was released to inactive duty in 1945.

As a captain he made 60 Atlantic crossings during the war. He has considerable architectural training, and is interested in planning and zoning of the city.

1961 — Arntzen was given the award of the Chamber of Commerce for outstanding committee leadership in the past year. He was chairman of the Project Pride Committee which worked for a year to construct the new Project Pride building of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce.

1965 — Arntzen, Escanaba architect, recognized as an authority in the field of aviation, has served on local and regional aviation committees and his company uses a plane in its operations.

He is the son of the late Gothard Arntzen, who founded the Escanaba architectural firm. Walter began flying about 40 years ago when he was 20 years old. He bought a World War I surplus blue and silver Jenny for $1,250 and became the area's flying pioneer.

Dedication Has Many Workers

Claude Tobin is general chairman of the Escanaba Airport Dedication committee, assisted by John Bissell and Walter Lewke. Other committees are:

Dedication and Show Arrangements—Jack Beck, chairman, and Irving Olsen, Don Brandt;

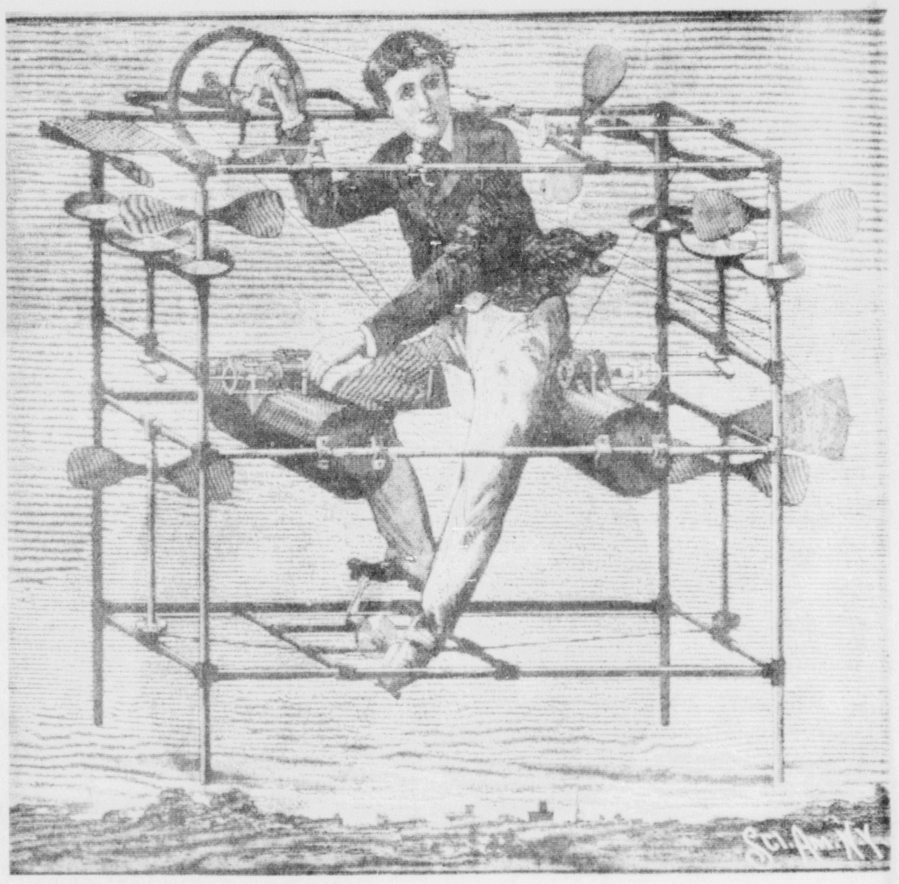

Aircraft Control—Jon Thorin, chairman, and Walter Arntzen, Don Breault, Howard Smale, Kenneth Toushak, Peter Zimmer;

Transportation—Larry Fleming, chairman, Harold Cloutier, Matt Smith;

Concessions—Ronald DeVos, chairman;

Reception-Dinner—Robert E. LeMire, chairman, and Robert Bink, William DeHaan, Dr. William Hemes and Frank Stupak;

Traffic—Escanaba Chief of Police Richard Frederick, Delta County Sheriff Harold O. Finman and Sgt. Richard Van Sipe, commander of the Gladstone Post of the Michigan State Police.

BUSIEST AVIATORS IN the world (and sometimes out of it) were those dreamed up by the science fiction writers. In this old illustration our hero is fully occupied in winding, grinding, and pedaling his way through space; and he's getting his lift with a large number of propellors and without wings.

He was born in Escanaba on Oct. 18, 1904 and except for the years in the service of the U. S. Army Air Corps, has spent his life in Escanaba. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army Air Corps Reserve after completing a flying course at Brooks Field, Texas, the present "West Point of the Air" in 1926.

In partnership with Fred Sensiba, Arntzen has owned and operated Pioneer Aviation Corporation at Escanaba for the past two years. During World War II he returned to active service in 1941 and was released to inactive duty in 1945.

As a captain he made 60 Atlantic crossings during the war. He has considerable architectural training, and is interested in planning and zoning of the city.

1961 — Arntzen was given the award of the Chamber of Commerce for outstanding committee leadership in the past year. He was chairman of the Project Pride Committee which worked for a year to construct the new Project Pride building of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce.

1965 — Arntzen, Escanaba architect, recognized as an authority in the field of aviation, has served on local and regional aviation committees and his company uses a plane in its operations.

He is the son of the late Gothard Arntzen, who founded the Escanaba architectural firm. Walter began flying about 40 years ago when he was 20 years old. He bought a World War I surplus blue and silver Jenny for $1,250 and became the area's flying pioneer.

PROJECT PRIDE was a project that won popular support in the community and one of the leaders in the program was Wally Arntzen. He is pictured here at the dedication of the Project Pride Chamber of Commerce building.

Dedication Has Many Workers

Corporate Participation—O. C. Christiansen, chairman, and O. W. Brookes, George S. Douglas, Russell Lee, Charles Sedenquist and Jean Worth;

Publicity—Jim Zimmerman, chairman, and Gene Kaufman, Clint Dunathan, Michael Nelson;

Program—W. Karl Dickson, chairman, and the Senior Citizens Committee of the Chamber of Commerce;

Dedication and Show Arrangements—Jack Beck, chairman, and Irving Olsen, Don Brandt;

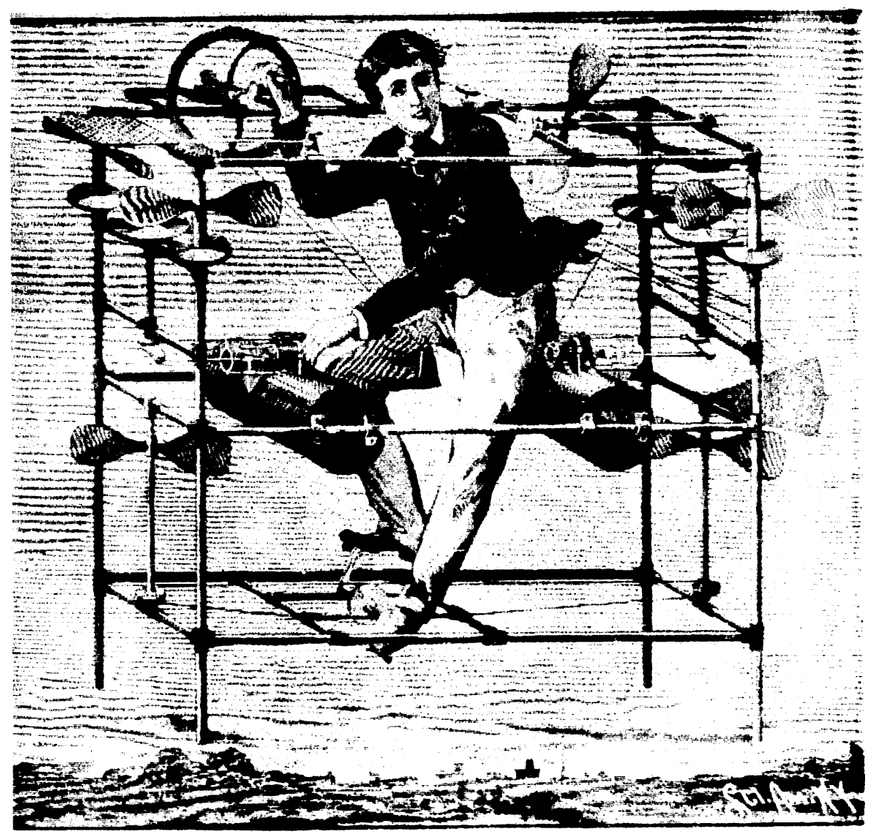

Aircraft Control—Jon Thorin, chairman, and Walter Arntzen, Don Breault, Howard Smale, Kenneth Toushak, Peter Zimmer;

Transportation—Larry Fleming, chairman, Harold Cloutier, Matt Smith;

Concessions—Ronald DeVos, chairman;

Reception-Dinner—Robert E. LeMire, chairman, and Robert Bink, William DeHaan, Dr. William Hemes and Frank Stupak;

Traffic—Escanaba Chief of Police Richard Frederick, Delta County Sheriff Harold O. Finman and Sgt. Richard Van Sipe, commander of the Gladstone Post of the Michigan State Police.

BUSIEST AVIATORS IN the world (and sometimes out of it) were those dreamed up by the science fiction writers. In this old illustration our hero is fully occupied in winding, grinding, and pedaling his way through space; and he's getting his lift with a large number of propellors and without wings.

Congratulations

To The

City of Escanaba

On Your "NEW"

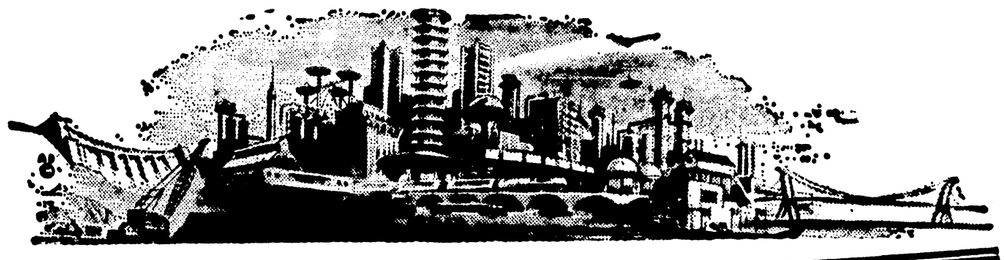

MUNICIPAL AIRPORT TERMINAL

We are proud of your community, proud of its accomplishments and its growth. We look forward to the Dedication Ceremonies on August 29th and 30th and the pleasure of seeing the famous Air Force Thunderbirds.

IN OUR SPACE AGE

AIR TRAVEL IS A MUST!

We Would Like To Extend Our

Congratulations

To The

City Of Escanaba

On The Occasion Of The Dedication Of Their New Air Terminal

The way to continued growth and progress of our area lies in moving ahead to meet the challenges of making this a better place to live and work. Escanaba's new airport will do much to improve the facilities of this area.

On this special day, we pay tribute to those men and women who make up this nation's working force. Their number is legion, and their achievements supreme. It is their hands in which the progress and prosperity of this great country lies. The skill, strength and integrity of Labor accounts for the better future we're ever building. To America's workers, our warm thanks.
